The New York election is on Tues day. The Republicans in New York and Washington are reported as being extremely confident of success. That is the way their papers talk.

and firm at $1 70@1 75.

John Kelly has spoken. He says under no circumstances will be with draw. He will fight it out on the line he has chosen, "be the consequences to himself what they might."

Ex Gov. Hendricks made a speech at Indianapolis a few nights since, in which he took the strongest possible ground in favor of the good old Democratic doctrines as held and expounded by the fathers.

In the Tilden income tax suit Mr. James B. Colgate refused to produce certain books and papers. He said he did not recollect any stock which he had purchased for Mr. Tilden. His memory might be refreshed by looking over his books, but this he declined to do.

The New York World says a betting man of that city, who is a shrewd calculator, has bet that Kelly does not get 20,900 votes in the city nor 30,000 in the State. He believes he will win. The Tammanyites claim 150,000 in State and city. Cornel and his managers say they will beat Robinson from 20,000 to 60,000. It is thought that at least 20,000 Independent Republicans will vote for Robinson. It does look a little mixed, it must be confessed.

A special from New York to the Philadelphia Times, of 30th ult., says political matters are becoming hourly more mixed. It says:

"All sides agree that never before were there so many complications, and probably no nest election has seen so much buying and selling as will be done next Tuesday. There is a fever of excitement among politicians to-night. Tammany is unquestionably losing ground. Desertions from the organizations are not so many as had been expected after the local nominations. But there is rebellion in the ranks that is dan-gerous to the big chief. You hear it every-where, in liquor saloons and hotel corridors and wherever voters congregate. The Tam-many candidates avow that they will cut and unds with their own election in view. It must be said that the Robinson men have ot been so encouraged since the beginning of the campaign as to day. The Republicans, on the contrary, are seemingly absolutely certain of success."

The last sensation comes from Philadelphia. It is that Gen. Grant will be made President of the Pennsylania Railroad: Company, and that Pom Scott will retire on account of ad health. The salary is now $35, 000, but will be increased to $50,000. Commenting on this the Washingon correspondent of the Baltimore American (Republican) says:

The only thing in connection with this rumor, for which there is any known basis here, is a definite understanding on the part of those who ought to know the most of General Grant's personal desires, that he would very much rither become President of some auch organization than to again enter political life. Information direct from Philodelphin in however, to the effect that Colonel Scott has no intention of resigning, being in excellent health, and in railroad

Accidentally we discovered, a day or two since, from questions propounded by a little girl connected with one of our schools, that the teacher had required her scholars to write a composition upon Wilmington, in which, among other information, they were told to give its size, number of inhabitants, leading industries and noted objects. The idea of requiring the pupils to be familiar with their own place made such a favorable impression upon our mind, as one which might with profit be adopted by all our schools, that we hope we may be excused from making public allusion to it. as we doubt if many adults in our city ever cok the trouble to ascertain by the size of our city so as to answer the question should it be propounded to them by a stranger. Under the latter head, we suppose, the children proudly pointed to our "city of the dead," Oakdale, which is represented by travellers and visitors as one of the prettiest cemeteries to be found south

A Large Wild-Cat. A huge wild-cat, nearly four feet in length, was killed on Friday morning last, on the opposite side of the river from Hil ton, by a colored man by the name of Fisher. After the man had shot and mor tally wounded the animal, the latter closed in with Fisher's dog, seized his head between his two fore paws and was clawing him with the others in a furious manner when the hunter thrust the end of his ramrod into one of the beast's eyes and caused him to desist from his violent assault upon the dog, upon which he was quickly dis patched. The cas had been committing depredations for some time past among the pigs ranging in that locality, which caused the people to be on the lookout for him the animal at the City Hall yesterday more

Me-Union of Laus's Brigade. In alluding a few days since to the proposed re-union of Lane's Brigade, the STAR suggested Wilmington as a proper place for the meeting. A writer in the Charlotte Observer, in a letter dated at Laurinburg, says: "If, however, a change is to be made from Charlotte, the suggestion of the Wil mington STAR that it meet in Wilmington he delighted to have it there." The corres pondent then adds: "That the place may be agreed upon speedily, Maj. J. McLeod Turner and Private Sam. A. Ashe, of Ra-leigh; Lateyette Alexander and Miles Pegram, of Charlotte, and David R. Murchison and O. A. Wiggins, of Wilmington, are suggested to act as a "Committee of Arrangements," (with whom those interested can correspond,) and their decision as to time and place to be final."

Death of a Pontiontlary Complet. Deputy Sheriff Daniel Howard received a telegram yesterday announcing the death of one Handy allas Low McAllister, a convict to the State Penitentiary from this county. He was sentenced at the April term of the Criminal Court in 1877 to five years' imprisonment at hard labor for the larceny of an axe. He was about 18 years of age at that time. He has a father living in this city, who is very much distressed at hearing of his son's death, which oc curred on the Western N. C. Raifroad, where he had been detailed to work.
