OUTLINES.

Senate Committee on Election Frauds met; George C. Gorham was examined. — A sub-committee of five has been appointed to visit Philadelphia. — The President has sent some nominations to the Senate. — Work on anti-trust cases continues to be resumed. — Senator Pennington introduced a bill to give heads of Departments seats on the floor of the Senate and House. — Representative Cox introduced a bill for the re-appointment of the special committees on Census of Yellow Fever, Reform in the Civil Service, and Declaration of the Result of the Election for President. — The famine in the Nile valley is most distressing. — Dr. Carver fairly astonished the Britons with his shooting. — Representatives of Railroad Masters of the United States and Canada have formed an Association. — The Senate made no confirmations yesterday. — William Balden, of the firm of Balden, Connor & Co., New York stock brokers, arrested but bailed in $50,000. — Dissolution of present French Cabinet at an early day predicted. — Judge J. M. Gilbert, of Kentucky, assassinated at Frankfort in open daylight. — New York markets: Money 4 per cent; cotton quiet at 10.3-10.5-10.6; rice steady at $1.10-1.12; wheat without decided change; corn moderately active at 43-44¢; spirits turpentine quiet at 29-30¢; rosin dull at $1.35-1.40.

The many friends of Judge Kerr will be glad to learn that his condition is much improved.

The Financial flurry is over in New Orleans and the suspended banks may resume at any time.

The South will be glad to learn that Senator Gordon is rapidly recovering from his protracted sickness.

Secretary Sherman says that $58,000 was expended on deputy marshals in 1878, half of which was for New York.

The theaters of Philadelphia will give a benefit for the family of Mr. B. C. Porter, who was so brutally murdered in Texas.

The Greenbackers are now maneuvering to get their financial views tacked on to the appropriation bills. This will be an up-hill business we take it.

Senator Harris's bill on Epidemic Diseases appropriates $300,000 for experiments with the Gangee patent refrigerator ship, to freeze out contagious diseases from vessels at quarantine.

The two negroes who murdered Mr. John C. Lacey, of New Kent, Virginia, were hanged on Tuesday. They made a full confession of their crime, and did not appear much concerned as to their fate.

Zach Chandler says Hayes will stand firm. Extreme men of both parties declare there shall be no compromise. But it is said the conservative element is strongest. It is believed the caucus plan will be finally adopted. But we shall learn more in a few days and see what we shall see.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American, Republican, says in his letter of Monday that all is serene and hopeful among the Stalwarts, or words to that effect. He says:

"There is no sign of a disposition to compromise among the Cabinet officers, and those who have the best opportunities of knowing are absolutely confident that the President will never yield anything that destroys the force of the supervisors' and marshals' law."

There is great rejoicing in Virginia over the passage of the readjustment State debt bill. The Richmond Dispatch says:

"As soon as the whole debt is funded things will work as smoothly as desirable. Virginia will be able to pay the interest on all her debt without any increase of taxation, and demagogues and place-hunters will have to make capital out of something else. Heaven speed the day."

We congratulate heartily the Old Dominion on the triumph of the party that held the honor of Virginia above all price.

There is a big fight going on in New York between Tammany and the Tildenites. The intelligent Republican correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger thus states the case:

"Outside of New York the importance of this faction fight, as heretofore noted, consists in the allegation that 'Tilden is behind it,' and that the prime object of it all is to enable the Granger Park statesman to obtain possession of the machine, which is bound to give him the Electoral vote of New York in the next National Convention. * * * To put it in a single sentence, then, if the Kelly faction is upset, at the annual election, Mr. Tilden's star, beyond peradventure, will be once more in the ascendant, with Governor Robinson and Mayor Cooper as its satellites and supporters."

The Pointdexter Trial at Richmond.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]
 RICHMOND, Va., March 24.—The Pointdexter trial still continues to attract a great deal of attention. The court room was crowded from the time of its opening this morning until its adjournment to-night, and at times the sidewalks and passages of the court were blocked up by persons anxious to gain admittance. Nothing new was elicited from the testimony of F. M. McGuire and A. M. Lyon, the only witnesses examined to-day not already familiar to the public. The line of the prosecution thus far has been only in relation to what transpired at Childrey's tobacco factory at the time of the tragedy. The horsewhipping of Curtis by the prisoner, out of which resulted the death of Curtis, has not yet been elicited, except indirectly in cross-examination of Mr. Lyon by the Commonwealth's attorney. The counsel for the prisoner have filed five bills of exceptions to the rulings of the court up to this time. The jury will examine the premises where the tragedy occurred to-morrow.

Zeb Vance.

[Washington Capitol.]

Zebulon B. Vance, of North Carolina, is the greatest man in that State, except Matt. Ransom, his colleague, about whom the mothers teach the children in the catechism. Zeb. can tell the best story and make the best speech in North Carolina, and then he was the very best war Governor in all the South, having kept the North Carolina troops in better trim than the quota of any other State, and inspired them to fight so well that it was thought their heels were covered with patriotic tar just to make them stick on the battle-field longer than anybody else. He is a shrewd and keen politician, whom few can match in debate or intrigue, but withal a man of hardy honesty, patriotic and true, whose electioneering habits are a mixture of vulgarity and good nature, and somewhat a foil to his high education and powerful character.

The Fitz John Porter Case.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The report of the Board of Inquiry in the case of Gen. Fitz John Porter has been received by the Secretary of War, and sent to the President for action thereupon. It is stated that the report is a partial, though not an entire, vindication of Gen. Porter.

Twelve More Years.

[Wilmington Evening Review.]

The STAR begins to-day its twenty-fourth semi-annual volume. It has twinkled now, first as an evening and afterwards as a morning STAR, for twelve consecutive years. We wish the proprietor twelve more as good years of pecuniary success.

Spirits Turpentine.

—The Charlotte District has 187 licensed whiskey stills. Only one district in the Union, and that in Kentucky, beats it.

—Mr. D. L. Flowers, of Elevation, Johnston county, lost his store and gin house on the 18th inst. by fire. $4,000 gone up.

—Statesville American: As was to be expected, dog and cat fell in the Legislature. The canines will have another two years of liberty in which to multiply and kill sheep.

—The tobacco crop on 26 acres of Madison county had realized last week $3,006.92 for Capt. W. A. White. Mr. G. W. Gahagan got $126.25 as the returns for one-third of an acre.

—Henry Shakespeare is on trial at Halifax for murder. He is probably a colored negro who merely assumed a big name. He was modest, however, in not calling himself William.

—Newton Enterprise: J. A. Paul, white, of Person county, was arrested near Catawba, on Monday, by Sheriff Yount, charged with larceny in his own county. Paul is now "rusticating" in the county jail.

—Oxford Torchlight: Oxford has voted almost unanimously for a taxation of $30,000. There was up to the time of going to press only one vote polled against subscription; that of James I. Moore. Moore was the old Radical Sheriff.

—Raleigh News: A runaway on Blount street yesterday morning. A countryman was thrown from his buggy and seriously injured. — The last message of Mr. Hayes reads like an extract from the business department of a ladies' magazine.

—Greensboro Central Protestant: Mr. Calvin Kirkman brought down from Yadkin county this week six emigrants who are bound for Kansas. — During the last two weeks about fifty persons from the surrounding counties have purchased tickets at this point for the West.

—Charlotte Observer: Mr. N. B. Howe, a respected citizen, committed suicide on Sunday at his home, twelve miles east of Monroe. Selecting a very low limb, he placed a rope over it, then tied his hands behind his back. When found he was in a kneeling attitude, with feet and knees resting upon the ground. — Conclusive evidence that he pulled his very life out by strangulation. Unpleasant drama, which he has recently had, are believed to have induced him to take his life.

—Concord Register: We are often asked the question, did the Legislature make any provision for the relief of those persons who are imperiled by reason of the unconstitutionality of the homestead law, as applying to old debts? The law passed in regard to that matter exempts $500 worth of personal property, such as the homestead, from seizure by a creditor. Unpleasant drama, which he has recently had, are believed to have induced him to take his life.

—Raleigh Biblical Recorder: The Legislature made an appropriation of $3,000 to the Oxford Orphan Asylum. — Senator Harris, of North Carolina, and Governor Robinson and Mayor Cooper as its satellites and supporters.

For the deal and interest taken in the bill.

—Rev. C. Durham reports a pleasant meeting at Thomsville. Sixteen persons have professed faith in Christ. There will be a meeting of the Domestic Mission Board of the Cape Fear Association at Lenoir's Cross Roads, on Wednesday, the 23d day of April.

—Lumberton Robesonian: Notwithstanding the short term of Court, and other disappointments, we will contribute four hands to the State internal improvements. — Col. D. K. McKee delivered his lecture on "Laughter," in the court house, in this town, last Thursday night. We were glad to note that, although the "big crowd" had left town, there was a larger attendance on that night than on Monday night. Col. McKee is the finest orator we have ever heard, and is a master of language. — The receipts of goods at Redbanks up to this time amount to 277 tons, an excess of 75 tons when compared to last season's receipts to same period.

—Goldboro Messenger: Mrs. Moon, the lady revivalist, whose coming we heralded last week, arrived here Saturday evening and has earnestly entered on her good work. She preached to large congregations at the Methodist Church yesterday, both morning and night. Her sermons almost fabulous, yet it is so, that the recent act of Congress, to go into effect on May 1st, reducing the tax on snuff from thirty-two cents per pound to sixteen cents, will save the people of North Carolina several hundred thousand dollars annually. For instance, as near as can be approximated, about $45,000 worth of snuff is sold annually by the merchants of Goldboro, which includes the wholesale trade to other counties. Here is a saving of $15,000 on account of the tax reduction.

—Raleigh Observer: Mr. Charles N. Vance is the Clerk to the Committee on Enrolled Bills in the U. S. Senate. — In a letter addressed to a friend of ours in the city Senator Vance says, "There are 9,483 office seekers here." (Washington.) — N. Y. correspondent: North Carolina has the highest mountains east of the Mississippi, many reaching upwards of 6,000, and some nearly 7,000 feet, 400 feet higher than Mount Washington in New England. There are seven large rivers east of the Blue Ridge, and seven west of it, the former navigable more than 1,000 miles; and one of the latter (the Tennessee) 1,000 miles to the Mississippi. The Cape Fear is navigable to within 115 miles in a straight line, of the Blue Ridge. Some sixty years ago the tributaries of the Yadkin and Catawba were navigated almost to the foot of the Blue Ridge.

—Oxford Torchlight: No paper was published in Granville county ten years ago, and now we have four journals equal to any county in the State. The Oxford tobacco market continues unusually active. Mr. B. F. Hester sold a load at the Granville warehouse last Friday at an average of $23 per cwt. Mr. Hester has 6,000 pounds equally as good. The railroad canvassers were alive to their duty last week. The county was scoured in every direction, and we are glad to note that much financial encouragement was given them. The Porter Railroad is an impracticable scheme, as $25,000 in cash must be raised before the thing can be started, and Persons, Caswell and Rockingham, three of the four counties through which it is to run, are not anxious for a connection with the Raleigh & Gaston railroad. — Our Brevard correspondent furnishes us with the following: Horses are very cheap around here. A common horse sells for $30, a blind one for $15, and a fat young horse is worth $50.

The Steam Yacht Elizabeth.

Capt. R. P. Addison has just returned from Rich Lake, and informs us that while there he purchased the steam yacht Elizabeth, which got aground on the inside of the inlet a few weeks ago and was subsequently partially destroyed by fire while on her way from New York to Charleston, where she was to have been used as a dispatch boat by Gen. Gilmore, in charge of the harbor improvements. Capt. Addison says the cabin and some of her upper works were burnt, and the machinery badly damaged, but that the hull, boiler and engine are in pretty good order. Her dimensions are fifty feet in length, eleven feet width of beam, and four feet depth of hold. She was gotten up and towed to Fay's landing, where she remains at present, but she is to be brought here shortly to undergo the necessary repairs. She is said to have been a beautiful boat.

Fighting it out Beyond the Line.

Two colored individuals got into a dispute in the neighborhood of the market house yesterday morning, and finally agreed, in order not to lay themselves liable to arrest for any violation of law, to go across the river and fight it out beyond the line dividing the counties of New Hanover and Brunswick. They took their friends and went, with a few other friends, and upon arriving at the spot selected, the two belligerents divested themselves of their coats and went for each other, "flat and skull," with an earnestness that soon brought the conviction to the mind of one of the combatants that he was "badly whipped negro," when he cried out "enough." They then shook hands and came home, the wharf at the foot of Market street being crowded to witness the return of the latest practical exemplification of "the code."

Smithville Items.

We are glad to note an indication of progressiveness on the part of our seashore neighbor—Smithville, in the fact that a jewelry store and tin shop have recently been opened there for the first time, and that there is a prospect that the sound of the anvil will soon contribute to the general signs of activity and thrift.

We also hear that there have been more new buildings erected within the past twelve months than during the twenty years previous.

Judge Watts, who has recently located at Smithville, and opened an office in the Court House, has a farm about a mile from the town, and intends, we understand, to establish a "honeyery" at an early day.

There is some feeling in reference to the decision of the Supreme Court in the "Brunswick County Election Cases."

Mayor's Court.

A colored member of the police force was arraigned before Mayor Fishback, yesterday morning, on a charge greatly affecting his character as an officer. After the prosecuting witness had been heard, however, the policeman brought forward evidence of the most favorable and decided character as to his standing as an officer, and a number of other witnesses testified that the woman making the charges (one Eliza Jacobs, colored) could not be relied upon, whereupon the case was dismissed at the cost of the prosecutor, who was locked up in the guard house.

To Visit Europe.

We alluded a few weeks ago to the fact that quite a number of tickets had been sold by Mr. A. D. Weibel, agent of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company here, to those who expected to visit Germany and other parts of Europe, this season. Among those who contemplate sailing next month we hear of Mr. Julius Hahn, Mr. Isaac Bear, Mr. Henry Bush and family, Mr. John Gerdis, Mr. Chas. VonKemper, Mrs. Hasagen and children, and Mrs. H. Vollen and son.

Funeral of Mr. Michael Horan.

The funeral of that genial Irishman and esteemed citizen, Mr. Michael Horan, which took place yesterday, was largely attended by both Protestants and Catholics. After the services at St. Thomas Church, the remains were taken to the Cemetery, the Hibernian Benevolent Society, of which he was a member, escorting them there as a body and in full regalia.

To-Day's Indications.

For the South Atlantic States, partly cloudy weather, occasional rain areas, southerly winds veering to westerly, stationary or higher temperature, and falling, followed by rising barometer.

Funeral of Mrs. Gregory.

The remains of Mrs. Dora Gregory, who died at the residence of her husband, Mr. W. H. H. Gregory, in Charlotte, yesterday morning, will arrive here on a special train this morning, at 11 o'clock. They will be met at the depot by a detachment of the Wilmington Light Infantry and other friends, and escorted to the residence of Mr. John E. Lippitt.

Melancholy as the occasion may be, it is interesting to mention that Mrs. Gregory was a regularly enrolled member of the military organization which is to form part of her escort, when a young girl, and was known as "The Daughter of the Regiment."

In an oration on the occasion of the twenty-fourth anniversary of the Wilmington Light Infantry, May 20th, 1877, Col. Edward Cantwell touchingly alluded to "the blue-eyed Dora Brown" (Mrs. Gregory), the stewardess of the Company, "as she appeared at the head of the company some years before the war, in her gay costume of green and gold—not yet entered on her teens—graceful as an houri; beaming with the vivacity of her age and family; the child of beauty and of song; a golden sunlight streaming in her hair and flashing from her eyes; she marched with the swinging gait and cadence of a veteran and the grace of a sylph."

The Brunswick County Election Cases.

We have heretofore referred to the fact that the decision of Judge Buxton in the Brunswick county election cases had been affirmed by the Supreme Court. We append the full decision of the latter tribunal, in order to furnish a more explicit statement of the points in issue:

Swain vs. McRae, from Brunswick; judgment affirmed.

This was an action brought against the Board of Canvassers to compel them to reassemble and make a recount of the vote cast for Superior Court Clerk in Brunswick county, including the reported returns from Town Creek Township. His Honor refused the writ of injunction and mandamus, and declined to inquire into the merits of the case on the ground that the writ of mandamus is not the proper remedy, and for the further reason that, in the opinion of the Court, the Board of County Canvassers, acting by law for a single specific purpose, which has been accomplished, has ceased to exist as an organic body, and its members are no longer competent to do an official act.

Field. The office of the writ of mandamus is simply to impose upon an official the execution of a neglected duty affecting the interest or rights of the person applying for it. It cannot be extended to reach complicity claims to an office, and thus usurp the place of that special and ample remedy (quo warrant) which the law prescribes for adjusting and determining them.

The Court thinks it unnecessary to decide the other point, as it is not material to the decision of this action.

Thermometer Record.

The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations mentioned, at 4.31 yesterday evening, Washington mean time, as ascertained from the daily bulletin issued from the Signal Office in this city:

Atmos. 68°; Key West, 79°; August, 72°; Mobile, 73°; Charleston, 72°; Montgomery, 73°; Nashville, 72°; New Orleans, 73°; Covington, 72°; Punta Rasa, 76°; Galveston, 76°; Savannah, 71°; Havana, 72°; St. Marks, 73°; Indianapolis, 70°; Wilmington, 69°; Jacksonville, 75°.

Interesting Meetings.

A series of interesting religious meetings have been in progress, during the week at the Fifth Street M. E. Church, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. B. R. Hall. A number of penitents have appeared at the altar, and some profess to have found the pearl of great price.
