OUTLINES.

Senate was not in session. ——The Ohio contested case was up in the House; Mr. Young made a statement. ——House considered the Army Appropriation bill. ——The threatened inundation of Devanvya was averted. ——Blackburn weavers, England, are nearly to strike. ——Democrats of House of Representatives battling for repeal of proscriptive statutes; a warm debate anticipated. ——Some excitement among Catholic priesthood at Cincinnati on account of appointments made by Archbishop Purcell. ——During the debate in German Reichstag, on autonomic government, for Alsace and Lorraine, Prince Bismarck made a speech marked by great moderation. ——A female shot and killed in Pennsylvania; suicide of her murderer; jealousy supposed the cause. —— New York markets: Money 7 per cent; cotton easy at 10¼@10⅝c; flour quiet and unchanged; wheat in moderate request at $1@1.14⅝; corn 43@46c; spirits turpentine steady at 29c; rosin steady at $1 35@1 40.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston cast his first vote as a Congressman for Randall.

The Poindexter case is now in the hands of the jury. When last heard from they were not agreed.

The Connecticut Senate defeated the bell-punch bill that had passed the House by a unanimous vote. Poor Connecticut!

Every day Congress is in session costs the country $12,000. It is money well spent if the 12,000 Deputy Marshals can be got clear of.

The Richmond State had the report of the execution of the New Kent murderers by telephone. Its office is now in telephonic communication with all parts of Richmond.

The Kentucky counties are instructing their delegates for whom to vote for Governor. Thus far Mr. Blackburn has 722, Hewitt 629, Smith 347, Hardin 594, Dawson 111, Edgar 123, Halsell 149. There are one or two others.

Eighteen women in New York are now making a daily and nightly exhibition of themselves at Gilmore's Garden. They are engaged in a walking match. First prize, a belt and $1,000; second $500; third $250, and $200 for all covering 325 miles. Time six days.

The Philadelphia Times says that Gov. Hendricks has written several letters to prominent Democrats in Pennsylvania. It says:

"Mr. Hendricks's letters, it is understood, signify not only that he will not refuse to take the second place with Mr. Tilden, but that he encourages his friends in the direction of renominating the ticket of 1876."

The Philadelphia Times says Bangs had a big success as Virginius in Philadelphia. It also tells why he succeeded. It says:

"He is an actor of the old school and clings very closely to the old heroic methods. That the old school still has its admirers was shown by the marked favor with which all the strong scenes were received."

He is a great admirer of Edwin Forrest, who was a foremost actor in the use of "the old heroic methods." Now could not he rant when he was at his best?

Fred Douglass is out in a letter, in the Philadelphia Press, in opposition to the Radical schemes for colonizing the negroes. He is a leader among his race and possibly its ablest representative. He evidently penetrates the designs of the Stalwarts, and would shield his people from the threatened danger. We quote a very sensible paragraph:

"I remember when the negro was not a very welcome citizen of Massachusetts; when he was not allowed abaft of the wheel on steamboats; when he was dragged and kicked out of railroad cars; when he was not allowed to enter a concert, lyceum, theatre or church on equal terms (and in some cases on any terms) with other varieties of the human family. All this is changed now. Time, effort and events have done wonders in that old Commonwealth and in all the States of the North. The same beneficent agent will produce the same results in the South."

Great Cause for Congratulation.

[Tarboro Southerner.]

The Wilmington STAR on Tuesday entered upon its 24th half-yearly volume. W. H. Bernard, its proprietor, and T. B. Kingsbury, its editor, have great cause for congratulation at the unprecedented success of the STAR. Able, bold, fearless, independent, advocating the right and condemning the wrong, the STAR occupies a pinnacle attained by few. A long life and still more glorious prosperity to it.

The Poindexter-Curtis Homicide—Testimony of Miss Cottrell.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

RICHMOND, VA., March 26.—Miss Isabella Cottrell, the young lady whom, it is alleged, Curtis offended, was on the witness stand for two hours and a half to-day, in the Poindexter trial pending in the Hustings Court. Miss Cottrell testified that she first saw the deceased in January last, when she went to the store to purchase a pair of shoes. She had no acquaintance with him. Curtis held up one of the shoes and told witness to put her foot in it. After she put it on Curtis wished to button it, which the lady refused. The deceased persisted in being permitted to do so. Miss Cottrell said she removed the new shoes and put on her old ones, which the deceased insisted on lacing, and was refused. She turned her back on him, which had no effect upon him. On her second visit to the store, about three weeks later, witness went to exchange a pair of shoes, when Curtis again insisted on trying the shoes on, which Miss Cottrell refused, and left the store. The third visit was to carry back a pair of shoes and get heel-plates for another. Curtis, she said, held up the shoes and said: "What a pretty little foot; how do you walk in it?" Miss Cottrell said she requested the deceased not to comment further on her foot. Further on in her testimony Miss Cottrell said deceased "asked me to put my foot out and let him see it, and advanced towards me. I thought he intended to push my dress aside and look at my foot." Miss Cottrell was examined at great length both by the defense, by whom she was put on the stand, and the prosecution. On cross-examination by the prosecution Miss Cottrell said she did not carry on a smiling conversation with Curtis on the visits to the store.

John Nagle, a youth, who was employed at the shoe-store, was placed on the stand by the Commonwealth. He testified that he was in the store on the Friday in question when Miss Cottrell came in for the shoes. Nagle said the lady did not seem to be offended with Curtis. Her manner was pleasing. She didn't look a bit offended. In answer to a question by the Commonwealth's attorney, Miss Cottrell, after some hesitation, said her age was 25. A number of witnesses were examined as to the character of the deceased and Poindexter, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of each. The evidence was then closed on both sides and the court adjourned. The argument will be commenced to-morrow. The court-room was crowded all day.

Spirits Turpentine.

— Mr. W. E. Jones, of Raleigh, is dead.

— Enfield has a dancing school of its own taught by two of its young men.

— Pasquotank county has just sent four convicts to the penitentiary and Bertie one—all colored.

— The Goldsboro Rifles celebrated their anniversary in grand style. The two Newbern companies were present.

— North Carolina has fifty-four cotton and woolen mills in operation. The capital invested amounts to $1,838,000.

— One Mr. Johnson, of Chatham, last year raised 5,750 pounds of seed cotton on five acres of land, without any guano.

— A little daughter of Mr. G. W. Branch, of Enfield, was poisoned last week. A negro nurse has been arrested and sent to jail for trial.

— A petition is in circulation in Orange county praying for the commutation of the penalties to which the Chapel Hill burglars are liable by law. Neither Mr. Chas. W. Johnson nor Mrs. Henden, the sufferers, are parties to it, says the Hillsboro Recorder.

— Kinston Journal: On Saturday night both the Wilmington STAR and the Raleigh Observer failed to put in their appearance, to the great discomfort of our news lovers. They are par excellence the two leading papers in the State, each from different standpoints meeting all the demands of modern journalism.

— Raleigh Observer: Mr. Atkinson says that the committee he had the honor of raising saved the State $171,000. —— Total receipts of bonds for exchange up to date $93,200. Of this amount about one-half comes from holders residing in the State. Tenders have been made of $300,000 in addition to this amount.

— The Steamer L. G. Cannon which plies between Norfolk and landings on Roanoke river, while near Mossy Oak, the Albermarle and Chesapeake canal last Thursday evening struck a snag forward of the engine near the water line, and began sinking immediately. She was at once run ashore and the cargo saved. Another steamer will take its place. Divers are at work raising it.—Statesville Landmark.

— Goldsboro Mail: The actual circulation of the Mail, to bonafide subscribers, is 1,032, an increase of 408 since we came to this place. We are encouraged to believe that by the first of January next our circulation will reach 1,800 or 2,000. —— An old Frenchman, a scissors grinder, in Halifax county, drew a keg up to a fire he had kindled, not knowing the contents, when a sudden explosion convinced the community that it was gunpowder. The old man was badly mangled, and little hopes are entertained of his recovery.

— Gen. Felix B. Zollicoffer who was killed in Kentucky during the war was born in Halifax county.—Wilmington Star. Gen. Zollicoffer was not only born in this county but lived within ten miles of Weldon until he was five years old, when his parents moved to Murray county, Tennessee. On the death of Dr. Zollicoffer, of Maryland, after the war Col. J. B. Zollicoffer, a native and still a resident of Halifax county became the head of the family and is now by right of descent entitled to the old baronial castle and lands in Switzerland. Baron Zollicoffer, an ancestor of Col. Zollicoffer, was banished from his country for bearing arms in defence of his right, and came to this country. He has many decendants here who do him honor. —Weldon News.

— Washington letter in Raleigh News: Colonel Liles, a well known North Carolina journalist, has been tendered a "place" by Congressman Steele. Ex-Congressman Waddell returns to North Carolina to engage in journalism. E. W. Jones, Esq., a member of the North Carolina Legislature, Robert H. Cowan, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Chatham county, Mr. Brooks, the late Enrolling Clerk of the North Carolina Legislature, and Wilmot Lock, are applicants for office in the Senate wing of the Capitol. Captain Charles Price, ex-Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, has been in the city several days "looking around." John Hyman, the late colored Congressman from North Carolina, called on Senators Vance and Ransom to-day, asking them to assist him in getting some government position.

— Tarboro Southerner: We agree with the Raleigh Observer that if a Congressman desires to immortalize himself let him at once set about changing the newspapar postage law. —— E. M. Bryan, of Kill Quick, Edgecombe county, killed a pig on the 28th of February weighing 656½ pounds. Step up, gentlemen of the press. —— We regret to inform his many friends and admirers that the health of Rev. Dr. J. B. Cheshire is very poor. —— Let us all get in line and howl, as with one voice, to the next Legislature. A body so extremely regardful of dogs, should extend protection to other brutes. —— Zachariah Dew, who was born just ninety-five years ago, died in this county last week. — Rev. Mr. Jones, of Wilmington, delivered a lecture last Sunday night week at the M. E. Church, at Rocky Mount, on the importance of Sabbath Schools.

— Charlotte Observer: Declining health having forced Mr. R. E. Duke to resign as Manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company's office in this city, Mr. Eugene R. Dodge has been appointed his successor. —— Judge Kerr was better yesterday and hopes to be able to go to his home in Reidsville on the evening train. —— Mecklenburg county jail now contains ten prisoners, all of whom are colored, the only white man having been discharged yesterday morning. —— At a meeting of the Vestry of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, night before last, it was determined to call Rev. Z. Doty to the rectorship of the Church. —— Three weeks ago the owners of the old Woodlawn cotton mills served a notice of a reduction of 10 per cent. upon their operatives, and Tuesday, the time at which the reduction took effect, the weavers struck, all except two or three leaving the factory in a body. The owners gave them notice to return to work next morning or quit their quarters in the evening, and yesterday morning all came back except a few of the ringleaders, who remained away until noon, when they, too, returned.

— Weldon News: Dr. John T. Bellamy, the proprietor of the Tuskarora cotton mills on Fishing Creek near Enfield has forty thousand dollars invested in the enterprize, employs forty operators. —— Died, near Littleton, last week, Jack Johnston, Esq. in the 82d year of his age. Mr. Johnston was the father of Col. W. A. Johnston. —— The Anderson Rifles, of Halifax county, and Jarvis Rifles, of Greenville, have received their arms, and will be fully equipped in a short time. —— A painful accident occurred on Monday, 24th inst., at Midway. Mr. Johnson, employed by Mr. Henry Branch, Section Master on the R. & G. R. R., while engaged on repairs at Midway, received severe injuries from a pole he was using for the purpose of raising the iron rails. —— Died, at his residence in Northampton county on the 25th inst., Capt. Uriah Jordan in the 64th year of his age. —— Mr. P. B. Key, in his suit against the Insurance Company for insurance on his property destroyed by fire in Enfield about 18 months ago, obtained a verdict for $2,100, at the present term of the Superior Court. —— Last week the Weldon riot case was called for trial, a jury empanelled and about twenty witnesses examined. The State was represented by Solicitor Collins, the defendants by W. H. Day, A. J. Burton and Spier Whitaker, Esqrs. The jury after being four for several hours came into court and returned a verdict of guilty as to Tom Jones and John Purnell, not guilty as to W. C. Hill and Sherwood Long. Being unable to agree as to T. L. Emry and R. J. Day, a juror was withdrawn and mistrial entered.

To-Day's Indications.

For the South Atlantic States, warm, clear or partly cloudy weather, variable winds, shifting to southwesterly, stationary or lower pressure, are the indications for this section to-day.

Disturbing the Dead.

We regret to be called upon to be the medium of a complaint that a number of white boys have been in the habit of penetrating the vaults in St. James' church yard, lifting the lids of the coffins and otherwise disturbing the dead. A gentleman who visited the graveyard, a day or two since, to look after one of the vaults, found several of these boys there, and they were boasting of what they had done and seen in this connection, even with reference to the remains which were the object of this gentleman's care and solicitude. It is presumable, of course, that mere idle curiosity is the motive which influences the boys, but it must be admitted that such conduct, on their part, is very reprehensible, to say the least of it, and measures should be taken by the proper authorities to put a stop to it.

Thermometer Record.

The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations mentioned, at 4.31 yesterday evening, Washington mean time, as ascertained from the daily bulletin issued from the Signal Office in this city:

Atlanta	78	Key West	78
Augusta	79	Mobile	76
Charleston	65	Montgomery	85
Charlotte	71	New Orleans	82
Corsicana	87	Punta Rassa	74

Local Dots.

— Hon. A. M. Waddell arrived home yesterday morning.

— A boat load of cat fish were offered for sale at Market dock yesterday morning. They were caught in a seine.

— A little stir was created in the neighborhood of Market and Second streets, yesterday morning, by the burning out of a very foul chimney.

— Marshall H. McAllister, colored, was sent to jail yesterday for non-payment of fine and costs in a case of assault and battery before Justice Hall's Court.

— Under the classifications of "notable arrivals" the Raleigh News mentions the presence of Col. J. W. Atkinson and Col. R. R. Bridgers in that city.

— The pastor of Front Street M. E. Church, Rev. E. A. Yates, being absent from the city, his pulpit will be supplied to-morrow by Rev. J. W. Craig.

— Dr. Wm. A. Dick, a prominent physician of Lumberton, died suddenly in that place Thursday morning, it is supposed of heart disease. Dr. Dick was a brother-in law of Mr. H. C. McQueen, of this city.

— Grace Austin, a colored damsel, was before the Mayor yesterday on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, for which she was ordered to pay a fine of $5 or be confined in the city prison for ten days.

— There was considerable excitement at the foot of Market street yesterday afternoon, for a few moments, over an attempt of a man from the country to carry a valuable dog that was claimed by another party over the ferry.

— The last Legislature passed a law—and very wisely, we think—to encourage matrimony. The price of a license has been reduced to $1.50—cheap enough. If this don't swell the revenue of the Register of Deeds we shall be surprised.

— While the question of Spring is attracting so much attention, especially among the more venerable portion of the community, it should not be forgotten that we have a mineral spring on the turnpike, a short distance beyond the city limits, which is deserving of attention.

— We learn that some of our Brunswick friends are considerably rejoiced over the fact that the last Legislature gave them back part of the slice of territory that was lately ceded to Columbus. The part still remaining in the latter county are satisfied, as it is much more convenient for them to attend court at Whiteville than at Smithville.

Opera House.

Play-goers will experience a deal of satisfaction from the announcement that the sterling actor, Robert McWade, will serve them with "Rip Van Winkle" next Monday evening. The box-sheet for the sale of reserved seats is now open at Heinsberger's.

Mr. McWade has not appeared on the boards in this city for many years. In earlier times he gave promise of distinction in his profession, and the tone of the press, and the people who have seen and heard him in his ripened years ascribe to him remarkable histrionic excellence. His version of "Rip Van Winkle" is said to be new and striking, and historically more faithful than we have been accustomed to witness. These facts, added to the merit of his supports as performers, and the attractions of the piece, will probably secure a large attendance of patrons of the drama.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Gregory.

The funeral obsequies of the late Mrs. Dora Gregory were consigned to their last resting place in Oakdale Cemetery yesterday. The Wilmington Light Infantry, under command of Capt. Walter Coney, escorted the remains from the residence of Mr. James E. Lippitt, on Third street, to St. James' Church, where the funeral services took place, and from thence to the Cemetery, where they were followed by a large number of the relatives and friends of the deceased.

The Question Settled.

A colored debating club, known as the "Acorn Grove Lyceum," which has its meetings at the Chesnut Street (colored) Presbyterian Church, discussed the question, on Thursday night, "Should the Negro migrate to the West," and after a very spirited debate it was finally decided in the negative.

Pounding a Lady.

A number of our friends of the Second Presbyterian Church "pounded" an estimable lady on Red Cross street, Thursday night, and we learn that it was done in a style that will cause the deed to be long remembered with pleasure by the recipient of the compliment.

RIVER AND MARINE.

— The Allegro, from this port, arrived at Demerara yesterday.

— The Brage, Berglund, from this port, arrived at Havre on the 12th.

— The Alaska, Halorow, arrived at Liverpool from this port on the 14th inst.

— The steamship Benefactor, Capt. Jones, arrived from New York yesterday with a full freight—much to the delight of quite a number of our merchants who had goods on her.

— The schooner Ellen S. Hill, at Charleston from this port, reports having boarded, in lat. 33.21 and long. 79.20 W., the wreck of a fore and aft schooner, and she took therefrom some running rigging and a storm staysail.

PERILS OF RAILROADERS.

Serious Accident—A Car Thrown from the Track—One Man Killed and Several Others Wounded.

The rear coach of the eastern bound passenger train, on the Carolina Central Railway, was thrown from the track yesterday morning, between Lilesville and Pee Dee stations, resulting in the mortal wounding of a colored brakeman, and the severe injury of several passengers.

As soon as possible after the accident, the injured men were carried to Rockingham, where medical aid was procured. All efforts, however, in behalf of Harvey Lewis, the colored brakeman, proved unavailing, and shortly after the arrival of the physician he breathed his last.

The deceased was a resident of Charlotte, and leaves two children. He had only been employed on the road about three or four months. His body was carried to Laurinburg, where it will be incased in a coffin by the Railway Company and taken to his home.

It was impossible to ascertain definitely the extent of the injuries to the passengers, but it is understood that Messrs. Eli Gibson and J. W. Covington, the former a citizen of Old Hundred, and the latter a resident of Rockingham, are seriously injured. The others are believed to be only slightly injured.

Fortunately, there were only four or five occupants of the coach at the time of the accident, and of these Messrs. Gibson and Covington alone were seriously injured.

The passenger coach, however, was almost a complete wreck, and the marvel is how any of those aboard escaped fatal injuries or instant death.

The accident was caused by the breaking of a wheel, and not through any criminal carelessness or neglect of persons in the employ of the Company. No blame is attached to any one, as the train was on a down grade and being moved at cautious speed.

Dramatic Entertainment by the Thalian Amateurs.

The usual large and appreciative audience assembled at Thalian Upper Room last night, to witness the presentation by the Thalian Amateurs, of a play in two acts, entitled "The Last Loaf." There has been steady improvement noticeable in each successive appearance of our young Thespians, and the acting last evening of the entire caste was decidedly the very best that we have yet witnessed. To sum up briefly, the drama was excellent, the parts were most judiciously assigned, the characters personated with exceeding cleverness, and the audience delighted with the entertainment.

One or two of the young gentlemen had opportunities to appear to much greater advantage than on any previous occasion by reason of their fitness for the characters assumed, and we were glad to see that nothing was neglected.

We are well pleased that the deserving efforts of the young ladies and gentlemen have been so highly appreciated and liberally patronized. The selection of pieces has always been capital, and we hope, in the course of time, to see them as cleverly render many more equally as enjoyable plays.

Contest Among the Good Samaritans.

For some time a controversy has been going on between two different organizations of the Good Samaritans, as to which has the legal right to exist. Two officers of lodges under different organizations, Lynn, of this city, and Alexander, of Charlotte, met at the Court House in Wadesboro last week, says the Herald, in the presence of a large crowd. Lynn is a fluent talker, but Alexander seemed to satisfy the darkeys that his was the lodge.

IN MEMORIAM.

JAMES STRATTON KNIGHT. Born January 23d, 1846. Died January 23th, 1879.

Mr. Knight, who was so suddenly stricken down amidst labors so abundant, was a man of no common mark. He was a faithful disciple of our Master Christ, and so was loved and blessed by Him, while he was beloved by his friends and by those companions with whom he came in daily contact.

There is in most persons some one characteristic prominent above all others, and if one were asked to tell the leading trait in Mr. Knight's character, he would not be wrong in declaring it to be his great Christian simplicity. It was a diffusive trait, showing itself in many ways; in his faithfulness to his duties, in his singleness of motive, in his straightforward integrity, in his unswerving maintenance of the right in all circumstances, in his quiet tastes, in his unaffected manners, and in his intense devotion to his family and home. And joined to this simplicity was a kindliness of nature that won its quiet way to the sympathies of all who knew him, and the constancy of which they can tell most of who lived with him, and fought with him in the fierce and continued struggle of the every-day life.

It is not always that the loss of a son, of a husband, and a father falls so sadly on the members of the household. There are few better tests of a man than to ask how those regard him who have lived with him.

A character like this is sure to gather many friends. It was preeminently so with him. A life of unobtrusive integrity and unfailing kindliness, an honest and earnest industry, had made him more friends than perhaps he imagined he had. That so many came crowding to his funeral told plainly enough how strong on them had been the unconscious influence of his simple, and useful, and pure, and Christian life.

His body sleeps until the great day of the Resurrection. May his soul rest in peace.

"What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter."

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

At a recent meeting of the Hibernian Benevolent Association, the following preamble and resolutions, reported by the undersigned Committee, were unanimously adopted:

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst our friend, MICHAEL HORAN, who for many years past has been a faithful and constant member of this Association, it behooves us to place on record some proper testimonial of the regret we feel at the death of one who was a devoted and tender husband and father, a kind friend, a good citizen, and a genial companion; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Michael Horan this Association loses one of its most faithful members.

Resolved, That we deeply deplore his death, and that a blank page of the records of this Association be inscribed with his name and date of death.

Resolved, further, That the Secretary transmit a copy of these proceedings to the family of the deceased, assuring them of our deep sympathy in their affliction, and that he also have these proceedings published in one of the daily papers of the city.
