WILMINGTON, N. C.: TUESDAY MORNING, March 25, 1879

NOT RESPONSIBLE.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean refers to the violent course of Jo Turner at the our farmers should be careful not to close of the last session, and says "another Democratic Legislature in disgrace." It neglected to add that Turner was elected as an Independent -that two years ago he was supported as an Independent, that he ran last fall as a Radical nominee for Congress against Mr. Davis, the regular Democratic candidate and who was elected, and that he was turned out of the Democratic caucus in the last Legislature very soon after it met. Turner is not now, nor has he been, in affiliation with the Democrats for several years. It is well known, we will inform the Inter-Ocean, in this State that Jo Turner belongs to his own party, and is squarely for Jo Tur ner, first, last and all the time. The Democratic party some time since washed its hands clean of any thing able Chicago contemporary says: "It is generally conceded that the Legis-lature was incompetent to deal with State e flairs, and a disgrace to the State."

that Jo Turner might say or do. Our

This is not the "general" opinion among Democrats. There are some who do not like what the body did in the way of outting down salaries. There are others who object to other laws that were enacted. It is also justly censured for some of its sins of omission. But take it all and in all it is about as capable a Legislature as we have had since the war. It was furthermore a sober and an industrious body, and was besides patriotic enough to sit for six days without pay.

The STAR never opposed Blackburn on personal grounds. It looked at the matter from a political standpoint entirely. It believed it was best under the circumstances to re-elect the old Speaker, who had served the party and the country so well. We looked beyond the present to the contest for President in 1880, and thought that the right policy for the South to pursue was to choose a Northern Democrat of rare ability and large parliamentary experience. Probably threefourths of the Democratic papers of the country held the same opinion. We noticed that some of the Republicans papers fayored Blackburn. That is they wanted the Democrats to elect him instead of Randall. The following from the Norfolk Ledger 现在1000mm 中的一种的一种的一种的一种的一种的一种的一种的一种的

It says: in horar mass. a much "To shew how anxiously the Republi-can leaders desired that the Democrats should fall into the sectional trap set for them by their opponents in the contest be-tween Blackburn and Randall for Speaker, tween Blackburn and Randall-for Speaker, we quote a single paragraph from the Baltimore American, at all times intensely partisan, which eye:

"The great movement for the election of a Speaker on a Bouthern and ex-Confederate platform, developed a good deal of strength; it would have done a great deal towards making sure the election of a President upon a Northern and Union plate form."

"And yet we find Southern journals who were willing to bite at this Radical bait under the belief that they were really upholding the honor and protecting the interests of the South. When will our people learn wisdom?"

FERTILIZERS AND COTTON. The Goldsboro Mail has an editorial on the subject of the price of fertilizers. It says that the average value of eighteen brauds of fertilizers sold in this State is stated to be $39 18 3.4. It adds the cost of manufacture commission, freight, &c., running the cost up to $55 18 3-4 per ton. It thinks this rather under than above the additional cost. It then asks how can companies afford "to exchange it for cotton at the rate of 400 pounds per ton, as many of them did in 1876-'77, and even now are offering to exchange it for 450 pounds of cotton? Cannot every one see there is an inconsistency some where, for 450 pounds of cotton at a net of eight cents, would only the cost to produce and sell." It thinks the standard brands are valuable helps when judiciously used. It also says that the commercial value of a certain brand is placed at $45 to $47.50 by the Agricultural Department's analysis, and yet the manufacturers only charge $20 per ton when they sell to large dealers. It cannot very well understand how a fertilizer can be sold for $20, when its commercial value is $45 or more. That does look a little curious. We quote

"And further, since we have been investigating this subject, a gentleman who has had much experience in handling guanos in this State and in South Carolina, said to us that the actual cost to a leading Baltiiore manfacturer per ton to manufacture he manures that are now sold in this State

We note these statements of the Mail, because its editor is a practical man of business as well as intelligent editor, and because many of the readers of the STAR are engaged in farm-

Whilst on the subject of fertilizers, it may not be amies to say a word about the cotton crop. It pays un questionably to use fertilizers, but the right sort must be used-that which is adapted to the soil. But make too much cotton to the exclusion of other crops. The prospect for a large crop is said to be good. At any rate, the prospect is that the South will make as large a crop as it did last year, possibly larger, and it is well known that very large crops do not fetch the most money. Such has been the experience of the South since the war. The Mail says:

"J. M. Mewborn showed us on Saturday a letter from a prominent Baltimore mer-chant advising a heavy curtailment in cotton planting. The prevailing opinion there among statisticians was that the next crop would probably run over five millions, on account of the greatly increased acreage in Texas and other Southern States; and with that amount raised the price will necessarily be lower than it was last year."

The above was prepared for our last issue. Since it was written we have received the Raleigh Observer of Saturday, in which we find some comments on the article of the Mail. It thinks that manufacturers can sell fertilizers "below the established commercial value," because in "many of the fertilizers" there is "organic and undetermined matter" existing "in large percentage;" because manufacturers deal wholesale in chemicals and even "manufacture many of them at their works," and, lastly, because "from the different sources from which such chemicals are ob-

Like the Observer we are not much skilled in farming, and would never undertake to speak ex cathedra upon that subject. We have observation, however, and we have a large acquaintance among farmers. Some years ago a very large Edgecombe farmer told us that he had been paying $50 per ton for a certain fertilizer, the regular market price of which was $62 at that time. He bought fifty tons annually. He finally procured the necessary information as to its ingredients and the process by which it was manufactured. He then made it at home, and it proved to be equal to that purchased. Its cost was, according to our recollection, $36. The thing is to get the precise guano adapted to the you wish to cultivate and the lowest possible price. It would appear frem what Prof. Ledoux says, as quoted by the Observer, the most exact analysis will not enable Enterprise. you to distinguish the most valuawill throw some light on the subject. ble ingredients from those of an inferior quality. We give the paragraph as quoted:

> "Let us suppose two fertilizers to contain as fellows; Sol. Phos. Acid............................. 10 per cent.

when Kellogg was elected it was by the illegal aid of his predecessor and Gen. Grant, and that Mr. Kellogg's return to the Senate was unlawful and was procured by his manipula ting the Legislature while yet Go vernor."

We learn from a circular that "the permanent committee of the Vienna Meteorological Congress have just paid the United States the high compliment of recommending to a proposed second Congress the adoption throughout the world of a plan for exchanges of data for simultaneous weather maps or other purposes, similar to the one first organized for the United States by General Myer, the Chief Signal Officer, in 1873, and which has been continuously pursued by the Signal Service to this day. The U. S. Signal office asks "al countries to make and record daily, or land or sea, one simultaneous weather observation at the same exact instant of time." Each country sends the U S. office the report of its observations every fifteen days. These ex changes have been continued for si years and with marked success, nearly every civilized nation north of th equator having taken a part in it The circular also says:

"It has made possible for the first time the history of the world the preparation of a daily simultaneous map of the north-ern hemisphere, at Washington, (this also is sent to each observer.) and has probably advanced the study of practical meteorology as far as any one undertaking in the last

In the last number of the South enn Historical Papers Gen. Harry Heth gives an account of the desperate charge of a small party of Federal cavalry at Falling Waters, in which Gen. Johnston Pettigrew, our noble North Carolina soldier. lost his life. The Charleston News and Courier truly says that his name was "synonymous with all that brave, unselfish and magnanimous." It will be remembered that Gen Pettigrew commanded Heth's Division in the third day's fight at Gettysburg, Gen. Heth being wounded. Gen. Pettigrew was one of the really great men of North Carolina. He was possibly the most intellectual man ever born within our borders, unless we except Mr. Badger.

It is stated by the Raleigh News that all of the North Carolina delegation voted for Randall for Speaker with the exception of Col. W. L. Steele. It is known also that about half of the entire Southrn delegation voted for him. Indeed some of the papers affirm that a majority of the Southern Democrats thought it best to support the old Speaker and reelect him. Mr. Randall's strongest friends were among the Southern Democrats, who had known him long and had served with him in Congress. They know his record.

The total receipts of the recent walking match were $54,314 40. The expenses were $12,908 86. The

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Randall's brief speeches from the chair at the opening and close of the session are good and neat. To those who have never tried it, the composition of these perfunctory speeches may seem easy; but in reality it is a severer test of a man's judgment and tact than is afforded by much more pretentious efforts of oratory. The art of saying the right thing on such occasions, neither too little nor too much, is rarer than is commonly supposed .- N. Y. Sun.

-- Ten years ago nearly every negro in the State had a ring in his nose, and was led to the polls by designing colored preachers and dishonest Radical adventurers. To-day a majority of the negroes will vote the Democratic ticket whenever a true Southern man offers his name for office. There are at least twenty thou-sand negro voters in Georgia and Alabama that will vote the straight-out, eld-fashioned Jeffersonian Demceratic ticket for President and Congressmen in 1880.—Covington (Ga.)

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES. On the whole, the Legislature did well. It is impossible to please everybody, and they, as human beings will may have committed errors. Taking all things into consideration, we say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servants."—Iarboro Southerner.

An Act to Causi Angola Bay. Whereas, There is a large quantity of valuable swamp land in Angola Bay, in the counties of Duplin and Pender, belonging to the State Board of Education, and in its present condition is not saleable, but if drained would sell for a fair price, and thus add largely to the Education Fund;

Therefore, the General Assembly of North Carolina do enact: froom, of Pender county, and Wiliam J. Boney and Edward T. Pigford, of Duplin county be and they are here-by appointed Commissioners to lay off a canal of sufficient width to drain Angola Bay, beginning at or near Croom's Bridge, in Pender county, on the east side of the North East river, and to run, as near as practicable, north 50 degrees east across Angola Bay to the run of Cypress Creek, in Duplin county, so as to turn the waters of said creek through said canal; and also a public road of the width of other public roads, bordering on or near said canal, and make eport thereof to the Governor.

Sec. 2. That, upon application of said Commissioners, the Penitentiary Board of Directors shall detail fifty convicts, who are allowed by law to be farmed out, to be worked upon said canal and road until completed, under the charge of a sufficient guard, to be selected by said Board, and subject to their control and the prison rules and regulations as far as practicable; and that said convicts shall be farnished with necessary tools to construct a suitable stockade or quarters, and to work upon said canal and road, and shall be fed and clothed and transported to and from said canal and road by the said Board of Directors, and paid for out of the funds appropriated for the Peniten-

Sec. 3. Whenever it may be necessary in order to prevent a sacrifice of the State's interest in the process of draining, as provided for in this act, the Governor, as President of the Board of Education, may, upon the recommendation of said Commissioners, exchange portions of the public swamp lands for small tracts owned by individuals, and the lands thus acquired shall be held by said Board as other swamp land.

Sec. 4. That said Commissioners shall be agents for the State, and shall be required by the Governor, as President of said Board, to look after the interest of the State, and to superintend the construction of I said canal and road under such rules | Price 25 Cents and $1.00 as he may prescribe.

Sec. 5. And as a compensation for said Commissioners, the Governor, as President of the Board of Education, is hereby authorized to convey to each of them and their heirs forever - acres of land reclaimed by said canal, to be selected by them, and located in alternate sections on each part of said canal, as may best promote the interest of the State, and that each section of land shall exceed two hundred acres.

Sec. 6. That an account of money paid by the Penitentiary Board in the prosecution and comoletion of this work shall be filed with the State Treasurer, which shall be credited from time to time with he proceeds of the sale of the pubic lands in Angola Bay reclaimed as aforesaid, until the same is paid in full, for the benefit of the general and; and to this end the Board of Education shall have the power to sell such lands, in such quantities as they think best at a fair price, as will discharge said amount. Sec. 7. That all laws and clauses flaw coming in conflict with this w are hereby repealed. Sec. 8. That this act shall be in orce from and after its ratification.

Knocking Washington Bown.

[From Collins' History of Kentucky.] At the time Gen. Washington was stationed at Alexandria, Va., as a colonel of a British regiment, before the war of the Revolution, an altercation took place in the court house vard between him and Wm. Payne in which Payne knocked Washington down. Great excitement prevailed, as Payne was known to be firm, and Washington was beloved by all. A night's reflection, however, satisfied Washington that he was the aggressor and in the wrong, and in the morning he, like a true and magnanimous hero, sought an interview with Payne, which resulted in an apology from Washington and a warm and lasting friendship between the two, founded on mutual esteem. During the Revolutionary war, while Washington was on a visit to his family, William Payne, with his son DeVall, went to pay his respects to he great American chief. General Washington met him some distance from the house, took him by the hand and led him into the presence of Mrs. Washington, to whom he introduced Mr. Payne as follows: "My dear, here is the little man whom you have so frequently heard me speak of, who once had the courage to knock me down in the court-house yard in Alexandria, big as I am."

[Reidsville Times.] Vance was shaking hands and be ing introduced to the different members at the close of the late session in Washington, when somebody said something about "going home." That Sec. 1. That Daniel Shaw and Asa reminded Vance at once. "Do you remember old Timothy Davis?" he asked. "When we served together before the war he said, at the close of the session, 'Well, Vance, I am going home, and I am glad of it, for I have caught evey infernal thing since I have been bere, from a cold down, except the Speaker's eyel" The crowd roared. They all knew

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Billousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Merrell's Herattine, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all billous diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepattine in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.
