CONGRESS-SPECIAL SESSION

Resolution Adopted Placing Senate Appointments in Hands of Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms-Bebate Continued in House on Legislative Appropriation Bill-The Emigration of Negroes from the South to Kansas Under Discussion-Passage of the Army Appropriation Bill.

> [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Senate, soon after meeting, proceeded to the consideration of the resolution relating to appointments to office by the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate. The amendments declaring that no Union soldier shall be removed, except for cause, and also that no Confederate soldier shall take the place of any dismissed Union soldier, were defeated by a strict party vote-26

The resolution giving the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms absolute power over removals and appointments in their respective departments, was then agreed to.

The Senate passed the Army Appropriation bill as it came from the House without

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The House went into Committee on the Legislative Appropriation bill. Mr. Richardson, of S. C., spoke in favor of the repeal. The opposition to the repeal seemed to be an effort on the part of the Republican party to array a solid North against a solid South—a solid South only in its adherence to the Constitution.

Mr. Van Voorhees, of N. Y., aruged that the election laws were constitutional and necessary for the maintenance of an honest

Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, said a stranger who had been present during the debate, from Mr. Garfield down to the last speech, would have supposed that, instead of the simple proposition to keep troops from the polls, it was a question as to whether or not the Southern people were liable to be indicted for murder, arson and other crimes. He had seen for five years after the war closed negroes marched to the polls in Mississippi, headed by leaders between drawn swords, and that never had been regarded by the Republicans as an invasion of the rights of the people and of the freedom of the ballot-box. This outcry of a free ballot for the negro was therefore all pretense. In the last two elections in Mississippi there was not a single colored man who had not been absolutely free to cast his vote as he chose. Mr. Hooker then sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a protest of the inhabitants of Wyandotte, Kansas, against colored immigration, and said that it was only when he negro was at a safe distance that the Republicans were his friends. They never had any use for negroes except to keep them, like sheep, in shamblea, and run them to the ballot-box in the interest of the Republican party.

Mr. Haskell, of Kansas, denied that the people of that State were hostile to the negroes, but said they did not consider it wise to have thousands of people cast upon one point destitute and homeless.

The session of Wednesday was here brought to a close, and that of Friday commenced. The debate was continued by Messrs. Manning, of Miss., Goode, of Va., Hiscock, of N. Y., Finley, of Ohio, and

Mr. Goode said he would not speak from a partisan standpoint, or indulge in any threats, but should advocate the repeal of the test oath because it was a stigma on the people of the South and a standing reproach on the American statute book. He had sometimes, while listening to gentle-men on the other side, been almost disposed to despair of the Republic, and to think that the prejudices and passions engendered by the war, would never cease; but he preferred to believe that those gentlemen misrepresented their constituents, and to submit the issue to the grand inquest of the nation, with full faith that it would decide that the war was over, and its questions de-

Mr. Hiscock, of N. Y., said the object sought in repealing the election law was a Democratic victory in 1830, through the removal of the safeguards against fraud.

Mr. McCook, of N. Y., sent to the Clerk's desk and had read, the resolutions of the New York Legislature, condemning the action of the Democratic party in Congress with regard to the Appropriation bills, as amounting practically to revolution.

In reply to a question by Mr. Finley, of Ohio, Mr. McCook admitted that the resolutions were passed by a party vote.

Mr. Ellis, of Louisiana, then proceeded to argue against the assumption that the election laws were necessary for the protection of the negroes, and said the Republican party was the worst enemy the negro had ever had; that the negro had been its whole stock in trade.

The debate was then continued by Mr. Keifer, of Ohio, and Mr. Springer, of Illinois, and closed on the Democratic side by Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, who said the object of the reconstruction measures had been to produce race antagonism; that Congress, in that legislation, knew perfectly well it was, "organizing hell" in the South, and that Federal intervention had been the great and last cause of race disturbance. During Mr. Ewing's remarks a message was received announcing the passage of the Army Appropriation bill by the Senate, which was received with applause on the Democratic side.

The hour to which the debate had been limited having then expired, the committee rose, and the House, at 5 o'cleck, adjourned

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impuritues strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Billowsness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Merrell's Hepatine, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking, skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all billous diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepatine in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.
