By WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.: SATURDAY MORNING, October 4, 187 THE BASE ATTACK ON JEFFER.

It is to be regretted that ex-President Davis, in his old age, has fallen heir to property that promises to give him so much trouble, and to bring upon him so much truculent abuse and wholesale mendacity. The STAR has called attention to the attempt to stab his unsullied character by disappointed Yankees. In a recent issue of the New York Herald there is an interview given with one Ellis, who writes himself "Colonel." He is brother of Mrs. Dorsey who devised her property to Mr. Davis. Here is the way this "Colonel" Ellis talks of an honored and aged gentleman whose shoes he is unworthy to dust

"The whole case is a trumped-up game between Jeff, Farrar and others to get the property. The contest will place Jeff Davis before the world as a scheming villain, and one of a few who conspired to play on the mind of a weak woman near her death. Jeff Davis is a sharp schemer, but his sharpness in this will not do him any good. He says the property is only worth $30,000. Then I say so much the meaner for him to take so small an amount from those it belongs to when he has enough and more without touching it. Others say the estates are worth $250,000, but he can't get $30,000 for them if he wants to, as I don't mean he shall have one cent

It must be confessed that this vile enough, but when the "Colonel' warms up to his work he is even capable of saying harder things. Hear him again:

"And now, in conclusion, let me tell you that my sister died from an unnecessary surgical operation. I mean that she was persuaded to undergo a surgical operation that was altogether unnecessary, and that will be proven on the trial."

We have no doubt that tens of thousands in the North will be glad to believe and speak evil of Mr. Davis. These foul accusations of Ellis and fellows of his tribe, will be caught up with avidity and turned under the tongues as very sweet and delightsome morsels. It is for this reason we regret that the legacy was bestowed upon Mr. Davis. To accuse him of plotting the death of a venerable and worthy lady that he may obtain possession of property he knows is intended for him, is most infamous. This ac cusation comes from a disgruntled fellow, who is mad as a hornet because his sister had so little appreciation of his character that she had resolved he should never enjoy a penny of her estate. After hearing the "Colonel's" base accusation against a distinguished and honorable gentleman, the intelligent reader will begin to understand why Mrs. Dorsey did not will her property to her kin. She evidently knew them; had a clear understanding of their real value. In her estimation they were unworthy of her personal favors. We agree heartily with the Baltimore Gazette in the opinion that "the charges, so far from carrying credence with them, produce a powerful revulsion, and win for Mr. Davis a sympathy that he might not very sad to see an eminent man, into court to answer a charge so infa- So let it be.

For Mr. Davis's sake we could wish that in his declining years he could have been spared such an affliction. None but malignant ene mies will credit for a moment the vile statements. When the trial comes off it will be seen, we have no doubt whatever, how honorable and self respecting Mr. Davis has been in the whole matter. He has had his day. He bears an honored name. He has wielded a large influence in the past and when his enemies violate all de cency in their gross and vindictive assaults, he will find friends even in the North.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE PROPOSED.

We publish a letter from Mr. J A. Blanchard, of Connecticut, con cerning a new enterprise for the South. It will be seen that our short editorial on "Small Cotton Factories" has been noticed by more than one industrious and intelligent man in the North. Mr. Blanchard directs attention to the manufacture of "Sail Duck," a business with which he represents himself as entirely famil iar. He says there is no manufactory of this cloth south of Baltimore, and he thinks Wilmington a good point for such an enterprise. There is no reason why a manufactory of the kind should not pay here. It pays in New England, remote from where the raw material is grown, and why can it not pay here in the midst of the cotton fields and gins? We hope our capitalists will consider maturely the letter of Mr. Blanchard and open a correspondence with him. The STAR has again and again urged upon its readers the importance of diversifying the industries. It has time and again given statistics and facts concerning the cotton mills, and has done what it could to induce the people of North Carolina to establish factories through the State.

Here is a chance for a new industry A factory of the kind suggested by Mr. Blanchard, and another factory for manufacturing knitting cotton, as suggested by Mr. Calley, would add to the life, interest and importance of our growing little city. We repeat, we hope our business men will consider attentively these propositions.

A gentleman, a personal friend o Mr. Tilden's, has just arrived in Washington from a visit to the politician of Gramercy Park. He says Mr. Tilden is working harder for Robinson than he ever did for himself. He (Tilden) has made up his mind "to destroy John Kelly and his gang politically." He represents Mr. T. as by no means anxious to obtain the Democratic nomination in 1880. We are glad to hear this, and we wish it to be true, although we confess to decided scepticism in the matter. His

"The fact was that Mr. Tilden did not value a Democratic nomination for President so highly now as formerly. The Southern Democracy had handicapped the Northern branch of the party to an alarming extent by their course during the past two years. The attitude of the Southern Democrats upon the financial question, their many blunders in Congress, the repudiation of their State debts, their intolerance and outrageous treatment of those who differed with them in politics, their denial of the rights of the colored citizens, who, in seve ral parts of the South, had been reduced to condition a hundred-fold worse than slavery, and, lastly, the many unpunished and condoned political assassinations—all these things Mr. Tilden thought were not calculated to make the Democratic nomination for President very desirable to a can-lidate who did not want to run simply for the honor of being defeated." If all this is true, then it is about time to stop talking of Mr. Tilden as probable candidate. Somehow w cannot believe all this, and much like it, that is repeated from day to day. If true, then Uncle Sammy is not as wise and prudent as we had supposed. He appears to be guilty of "futile dalliance" in his efforts to be the next President.

The news from Ohio continues encouraging for the Democrats. The campaign is said to be well managed. The speakers have produced a fine effect. Gen. Ewing's canvass has been very energetic and even brilliant. The St. Louis Republican says:

"The Republican journals have endea-vored to make some cheap capital by ro-bust lying as to the spirit and organization of the Democratic party in the State. They have represented the party as listless and indifferent, and that a Republican victory was easy and secure. Advices from various parts of Ohio show that this is all fiction, and that organization is more thorough than during the last campaign, and that there is an enthusiastic determination to poll a larger Democratic vote than that received at the last election. Personally, General Ewing is an exceedingly popular man, and he is making additional friends daily; and his superb canvass is consolidating all the energies of the party for his

The Republicans, of course, are making extraordinary efforts, but they are by no means having it all their own way, if we may believe the otherwise have enjoyed. Still it is various accounts from Democratic been so blameless, suddenly dragged | encouraging for a Democratic victory.

The Louisville Courier Journal deies squarely and emphatically that Gov. Blackburn attempted to introduce yellow fever into the Northern States at any time during the war. It can easily supply "very many testimo pials from well-informed and credible persons to the effect that he was otherwise employed for all that period, and neither attempted nor seriously contemplated such a thing." It could also reprint the proceedings had at his trial at Toronto during the war, and "show not only that there was an entire failure of proof to implicate him in the alleged plot, but that the principal witness against him admit ted on the stand that he (the witness) would willingly make any statement for money."

We are glad to see in the leading paper of Louisville such a precise and emphatic denial. It is not the organ of the Governor, and we judge from certain expressions that it neither specially admires him nor is admired in turn. This indignant denial is therefore, the more forceful and ac ceptable. It says, at the close of its

"Gov. Blackburn is as little to us as we are to him. But when it is sought to make him out a fiend, we resent the falsehood as a falsehood, and when it is sought to have it appear that he was elected Governor of Kentucky because he was a fiend, we stamp the lie as it deserves.

The Board of Police Commissioners in New York sat all day and night Tuesday. It did nothing but appoint two Republican and one Robinson Inspector for each District. This gives the Republicans two Inspectors and the Democrats one in each District. This comes of dissension in the Democratic ranks. What we feared has been realized. What chance will the Democrats have in New York with such a Board of Inspectors of Elections? Later news in the Washington Post of October 2d, says:

"October 7th is the first day of the registration, and it is possible the dead-lock will not be broken until then. At a later hour the Board confirmed five Tammany Inspectors of Elections in all, and took a recess until 10 A. M., and by agreement the recess was continued until this afternoon. It is said the five Tammany Inspectors confirmed are in favor of Robinson for Governor. An order has been issued by the Supreme Court this afternoon that the Police Commissioners show cause to-morrow why they should not appoint forthwith the Election Inspectors. The order was obtained by the firm of Tammany, of which Dorsheimer is a

It will be remembered that the law requires four Inspectors for each District-two Republicans and two Democrats. One Democrat remains to be appointed in each district.

In George Eliot's last volume. "Theophrastus Such," the closing essay is headed "The Modern Hep. Hep, Hep." It must be confessed that this is perplexing to most readers, as it was to us. The New York Evening Post says the following is found in McMullen's "Handbook of Wines," page 230: "We little think, when the wine sparkles in the cup, and soul stirring toasts are ap-plauded by 'Hip, hip, hurrah!' that we are using a war cry adopted by the stormers of a German town wherein a great many Jews had taken refuge. The place being sacked, they were all cruelly put to the sword under the shouts of 'Hierosolyma Est Per-

"From the first letters of these words came the exclamation H-E P, hep!"

The Yorktown celebration in 1881 will, no doubt, be a great success. Six companies of U. S. troops will participate in the festivities. The Governors of the "Old Thirteen" are to meet in Philadelphia on October 19th for the purpose of making arrangements, and with a view of presenting the matter to the State Legislatures and of memorializing Congress to make it "a national affair." The Legislature of North Carolina will not meet until January 1, 1881, but that will be in full time to consider the matter.

A mill making this kind of goods pays well if rightly managed. Now I have thought if a mill of this kind could be put into operation somewhere in the cotton growing section of the country, it could be made to pay much better even than this way, and I know of no better locality than might be found somewhere in the vicinity of Wilmington, where a home market could be found for the goods, as there are only a very few mills of this kind in the country, and none I believe south Baltimore. It would not take a very large capital to erect and run a mill of this kind, for it could be started at first on a small scale if desired, and if successful increase its capacity according to its requirements. Now, sir, if you would take the trouble to lay my suggestion before some of your most enterprising business men, or any one who would favor a project of this kind, I would be pleased to communicate with any one and give further particulars if desired; or, if there might be any who would like to engage in an enterprise of this kind I would like to come among you and manage the business at the mill, or in other words act as manufacturing agent or superintendent. -Butler has a machine behind him this year-but it is a winnowingmachine, not a reaper and binderand as fast as it brings in one voter it winnews out another, and perhaps two. This operation will be particularly active if the Democrats nominate for Governor, as they now propose, Mr. Thompson, of Gloucesterthe only man that ever beat Butler when running with the party machine of the Republicans. - Sgringfield Republican, Ind.

- It would seem from certain outgivings attributed to Mr. Tilden that he is seeking to win favor at the North by mouthing the language of the stalwarts concerning "Southern outrages." In other words, he would hold the South and the Democracy responsible for such crimes as the Chisholm and the Dixon murders. This is as unfair and dishonest as to hold the whole North and the Republican party responsible for Parson Hayden's murder of Mary Stanard or for Mr. Conkling's amours. The stalwart press, for purely political effect, is reiterating the charges that the Chisholm murder was political and a specimen brick of the whole Southern structure. This was to be expected. It is done in the way of business and wholly regardless of truth. but for a Democrat at the North to strengthen their hands by assuming for a moment to believe that the stalwart charges are true, is a studied insult to the whole Southern Democracy. If the Democratic party at the North can be strengthened giving countenance to Radical lies about the South it is hardly worth strengthening. Mr. Tilden may believe that if he gets the Democratic nomination the Southern Democracy will support him however much he may snub them, or he may think that a few honeyed words will atone for an insulting suspicion, but he may find himself mistaken. It is to be hoped that he has not made the remarks about Southern outrages which are credited to him. - Baltimore Gazette, Dem.

A convention of the people is the supreme head of the party, and its decisions are final. Private ambition must give way are final. Private ambition must give way to party success, and all should work for the ticket which the convention has given to the party. If there are complaints about combinations and manipulations and undue influences, they are not without foundation, but the remedy is not by grumbling, but by inducing the people to take the matter into their own hands, and manage it to suit themselves.
