The he has been given in such neat and yet pointed ways by speakers and writers, that some of them are preserved in books. The way in which Mr. Tilden accuses Mr. Cyrus W. Field of lying is neat enough to live-that his memory "has reached that last stage of infirmity in which it remembers what never happened."

The Baltimore Sun's Washington letter says that the old outrage mill is again at work. When lies about the South do not come fast enough, then the Department mills go to work and fresh grist is supplied. Just now the negro exodus is made to do service, and John Sherman has his hand on the wheel and awful yarns are turned out according to the needs of the hour. A special envoy of Sherman's is now feeding the mill.

Hence he will fister to nothing that savors even remotely of a conditionise with Kelly, whose influence as a factor in the approaching election, anyhow, he considers as immensely overrated."

When Gen. Clingman became enthralled by the conversation of a ington lady to be his wife, he only illustrated his absent mindedness. The Savannah News takes a religious view of the matter and thinks it may have been a Providential interprettion in favor of either the lady or the for getful General. North Carolina paid internal revenue for the flical year ending June 30, 1879, $2,422,733.48. This is what one Southern State paid and it is nearly equal to what eight Northern States paid. Maine, New Hampshire Vermont, Khode Island, Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, and Minnesota, paid but $2,427,452.42. The customs receipts paid by North Carolina during the same period of time amounted to $47,214.43.

The Wilmington MORNING STAR has entered upon the thirteenth year of its existence, and we take this opportunity to congratulate it upon its prosperity and deserved popularity. The remarkable success of the STAR is due to its strict attention to business. The boast of the STAR (rightfully too) is that it always has the news, and this is the first thing in journalism. Otherwise the paper is all that the term of "good newspaper" implies, and its corps of editors and reporters are thoroughly educated newspaper men. May the healthful, moral influence of the Star never be retarded, and may its gental, enterprising proprietor enjoy many more happy years of usefulness.

The fire department was promptly on hand, but could do but little service beyond preventing the spread of the flames.
