The last Chapel Hill Ledger has the name of Mrs. C. P. Spencer as the editor. This gratifies us exceedingly, for without excess we may affirm that she is the ablest woman in North Carolina, and possibly the best educated. She writes admirably, as every ordinarily informed person in the State knows. We think she was a born newspaper writer.

Gen. Tom Ewing, of Ohio, Democrat, made a very admirable speech in the House. The correspondents speak highly of it. The Richmond Dispatch's Washington correspon-

"He was eloquent and earnest when he declared that while the Republicans in Congress were striving to stir up sectional hate, the people North and South are panting for peace. And yet when this gallant Union General pleaded for conciliation and good-will among all Americans, Reed, Conger, and other non-combatants who never mustered with a flint-lock in a home guard, speered at his brave words and patriotic efforts."

The passage of the Legislative Appropriation bill, with the political decided majority of 140 ayes to 110 nays, the Greenbackers voting with the Democrats, will be reassuring to the country. It is very clear that the debate has had a fine effect. It has shown up the monstrosities of Radical legislation and has expelled the clouds and dust that Garfield, Robeson, Frye and Conger, and such, had thrown around the plan of the Dem-

Mr. Lowe, a Greenback member from Alabama, invited Mr. Logan ontside of the District for offensive language used in debate. Logan had had enough of "wab," so he replied net. Whereupon Mr. Lowe publighed the following pointed card "I will not brand John A. Logan as a liar, for he is a Senator of the United States. I will not post him as a scenndrel and poltroon, for that would be in violation of the local statutes. But I do publish him as one who knows how to insult, but not how to hattiry, a gentleman, and I invoke upon him the judgment of the honorable men of the community."

The rascals who are "fooling" the negroes of the South are distributing lovely chromos giving a rosy picture of farm-life in Kansas, with highly colored oxen, and horses, and chicktrees. The recest and gayest flowers are blooming around a tidy cottage with at least three coats of paint,

There is one jolly Republican in the House who is too full of bonhom mie to be a good hater. His name is mie to be a good hater. His name is Boyd, and be hails from Illinois. The Dispatch's correspondent says:

"He gave his attention first to the Green-backers, whom, he said, in the last campaign promised the poor people that it should rais greenbacks for forty days and forty nights, and then told a capital story about the mermaid, which made wicked old men shake their sides. Going ever to the front of the Democratic side, he said, with inimitable good humor, that he wanted to give the South some good advice. Pointing to a member from Mississippi he said, I want you people down in Mississippi to raise more corn and cotton, and less cussraise more cern and cotton, and less cussedness; and turning to a member from South Carolina he said, and you down in South Carolina to raise more hams and less Hamburg. Even when he talked about the bloody shirt there was applause, and the Democrats cried 'Go on,' when his time was out."

Well, we have read the text of Col. Walter L. Steele's speech, and very good reading we found it to be, It is an excellent effort of the kindwell arranged, clear, vigorous and in admirable English. Altogether it is about the best speech for general circolation that has been made in the House of Representatives in a long time. The temper is excellent, the humor good, and the points sharp epough to be incisive. It is the completest and fairest vindication of the South we have yet read. If there is a false statement or a veneered fact U. S. Supreme Court will adjourn for the in it we could not find it. It is good > effective speech, as all agree who heard it, but it did not express, it is to be hoped, the deliberate sentiments of a majority of the intelligent, just and honest people of the immense Northern section. At any rate, he did not express the convictions and feelings of the people of his own great State, we may believe. The New York Sun says of the effort:

> "Senator Conkling made a speech in th "Senator Conkling made a speech in the Senate yesterday on the wrong side of a question involving fundamental principles. But the voice that ran through the Senate chamber was not the veice of New York. There need be no mistake on that point. New York is for civil liberty and local self-government. New York is for a free ballot box. New York wants no Federal bayonets at her polis to keep the peace. She is fully competent to attend to that duty herself. No, the voice board yesterday was not the voice of New York."

When the fact of the robbery was discovered the matter was investigated, and it was found that entrance to the store had been effected by going under the same and making a hole sufficiently large through the fire-place to admit the body of a small boy, who went through into the building and accomplished the theft, while the man who engineered and directed the proceedings remained outside. Tried to Keep His Promise. The police had considerable trouble with a white man arrested in the southern part of the city Sunday night, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. It appears that this same man was before the City Court about six months ago, at which time, it being his first offence, he was allowed to go free on the promise that he would sin no more. He seems to have remembered this agreement when he was arrested Sunday night, as he said to Officer Davis, to use his own words, "I promised the Mayor that I would never be brought before him again, and I'll be d-d if I dol" and as if to make good his words he "disputed every inch of the way" from the vicinity of the Fifth Street M.
