A Mr. Stork has introduced introduced in Richmond the "summer tour" idea, which means a trip through the North to the White Mountains, a distance of 1,700 miles, at low rates, good for thirty days. If that idea should "stork" this way what an invasion of Sound pienics and trips to the sea would take place.

The examination of Dr. Hull as to the murder of his wife was favorable to him in the general impression created. The careful New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says:

Sun says: "He received a careful education, and grew up an amiable youth, with a rather feeble body and a mind not supposed to be very brilliant. He accompanied his father to Metz on the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war, and at Saarbruck, according to the Emperor's lurid dispatch, received his 'baptism of fire.' After the French defeats he was sent to Belgium, and, when his father and mother took up their abode at Chiselhurst, was sent to receive instruc-tions at the British military school at Wool-wich, where he graduated with credit not long since. When the English forces were exterminated at Isandula he volunteered to join the reinforcements, and on his arrival near the front received a volunteer's staff appointment in connection with Col. BAR AND RIVER IMPROVEMENT. Meeting of Prominent Business Mon to Acknowledge the Services of

Mr. Heary Nutt in Connection with Our Bar and River Improve-A meeting of members of the Produce

Exchange, Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade, with other prominent citizens, was held at the Produce Exchange yesterday, pursuant to notice given in the newspapers. The meeting was called to order by C.

H. Robinson, Esq., President of the Produce Exchange, who proceeded to read the call for the meeting, bearing the signatures of several of our prominent citizens and business men.

On Col. F. W. Kerchner's motion, A. H

VanBokkelen, Esq., was called to the chair, upon assuming which he said: The call for this meeting, just read by Mr. Robinson, fully expresses its object-Years since the improvement of the Cape Fear River and Bar was brought before this community by a number of our citizens, among whom was Mr. Nutt, and he has, from that time to this, done what was in his power, to the best of his judgment aiding greatly the progress of the work. To him is due the thanks of our people for the part he has acted. I cheerfully accept the position I am called to, and will take much pleasure in carrying out any action of the meeting. On motion of Mr. C. H. Robinson, Col.

John L. Cantwell was called upon to act as

On motion of Alex. Sprunt, Esq., the Chair was requested to appoint a committee of five to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, whereupon the Chairman named as said Committee Dr. A. J. DeRosset, and Messrs. Alex. Sprunt, Edward Kidder, C. H. Robinson and F. W. Kerchner.

The Committee retired and after a short consultation returned, and, through their Chairman, Dr. DeRosset, reported the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The recent announcement of the successful closing of the New Inlet, ich has been looked upon as by far the most difficult part of the great work of improving the Cape Fear River and Bar, furnishes abundant ground for the fullest confidence in the early accomplishment of the important object of restoring the original depth of water in the harbor of Wilmington—thus proving the wisdom of our Con-gress in making liberal appropriations, and the remarkable science and skill of the engineers and officers engaged in the work; and, whereas, much of the interest which has been felt both by this community and by the General Government in this work, is due to the persevering and laborious attention which has been given to it, through a number of years past, by our fellow-citizen, Mr. Henry Nutt, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on the Bar and River Improvements; therefore, Resolved. That the cordial thanks of this meeting representing the commercial interest of this city, are due and are hereby tendered to Mr. Nutt for the persevering interest in and laborious attention to the progress of this great work, often under great discouragement, and for his successful efforts in keeping it before our people and our Representatives in Congress.

Resolved, further, That this meeting earnestly hopes that Mr. Nutt will find it convenient to continue his efforts in behalf of this work until the final accomplishment of the object for which it is designed. Pending the passage of the resolutions, Col. W. L. DeRosset rose and said he desired to express his opinion of the services of Mr. Nutt with reference to the Bar and River Improvement, which he proceeded to do in very warm terms, stating that as far back as December, 1868, he commenced his labors for this work, being instrumental in getting up a petition to Congress by which was secured the first appropriation from the General Government for this important enterprise, and which was made available in July of the following year. Col. DeR. concluded by saying that he seconded the resolutions most heartily, and would vote for them with a great deal of pleasure. The preamble and resolutions were then put to the meeting and unanimously adopted. Dr. DeRosset moved that a copy of the esolutions be forwarded to Mr. Nutt by the President, and to the newspapers of the city for publication.

On motion the meeting then adjourned.

General Bradley T. Johnson is about to remove from Richmond to Baltimore. The First Regiment, of which he is Colonel, tendered him a farewell banquet, which was a magnificent affair, according to the State's report. Sundry speeches were made. Among the speakers were Rev. Dr. Hoge and Capt. Chamberlayne, of the State. We take an interest in Gen. Johnson because he married a Raleigh girl, a daughter of the late Judge Saunders, and because he was a really gallant Marylander in the late war. The Republicans pretend to think in Washington that Conkling "got the best of it." Latitude makes a big difference. It is not thought in the South that when a man is called a liar that he gets even by saying "you are another." We have no > idea that Lord Roscoe feels that he has "got the best of it." The State's correspondent, of the 20th, writes: "It is true that Southern men had almost lost patience with the repeated insults heaped upon them as a body, and at any time Conkling was liable to just such a retort as he received, had he not carefully avoided personal application of his offensive remarks. Lamar's action was wholly unpremeditated, and was as much a surprise to Democrats as to Republicans, though some Democrats would have replied, no doubt, in severe language if Lamar had not; for Conkling had insulted all of them by charging base and treacher-ous conduct.
