WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1879.

The Baltimore Gazette is improving -in morals. In its issue of Monday it says:

"No work of any kind was done in the office of the Gazette between the hours of 12 o'clock on Saturday night and 12 o'clock on Sunday night. Without stopping to compare the Gazette of toaday with the avecompare the Gazette of to day with the average Gazette of Monday, we think we can safely say that we have demonstrated that it is possible to print a good newspaper on Monday morning without working on Sunday, and without subjecting ourselves to any excessive inconvenience."

This is a departure in the right direction. Newspapers can avoid violating the Sabbath if they choose to Baltimore has a supposed population of 328,189. The recent census showed a voting population of 71,500. Upon the basis of the census of 1870, the citizens of the State of Maryland of 21 years and upwards were in the proportion of 1 to 4.59 of the total population of the State. This rule applied to Baltimore makes the above estimate. If Wilmington has 18,000 people, how many voters ought it to have according to the above rule? Work it for yourself, but do not send as the answer.

Rev. Mr. Munson, who married nimslef at Worcester, Mass., turns out to be a sort of Beecher. He has a wife and four children in Kansas. According to the Massachusetts law his last marriage was not legal, but a mere sham. The Baltimore American makes this comment on the mat-

'The ease with which wandering advenlurers, in the guise of clergymen, get access to churches and houses, and the pockets of men and the affections of women, is something startling."

Richard Grant White, the scholarly American author, has given a new definition of "what is grammar?"

"Grammar concerns the forms of words and their dependent relations in the sentence." This is certainly an improvement, and perhaps is as near a correct definition as we ar likely to get, says the Philadelphia

- Greensboro State: Hon. David A. Jenkins, of Gaston county, ex-State Treasurer, is mentioned for Governor on the Republican ticket. Everybody seems to take to the idea. No man is a greater favorite with the people of this State.

- Greenville Express: Crops were considerably damaged by the storm on Monday, the 18th inst. Cotton and corn are blown down, and the fodder crop in some sections will be almost a total failure. Fences were torn down and trees uprooted.

Raleigh Visitor: About 3 o'clock' on Sunday afternoon Henry Hunter, Jr., son of Henry Hunter, an aged and est teemed colored citizen of Raleigh, fell dead on the premises of his father, in the eastern noon officers Rogers and Beaaley captured Jack Williams, white, at the house of his mother-in-law, in St. Mary's Township. He stole a horse from Mr. B. A. Spence, of the same township, about two years ago, and was caught and lodged in jail, where he remained only a short time, making his escape in March, 1878.

Warren News: The Wilming ton Star does not understand us. We were not endeavoring to detract from Capt. Biggs nor the Bres Lance. The Bres Lance is one of the best country papers we ever saw. We were rubbing the people of Granville for putting all the work of the canvass upon the Lance, whether done through indolence or stapidity. — The corn crop to be seen on the road from Warrenton along the road to Manson, and from thence to Beardsley's Mills, is very unpromising. There is scarcely a passably unpromising. There is scarcely a passably good field on the route. The cotton crop is better.

- Henderson Review: We conversed freely this week with planters from Warren, Franklin and Granville. Our conclusion is that Granville will make a full average crop of tobacco and corn. The more from drought, being earlier, and will not yield so much, but cotton and tobacco will reach an average. — We learn from the Rev. Mr. Holden that he closed a from the Rev. Mr. Holden that he closed a series of meetings at Marrow's Chapel last week, resulting in fifty-two conversions, thirty-seven of whom were added to the church. — The shooting of young Weltzer, a few days ago, by young Mr. Blaitcher, was accidental. A painful fiesh wound in the face is the result.

- Asheville Journal: We publish n this issue the decisions of the Supreme Court in cases that most interest our readers, among others a decision by Chief Jus tice Smith in the case of Edgerton vs.G.W.
Logan. The Chief Justice says: "The Court, while feeling itself bound so to decide by the letter of the law, expresses its strong disapprobation of the great wrong and fraud perpetrated by the defendant (ex-Judge George W. Logan) upon an-ignorant and unlettered client." — During our Court week an attorney was pleading to the Court in behalf of the father of a bastard child. The counsel says: "We admit that the counsel is the father of the child." Judge Graves sternly asked who the counsel was. The attorney arguing the matter says: "I am the counsel." The Court—"Proceed." But the counsel stood amazed and commenced to recount his steps, and declared that his client was the father of the child.

- Elizabeth City Carolinian: The To what extent they may recover is not known. To see large fields of corn lying almost flat on the ground, with the blades cut in strings, is far from being an encouraging spectacle. — From reports received we learn that the cyclone extended to adjoining counties, damaging crops, fences, buildings, etc. — The storm or Monday was very severe, especially at Shiloh. The new houses of J. D. Berry and S. A. Jones were blown over, the two wind mills of John Toxey were demolished, and the new warehouse and wharf of the Morrisetts almost ruined. The corn and cotton is flat. — The Methodist Bush Meeting at Cedar Grove, in Perquimans, was successful, there being a number of conversions and several joined the church. The storm last Monday destroyed crops, blew down fences, trees and chimneys, un-roofed houses and carried the Float Bridge away. The wire of the telegraph is down.

Business Chat. Can we not have an excursion of merchants, farmers and business men generally to Wilmington at an early day? What say our enterprising railroaders ? Let us have it, and let the excursion privileges extend to all three of our railways on the same day. Wilmington must wake up if she would not be distanced in the race for commercial supremacy. Will it not be wise in the merchants of Wilmington to take hold of this matter at once? There are be likely to take place on Monday, the 8th some fine stocks of goods here that ought to be sold.

Ald for the Benufort Sufferers. With a commendable spirit Mr. W. P.
