Supposed Confirmation of the Killing of Tom Johnson, the Outlaw-Hie Wife's Report Apparently Correborated. We mentioned a week or two ago a report brought here by the wife of Tom Johnson, to the effect that the outlaw was killed at a place called Strawberry, about twenty miles this side of Charleston, some time in July last, by a boy, who shot him in a store while he was in the act of committing a robbery. Not knowing how much reliance to place upon the word of Johnson's wife, officer Carr, to whom she had told the story referred to, wrote a few days since to the postmaster at Strawberry to know if there was any truth in the report. Yesterday he received a reply, which was to the effect that there was an unknown colored man shot at a store about one mile from Strawberry, at the time mentioned, which, according to Johnson's wife, was on the 18th of July, or the Friday subsequent to the Heaton tragedy in this city, and that he was shot by a lad named J. M. Ward, about thirteen years of age, in

Mary Ann Johnson, in her statement to Justice Gardner and Officer Carr, says that she was living in Charleston at the time; that a party came to her house and told her that her husband had been shot at the place indicated, and that while in the agonies of death he kept calling for her, stating that he had something valuable to give her; and that her informant stated that Johnson was in the store and in the act of committing the robbery, when the youth in question seized a gun, which Johnson attempted to wrest from him, when he shot him.

Taking everything into consideration the letter from Strawberry is considered as confirming the report of Johnson's wife, and it is now believed that the noted outlaw is really dead. The woman did not see the corpse, but says she has never seen or heard anything of her husband since the reported shooting, and she firmly believes that he was the party who was shot and
