OUTLINES. Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads have reported in favor of subsidizing steamship lines to Rio; subsidy appropriated $150,000.

Uncle Sammy Tilden is absolutely happy at last, he is so glad the investigating committee will sit in New York. The correspondent from that city to the Philadelphia Ledger—

Our youthful imp of the office has become so stirred up with the pending discussion of railroads, and is so disgusted at the cheap rhetoric about State pride, and so on, that he went into the basement yesterday and set his machine to work.

The proposition for the settlement of the Virginia State debt will bring the debt within a compass that is manageable. It will reduce one-fourth the interest now payable annually.

If by building a new road that is not necessary really, and you can benefit five counties, it is extremely selfish in fifteen counties if they object just because it will injure them.

Solicitor General Samuel F. Phillips went to Alabama and defended the United States officials who had been imprisoned for contempt of Court.

When the Southerners reply to insolvent Northerners in mild and dignified terms, your Radical organ immediately proclaims that they are becoming flat and uninteresting.

Here is a case in point. Kentucky has paid over one hundred million dollars in revenue taxes to the United States Government. It has received appropriations, all told, to the amount of thirty-seven thousand dollars.

Six steamers sailed for Europe from New York last Saturday. Among the shipments were 1,000 barrels of oysters; grain, 100,000 bushels; bacon, 11,000 boxes; butter, 10,000 packages; cheese, 25,000 boxes; flour, 4,000 barrels and 10,000 sacks.

Charles Byrne, editor of the New York Dramatic News, has sued for damages the editor of the Mirror. The suit involves, it is said, many charges and counter charges, which will be apt to make lively reading for the theatrical people, if it ever comes to trial.

So a foreign corporation can have the glorious liberty of building railroads where it pleases, and with its own or other peoples money, which it happens to have in hand, it makes no difference if it destroys or seriously impairs other long lines of railway.

The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Sun, of date of the 3d inst., telegraphs as follows: "It is the understanding to-night that Speaker Randall will to-morrow recognize Mr. Waddell, of North Carolina, for the introduction of a joint resolution providing against the payment of all Southern war claims excepting such as are now in process of adjudication in the courts."

The burning of the Louisville (Ky.) Alms House last Friday was a great loss to the city. It cost $160,000, and was indeed a palatial asylum for the poor. It was insured for $70,000. The poor were left in the most pitiable condition, and there were some tragic deaths and incidents attending their escape from the burning building.

We regret exceedingly that Gov Hampton's condition has grown more serious. It is said that his friends are much alarmed at the prospect that another amputation may be necessary, as the bone of the leg protrudes nearly three inches from the point at which it was formerly removed. The Governor, it is stated, is in bed, and feels gloomy over his condition.

Stateville American: We learn that Dr. Burt Wood, who resides in Rowan county, while returning home from this place, one day last week, when about three miles from town was thrown by the mule he was riding and had his right arm broken above the elbow.

The long-looked for, much-coveted, greatly needed horse-reef for the Little Giant Company, arrived here late yesterday afternoon, and was soon after taken, with all the tenderness displayed in handling the first-borne, to their engine house. Well, it is a nice affair for a splendid company, of an excellent Fire Department, and we mean that we say.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Chimes of Normandy. The Adah Richmond Opera Bouffe Troupe delighted the audience at the Opera House by their rendition of "Les Cloches de Cornville," better known as the "Chimes of Normandy." Miss Adah Richmond is undoubtedly superior to Mrs. Jas. A. Oates as a singer, and possesses ability as an actress that places her in serious rivalry with this popular favorite in opera bouffe, who used so frequently to visit this city.

Miss Richmond and her support have created a splendid impression during their brief engagement, and will be liberally patronized should they ever visit us again. A company has only to please so generally our theatre goes once to insure it ever thereafter a cordial reception.

We must not close this necessarily brief notice without mentioning the delightful singing by Miss Richmond and the Orpheus Quartette of "Grand Father's Clock," which received a triple encore and charmed all who heard it.

In the House of Representatives at Raleigh, last Monday, the rules were suspended and the bill in relation to inspection of lumber in this city passed. The bill provides that the bill shall contain the gross number of feet and the number of feet measured off or refused on account of defects; inspectors shall not render bill for refuse timber at any price fixed by the buyer without expressed consent of the seller; that the timber shall be measured in the middle and calculated at full size of square of the timber at place of measurement, and one-half the number of feet contained in vane edges to be added to the amount; length of defects to be ascertained by chopping, boring, etc., and the length only of such defects to be refused, and if defect is less than one-third of size of timber, then only the number of feet actually lost by reason of said defect to be refused; inspectors violating provisions of this act to be removed from office and disqualified.

Miss Louise Pomeroy. It will interest play-goers here to learn that this actress has so far recovered from her injuries by the late railroad accident in Texas as to reappear on the stage. She played in Marshall, Texas, on the 31st of January, in Shakespeare's comedy of "As You Like It."

Carried Back. Last Monday evening, considerable excitement was created in the neighborhood of Fifth and Mulberry streets, by the antics of a young female, Dorcas Jewett, who manifested a disposition to pummel anybody and everybody. The mystery was at last explained by some one furnishing information that the white girl was crazy, not willingly lawless, and that she had probably escaped from the department at the Poor house assigned to lunatics.

Accident to Mr. Edward Glavin. We learn from the Charlotte Observer that Mr. Edward Glavin, formerly of this city, fell down the steps from his room in the second story of a building in that place, cutting an ugly gash in his forehead just above one eye. He also received painful cuts and bruises upon different parts of his person. We infer, however, from the statement below, that he is out of danger.

New Hanover Cases in the Supreme Court. The Court on Monday delivered opinions in the following appeals: By SMITH, C. J.: W. J. Sutton and wife vs. J. T. Schonwald et al, from New Hanover; appeal dismissed.

The Hop To-Morrow Night. We are requested to state that all who have received season invitations to the Hop of the Lotus and L'Arisee Clubs are cordially invited to attend the Hop to be given at Germania Hall Thursday evening, complimentary to the two organizations. No cards of invitation will be issued, but the members of the two clubs and their friends are expected and requested to come, and come early, as the first set will be called at 8 o'clock.

A WILMINGTONIAN IN TROUBLE.

Arrival in Monroe of Samuel Bordeaux and Lady from Wilmington—He Deserts his Wife and Takes the Down Train, Leaving her Penitence among Strangers—Apprehended and Arrested at Rockingham.

The Monroe Express, of Monday, under the foregoing caption, furnishes a bit of gossip of a sensational nature. It states that on Thursday last a person named Samuel Bordeaux, accompanied by his wife, arrived there from this city, and stopped at the Monroe Hotel for the night. The man stated that he had shipped goods to that place, and intended engaging in merchandise there. Early Friday morning, however, he told his wife he would step down to the depot, and see about the goods shipped. On his arrival at the depot he boarded the train for Wilmington, leaving his wife unprovided as to his departure and without money. Before leaving here, it is said, he bought a fifteen hundred milticket, telling his wife that if he should not like Monroe the ticket could be used to go elsewhere. This, together with his strange conduct in hurrying off when the train blew, aroused the suspicion of Mrs. Bordeaux, and in fifteen minutes after the departure of the train she went to the depot to inquire after her husband, but found that he had absconded, taking his trunk with him. A telegram was sent, and the fact ascertained that he was on the train at Wadesboro. Through legal advice the distressed lady obtained a warrant, and Sheriff Hasty promptly had the absconding husband, by telegraph, detained by the Sheriff of Richmond county, at Rockingham.

The Express gives these further statements of the affair: "Mrs. Bordeaux is a daughter of John Underwood, deceased, who resided in Union County. At her parents' death she was bound to a Mr. Taylor, an aged citizen of Mecklenburg county, who resided near Charlotte. About five months ago Mr. Taylor died, and Miss Annie Underwood went to reside with her uncle, near Fayetteville.

"While at the residence of her uncle, Samuel Bordeaux made love to her, and they became engaged. The uncle of the lady, however, opposed the union, and the result was they eloped and were married in Wilmington, where they resided until their departure for Monroe, he having been engaged in making sausage at some of the meat stands in that city.

"Mrs. Bordeaux is a lady under medium size, apparently 30 years of age, delicate in appearance, regular featured and pretty. "Sheriff Hasty left for Rockingham this (Saturday) morning for the purpose of bringing Bordeaux to an account for his conduct before a tribunal in this place."

We have made inquiry, yet no one in this city seems to know the parties, but if Bordeaux should have at one time resided here, we hope it may turn out that abandonment of his wife was not the object of his sudden disappearance.

Our Fort and its Business. The books at the Custom House show that the total value of imports at this port for the last month were $14,745.90. The foreign exports for the same period were as annexed: Cotton, 4,765 bales, or 2,154,569 pounds, valued at $190,570; rosin, 44,827 lbs., valued at $63,447; tar and pitch, 4,403 lbs., valued at $6,468; spirits turpentine, 308,751 gallons, valued at $54,278; lumber, 419,584 feet, valued at $6,146; shingles, 77,150, valued at $455; oak staves, 51,233, valued at $700. The total value of foreign exports for January, 1879, were $223,118, against $257,546 for January of last year.

Excluding vessels under sixty tons, there were 46 arrivals here, of which 23, aggregating 10,219 tons were foreign, and 14, aggregating 6,887 tons, were coastwise. Vessels cleared, 53, of which 28, aggregating 8,514 tons, were foreign, and 10, aggregating 5,640 tons, were coastwise.
