The Spofford-Kellogg case will be taken up by the Senate Committee at once: Spofford witnesses have been summoned. __ Judge Mackey, of South Carolina, testified before the Wallace Committee; he tells how troops were used in South Carolina. - A bill reported in the House for ascertaining the result of Presidential elections. - Republicans again blocked legislation in the House. -- A railway accident in Maryland, causing the death of two men. -- British Parliament adjourned until June 9th. - Derby stakes were won by Sir Bevys; twenty-three horses ran - Two failures among English cotton spinners. - The Republicans of Ohio have nominated Charles Foster for Governor. - Funeral of Wm. Lloyd Garrison took place yesterday; Lucy Stone, Wendell Phillips and others made addresses. - Bill to give Cabinet Ministers seats on the floor of Congress, &c., referred to committee of ten. - Senate further considered bill to repeal election laws - President Hayes denies that be has promised Conway aid and sympathy in his project for removing negroes from the Mississippi Valley. - The platform of the Ohio Republican Convention is bitter in its denunciation of the majority in Congress and warm in its commendation of the Hayes administration. -- Americans in London were greatly disappointed at the withdraw al of Lorillard's Uncas from the Derby races. -- Hon. A. H. Stephens' condition is improving. - Flat contradiction is given to the story that the President had decided not to approve findings in the Fitz John Porter case; the record has just been received, and the Executive has not yet examined it. - The Privileges and Elections Committee have taken preliminary steps for a full investigation of the Kellogg-Spofford Senatorial contested case. — The annuity of the Ameer is to be $60,000 instead of $120,000. - Baptist General Association of Virginia assembled yesterday. --- An official plan has

There is a rumor of a new impetus to the negro exodus. Well, they have been warned fully, and now it they wish to go, then let 'em.

According to Senator McDonald, of Indiana, Massachusetts soldiers voted in Indiana at the elections held in 1864. He saw them doing it.

This time it is "a member of Gen. eral Grant's party abroad" who speaks. It is to the effect "that Grant will not enter into a contest for the Presidential nomination." Of course not! Why should he? His many friends will attend to that

It is said that Hayes, in his forthcoming veto bill, will take the ground squarely that the Federal Government has the constitutional right to supervise (another name for control) elections for members of Congress and U. S. Senators. Is this a Republic or an Empire?

If it should be deemed best to nominate a man of immense wealth then Uncle Sammy Tilden will be the man. He is worth from six to ten million dollars. He has it by the "bar'ls." Uncle David Davis is pretty stiff too in the "spondulic" line. He counts twice ten hundred thousand, and ain't stingy either.

Gen. Chalmers, of Mississippi, chairman of the House Committee of Safety. He is reported as saying quite recently that "He thought neither appropriation bill would be passed this session, but that a joint resolution would be adopted continuing the appropriations until January 1st, on the basis of those of the present fiscal year." He thinks Congress will adjourn by the middle of June.

While Governor Colquitt, of Geor. gia, was in New York he whispered the following in the ears of the able foreigners who run the Herald:

"I have noted one thing. Every northern man that comes to Georgia goes back home with his eyes open. They are astounded at the status of things as they find it in our State. We have thousands of northern settlers in Georgia—several small colonies having been planted in the past few years and their testimony is universally one thing. Occasionally some fanatic or politician belies the people of his adoption, but these exceptions are the very fewest. If your people could but see ours as they are we should have no more strife."

But the Herald is for Grant all the

A Robber Band at Statesville. [Charlotte Observer.]

A gang, the composition of which was in all respects the same as that which has just come to such an ignoble end at Hillsboro, has just been broken up and in part overtaken tion: "This body held its seventy-fourth at Statesville. Those composing it were too young white men and a negro. One of the white men is one Bradford, son of the proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel, at Statesville; the other is H. M. Millen, a son of the late Rev. S. C. Millen, a highly honored minister of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, and once for a term of years President of Concord (now Simonton) Female Colege, at Statesville. Several thefts have been committed within the past two weeks at Statesville, and suspicion was aroused that these were the work of an organized band. Last Tuesday night a party went to the house of a man named Stikeleather, who lives about six miles from Statesville, and who was supposed to have had about $1,200 in the house, and endeavored to effect a forcible entrance; but the proprietor brought a of wit; his speech both sparkled and stung, shot gun to bear upon the would-be and the sparkles were as brilliant as the burglars and put them to flight. Officers went to work and found that the guilty parties were the persons named above. Bradford was accordngly arrested and is now in Statesville jail; Millen fled and has not yet been arrested; it has not been learned all the depositaries in Washington increases daily. Tuesday there must have been fifteen hundred men, women and boys in the two lines at the Treasury. Nearly all of them were ragged, dirty looking white and black people, either employed by speculators or buying to sell to spec- place. ulators. The line of males extended from the door to the street and thence down the pavement nearly to the the back door of the same, were found White House grounds. The line of open Sunday morning, when the family arose, and subsequently it was discovered females reached to H street and around the corner into 15th street. Many of the women had huge umbrellas and some had camp stools and their pentine dull at 274 cts; rosin quiet at $1 40 sewing. Slowly they moved along inch by inch towards the Treasury door. Only five from each line were admitted into the building at one time, and as soon as they made their purchases they were required to leave by another door. Speculators stood near with satchels to buy of this class of purchasers as they came out. The price paid averaged about a dollar and a half a hundred, so that any one who could scrape up a hundred dollars could make very decent profits by turning it over twice or oftener. When the doors finally closed there must have been nearly a thousand persons still in line outside.

The Regatta To-Day.

Whether the breezes to-day are favorable or not, the first regatta of the Carolina Yacht Club will occur this afternoon. Several of the Club craft were absent from the cruise yesterday, but only from unavoidas ble causes which will not exist to-day. The interest displayed in the review, large numbers being gathered on the river front, is evidence that much concern is felt in the result of the race to-day.

The participants in the contest this afternoon will be the Annie, Frolic, Restless, Bonnie Lassie, Gypsy, Lizzie, Rosa and Ripple, and, winds favoring, the sailing will afford a fair opportunity for the display of skilful management of the different yachts

Services at the Temple of Israel. Yesterday, on the occasion of the Pentecostian services at the Temple of Israel, the rite of confirmation was administered to one youth and four young misses. There was a very large attendance to witness the interesting ceremonies, including Lieutenant Governor Robinson and other visitors, and several of the ministers of our city churches. The confessions of faith in the Jewish religion, on the part of those confirmed, was deeply impressive, while the sermon and the lecture to the candidates by the Rev. Mr. Mendelsohn were pronounced most able and excellent.

the Incarnation. The spacious hall of the Academy of the incarnation was last evening filled with a very large audience, who witnessed the representation by the young lady pupils of the institution, of Racine's beautiful poetic drama entitled "Athalia."

The drama is a religious one, and was translated from the French by one of the pupils of the Academy. It was first enacted in all its fullness and splendor before the Court of France, in the reign of Louis XIV. The characters and plot are both scriptural and of the Old Law.

This fair and classic piece was exceedingly well readered, the young ladies in showing thorough training in elocution, and evincing perfect appreciation of the spirit and meaning of the different parts. The drama was very enjoyable, as well as pleasing and refined. One scene, showing the pupils habited as attaches of an ancient court, and dancing to the music of cymbals and castanets, was especially fine. Indeed, the rendition was in every respect eulogistic of the thoroughness of the intellectual training to which the pupils of the Alligatorish. One of our Princess street Magistrates met up with a "cafe" on Tuesday over which he found he had no "jurisdiction." It was a young alligator at the Mozar Saloen, and the "J. Alligators are a forbidden subject with him now, or at least one which he would like to get rid of on "payment of costs."
