THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Proceedings of the Louisville General Assembly.

Louisville, Ky., May 23.--Late last night the case of J. W. Canfield, who appealed from the decision of the Synod which refused to look into charges presented by Mr. Canfield against Rev. Stuart Robinson, was decided by the Assembly, the result being the dismissal of the complaint. The case has been pending in different ecclesiastical courts for five years. To-day the Assembly was occupied in another case, that of E. E. Baker, who appeals from the decision of the Synod of Missouri. Mr. Baker was first arraigned before the session and suspended from communion for giving a reporter of the St. Joseph Georgia Teachers' Association, speaks as isiana, yesterday decided inoperative the act of the Louisiana Legislature repealing close of the Camp Meeting-Its Re-

The great camp meeting of the colored Methodists, which was inaugurated las Thursday afternoon, at Gander Hall, fourteen miles down the river, was brought to a close yesterday. The opening sermon by Bishop Brown, on the first day, is said to have been fervid, as well as instructive, and the preaching since, day and night, with only necessary intervals for rest, was of that order characteristic of such religious gatherings. The attendance from the first was large, and it is estimated that on Sunday there were from fifteen hundred to two thousand people present, including a goodly number of white spectators. We understand the result of the work was the conversion of seventy or eighty persons.

Escape of a Criminal from Smithville Jali-His Mecapture, &c.

John Davis, colored, convicted at the last term of the Superior Court, at Smithville, and sentenced to death by hanging, on the 11th of next July, made his escape from the jail at that place early Sunday morning, but was speedily recaptured. It appears, says our correspondent, that Davis had managed to unfasten his shackles during the night, which fact escaped the notice of the jailor, as Davis usually sat on the edge of his bed near the fastening in the floor. As the jailor went to the further corner of the cell, to sweep it out, Davis jumped through the door, slammed it to and locked it, leaving the jailor in duress. The latter sung out lustily for his wife to close the lower doors, and as she made the attempt, Davis came bounding down the stairs like a wild buffalo, and nearly upset Mrs. Davis, the jailor's wife, as well as giving her a good scare. The escaped prisoner made for the woods, but in a few mements the jailor was released and gave chase in a manner that would have done credit to a professional. After a race of three-quarters of a mile the prisoner was overhauled, whereupon he seized a fence rail and showed fight, but he was soen forced to abandon this idea, and was quietly scorted back to his quarters.

Thus a truly plous and devoted wife and mother has passed from time into eternity. For nearly twenty-eight years she and her husband, who yet survives her, lived tegether in the enjoyment of true happiness and peace. As a mother she was tender and affectionate, and leaves four children to mourn her loss. As a friend she was constant; as a companion mild and cheerful; as a neighbor she was good. But, above all, she was a true Christian,—a faithful communicant of St. Mark's Church, in the faith of which she passed several years of her life, and died in the blessed hope of having a part in the 'first Resurrection.' None knew her but to leve her, and we are left to mourn her absence from us, but her memory, will long remain amongst as, and her example never lost upon her family. She bere her illness, although painful, with true Christian fortitude, and died as if passing off into a quiet sleep. 'Bafe, in the arms of Jesus.' Rest weary pilgrim, and we'll soon share your rest in Paradise.
