By WILLIAM H. BERNARD. WILMINGTON, N. C .:

FRIDAY MORNING, March 7, 1879. THE AGRICULTURAL DEPART-

MENT. or usefulness of the Agricultural Department. We believe it to be a very costly luxury. We do not of the State. As far as we can learn it has done this; it has caused some inferior grades of guano to be kept out of the market, and it has prompted some manufacturing companies to make a better fertilizer.

But we utterly repudiate the position taken by the advocates of this expensive luxury, that the Agricultural Department has had anything whatever to do in saving the people large sums by causing a reduction in the prices of fertilizers. We are quite persuaded that there is nothing whatever in this, and we say this after having procured the necessary information to authorize us to form and express an opinion concerning

We do not deny, mark you, that there has been a reduction-a great reduction in some instances-in the prices of fertilizers. Of course that is so. No one will question it who knows anything about the subject.

The point we make is that this important reduction has not been brought about by the Agricultural Department of the State. We do not believe it has really had any more to do in regulating prices than the sea gulls who fly along our Atlantic coast have in fixing the tides or in controlling the storms.

assertion? The reply is, because we other important States of the Union.

The stringency of the times the financial paralysis has brought down prices generally, and fertilizers have tumbled also.

While we are writing about fertilizers we will add one other reflection. The cry among the farmers just now is for cheap fertilizers. Meetings are being held in many sections in which it is resolved that the prices heretofore paid will not be paid any longer. What will be the probable result? We think it will be found that poor fertilizers will be introduced in spite of all precautions to keep them out in order to meet the demand for low-priced articles. No laws were ever yet framed that could catch all the regues. No Agri The way to get rid of the evil is people cry out for a cheap article.

We would not intentionally do injustice to the Agricultural Department. We have doubted long the expediency and wisdom of its organization. It has cost, or will cost the State for the first two years $30,000, and we do not see what important benefits result from this large expenditure. The money is greatly needed to pay the interest on the public debt, in educating the poor children of the State, and in many important directions. We would be glad to know that $15,000 annually had been saved to the tax-payers of North Carolina.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

It is said, but with what truth we cannot now determine, that a considerable number of the members of the 46th Congress, that will assemble in extra session on March 18th, will either act independently of all parties or with the Nationals in the organization of the House. If the list is correct then the Democrats cannot organize the House, or cannot do so without the aid of a number of the Independents or Nationals. The following is the list of Independents and Nationals: Gilbert De La Matyr, Indiana; F. H. Murch, Maine; Nicholas Ford, Misseuri; General J. B. Weaver, Iowa; E. H. Gillette, Iowa; Albert P. Forsyth, Illinois; Bradley Barlow, Vermont; Wm. M. Lowe, Alabama; Seth W. Slocum, Pennsyl vania; Daniel L. Russell, North Carolina; George W. Jones, Texas; G. W. Ladd, Maine; James W. Singleton, Illinois; A. E. Stephenson, Illinois; Henry Speer, Georgia, and Henry Persons, Georgia. It is also said that Kelley and Wright, of Pennsylvania, and Felton, of Georgia, will act with the Nationals in certain contingencies.

members. To get this number, We do not hesitate to say that we Wright, of Penn., Felton, Speer and do not place much faith in the value | Persons, of Ga., Jones, of Texas, and Lowe, of Ala., are included. We suppose these seven will vote with the Democrats in organizing. If so, the think it has accomplished anything of | way is open. Without them there very much importance to the people | are but 142 Democrats. If the Greenbackers and Independents were to act with the Radicals in organizing, then the latter can get control That is to say, the Radicals will have 147 votes and the Democrats but 142. We do not expect, however, much difficulty. We cannot see how men who ran and were elected as independent Democrats can affiliate or cooperate with the Radicals.

We may add that the Democrats in the late Congress did not appear to apprehend any difficulty in organizing satisfactorily. A special in the Richmond Dispatch, dated 4th, says: "Serious doubts have been expressed in some quarters as to the power of the Democrats to organize the next House without the aid of those members elected as greenbackers and independents. One of the oldest and most experienced of the Democratic members, who has been making a careful inspection of the roll of members elect, says there can be no doubt whatever that the straightout Democrats have a clear working majority."

THE VETO AND THE CHINESE.

If it is known that the United States, as a great nation, has no regard for its plighted word, and will unhesitatingly break treaties on occasion as self-interest may prompt, how long would it be before the nations of the world would cease to make treaties with our country, and would regard us as

Doubtless most of us, if residing in California, would regard the matter of restricting the Chinese in immigrating to this country as the people of that State regard it, but we ought net to expect the U. The Petersburg Index-Appeal has -indicious remarks on the ject of the veto, a portion of which "The veto of the bill prohibiting the immigration of the Chinese was one of those exercises of the President's constitutional power, for which he deserves praise at the hands of right thinking people of all sec-tions and parties. The bill would never have become a law except for the supposed political exigencies of both parties with reference to the vote of California in the approaching Congressional election. Beyond doubt, many good men, alike in the Senate and the House, both Democrats and Republicans, supported the measure against he protest of their consciences, and because they remembered that the ultimate responsibility of its becoming a law devolved on the President. The same vicious course of argument saddled the fraudulent "pension arrears bill," so called, on the country; and the members of Congress really had no right to elude the discharge of a plain and palpable duty rest-ing on themselves, by transferring the burden to any other shoulders. It has happily happened, in this case, that the President has been faithful to the obligation of his duty and to the distinct desire of ninetenths of the people."

JUDGE KERR'S CHARGE.

The Charlotte Observer reported recently an outline of Judge Kerr's charge to the Grand Jury of Mecklenburg, in which he took strong ground for preserving the purity and dignity of the Superior Courts. The good Judge appears to be perplexed by the act of the General Assembly in extending the jurisdiction of magistrates. He had read the act and he was unable to tell what offences were cognizable by the grand jury. He said, and we quote from the Ob-"They appear to have taken from the iurisdiction of the Superior Court every offense except murder and a few others known as the higher crimes. He hardly knew whether or not to tell them to bring in a bill for larceny. The act referred to gives the magistrates jurisdiction over al except 'serious offenses.' Who should say what this term meant? He considered it a The Democrats claim to have 149 scrious offense for a man to spit in another's face and curse and abuse him, but how could such offense be punished by a magistrate? On his last circuit a burly negro man was up before him for assault upon a lady of refinement and delicacy. The defendant met the lady in a country road and commanded her to stop. She was greatly alarmed and ran, and the negro pursued her almost to the door of the house of a neighbor. He sent the negro to jail for two years, and afterwards regretted that he hadn't made it five. What sort of punishment could have been administered in a magistrate's court for an offence of this What sort of restraint is there on criminals when they know that they can only be imprisoned for thirty days? The protection of the innocent depended in a great manner upon the punishment of the guilty. What protection did the present law afford to our daughters and mothers against the assaults of renegades? The dignity and purity of the Superior Courts should be preserved at any cost. Who ever saw anything valuable that was not costly? The very purity of our courts had been purchased with oceans of blood, and now it was proposed that the protection which they afforded should be in a measure destroyed because they cost some-

We copy these remarks of Judge Kerr because of his age, experience, ability and elevation of character. What so eminent a gentleman may say about the changes made by the Legislature in regard to the punishment of crime and the jurisdiction of magistrates is worthy of attentive consideration, and as such we have made the reference and given the

The Mahone followers in Virginia have organized a new party, as it appears from our exchanges from that State. At the late convention held in Richmond, and known as the Readjusters, but also called the Repudiators' Convention, a new party was formed, in which the "colored man and brother" was to be the prominent factor. The proceedings would justify the conclusion. We suppose it is the purpose of Billy Mahone and company to disintegrate or divide the old Conservative party of that State, and then, if they can persuade or induce the negroes to rally to their support, they hope to carry old Virginia.

The Louisiana Trials. Governor Nicholls, of Louisiana, as addressed a letter to President Hayes, in which, referring to the prosecutions now pending in the Circuit Court of the United States against citizens of Louisiana, he expresses profound regret that in a matter of so much importance a judge of the Supreme Court of the United States should not be present to participate in the decision of the Governor is discouraged because his advital questions which the case involve, so as to afford the amplest opportunity of having them passed upon by the highest tribunal of the land, the Supreme Court of the United States. Governor Nicholls declares that any decision which might be rendered in those cases, resting upon a mere concurrence of opinion of two judges of inferior jurisdic-tion (the effect of which concurrence would be to bar the presentation of the legal questions involved to the Supreme Court of the United States), would not carry with it the weight and authority which the importance of the issues raised and the sense of justice and right of the American people absolutely and imperatively

CHREENT COMMENT.

- We cannot but applaud the noble conduct of the Democrat- in Congress who are resisting the most tyrannous and odious form of party tyranny ever known in America. We endorse their action as true to principle and to liberty, and meriting the approval of every lover of honest government and personal freedom .-Rich. (Va.) Dispatch, Dem.

- The report of Mr. Potter sums up the positive results of this investigation with balanced judgment. The fact that the votes of both Florida and Louisiana were cast for Tilden and Hendricks and were wrongfully taken from them and given to Hayes and Wheeler, was well known before, but it is now solidly established by testimony of the most complete and conclusive description. The methods, the machinery, and, above all, the agents of the false count, are here illuminated by the full light of evidence that cannot truly be gainsaid. It is a clear and lasting record which is made up in the report of this Committee. Rutherford B. Hayes occupies the office of President without any legal or constitutional title He occupies it first through frands and forgeries, and secondly through the decision of a tribunal created by Congress in violation of the Constitution. That tribunal wilfully confirmed the frauds which had been set up by Republican conspirators in Florida and Louisiana. - N. Y. Sun, Ind. Rad.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES

The S nate has passed Mr. Graham's bill cutting down fees and salaries. This is the most direct movement made in the cause of retrenchment, and is decidedly the best step that has been taken during the entire session. Its passage, it is estimated, will save to the State about $20,000 annually .-Washington Press.

The STAR is right; so long as our State lingers in the hands of its creditors, with "hard times and worse a coming," the people oppressed and on the brink of ruin, et there be "no subsidy" for a "history of North Carolina," The history of North Carolina should be one of merit and not of State patronage. We would like to copy the STAR's editorial in full.-Rockingham

Let there be fewer salaried offices and places. There must be some, and let those who fill them be paid reasonably, and held to strict account. Let something worth while go to schools, and let part go to roads, so that the people who pay taxes may realize that they are levied and collected for the public good, and that each individual is a part of that public, and there will be less complaint about taxes .-Alamance Gleaner.

Nevertheless, three Deputy Collectors were put out yesterday for no other apparent reason than that they were friends of Mr. Arthur, and Gen. George W.
