Senater Eaton of Connecticut, made a rousing Democratic speech on Saturday. It roused up Conkling who made some good points in reply. The Washington special to the Richmond Dispatch says:

"In reply to Mesers. Blaine and Dawes, he showed that patriots who were the peers of any the sun ever shone upon spoke of this Government as a confederacy, a confederation, a Federal Union, and a compact. He first discussed the jury law, refuting the declaration of Mr. Conkling that it only affected the generation that participated in the rebellion, and proceeded to show that the test oath applied to boys of thirteen at the time of the war. He cited instances related to him by Senators now on the floor lated to him by Senators now on the floor proving the truth of this declaration. He held that it was a law to pack juries to convict, just as Jeffreys packed juries in England for the same purpose. Then he discussed the section relating to supervisors and deputy marshals, reading a list of expenitentiary convicts, perjurors and burglars appointed to carry the elections in New York for the Republicans. In speaking of them he said, 'These thieves, murderers and highwaymen.' As a New Yorker remarked, the old Bourbon gave them 'Hail Columbia' without missing a note."

The Complimentary Concert. It has been decided positively that the complimentary concert to Mrs. D. Kahnweiler will take place at the Opera Hous on Friday evening, May 23rd. The management announce that tickets and reserved seats need not be exchanged. The programme, consisting of vocal and strumental music by the best amateur talent of the city, will no doubt prove an exceedingly attractive one, and it is equally to be presumed, considering that the re cipient of the testimonial is so universally appreciated in the community, that there will be a large audience in attendance. A rehearsal will take place at the Opera House this (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock and on Thursday evening there will be general rehearsal.

On Saturday night last, about 8 o'clock, a fodder-stack on the plantation of Mr. Samuel Blossom, at Rocky Point, was discovered to be on fire by a daughter of Mr. B., when, by prompt efforts, the flames were finally subdued, thus preventing their communication to the stables, containing six horses, which were in close proximity to the fire.

While Mr. Blossom and those he had called to his assistance were engaged in putting the fire out, the house was entered and tobbed of a gold watch, three chains, a breast-pin and a pair of ear-rings.

About 2 o'clock the following morning Peter Bloom, alias Peter Oldham, and Walter Middleton, both colored, were arrested on suspicion of having set fire to the fodderstack and robbed the house. The case was heard before Justice T. J. Armstrong, the same day, and resulted in the discharge of Middleton, but Peter Oldham was ordered to give bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance at the next term of the Super mor Court of Pender county, to answer to the charge of larceny, in default of which he was brought to this city Sunday night and lodged in jail.
