The provision market of New York became excited at the stock market fever, and prices went up.

It is said that Eliza Pinkston after two years of wedded life got tired of number two, and "counted him out."

This time, report says, it is John Kelly who is to be removed by the Governor, and all because he failed to remove Deputy Comptroller Storrs for cause. Next.

Jay Gould and other capitalists are said to have bought twenty millions of stock in the New York Central. The question in financial circles is-"Is Vanderbilt selling?"

We regret to learn from the Richmond State that the fine residence of Col. N. B. Meade, formerly editor of the Whig, was burned in Culpepper county. It was partially insured.

The "Emigrant Aid Society" makes an earnest appeal to the people of the North for funds to aid in taking away cotton laborers from the South to help the Republicans carry Indiana in the next Presidential election. That is the English of it. To that complexion the so-called exodus has come.

Mr. James C. Adkisson, a North Carolina printer, long resident at Norfolk, Va., died on Thursday. He was very highly respected. The Richmond State says of him:

"Living in Richmond when the war broke out, he at once volunteered in the Creashaw Battery, and remained by his colors throughout the entire four years, performing every duty bravely and uncomplainingly, and always declining promotion, he left the army as he entered it, a private soldier. The war over, he made his home at Norfolk, where he became one of the early proprietors of the Virginian, of which Mr. Glennan is now the full editor and made hosts of friends in all the denomina-When we wrote our comments upon the address of Mr. Matthews, on our third page, we had not seen any comments from Washington sources. The following from the Baltimore

Sun's letter is interesting: "A notable incident in connection with the Thomas procession yesterday was the fact that not a single volunteer military organization from any point north of Mason and Dixon's line participated. All the military display outside of the regular army was furnished by organizations from the South. Another point upon which comment is made is the remarkable partisan tone of portions of Mr. Stanley Mat-thews's oration. In political circles it is said that Mr. Matthews was speaking more to the Ohio Legislature than those who were present."

We do not often see anything from the New York Tribune, concerning polities, that is worth trusting or copying. It publishes, however, an interview with some one that contains the precise facts concerning the Grant movement in the South. It simply declares that there is nothing n it—that the South is hopeful of with all interested in the cause of education. store.

Further Particulars of the Destructive Fire of Friday Night-Losses, insurance, &c. At the close of our report at about o'clock yesterday morning we stated that the fire at Messrs. Colville & Co's mill was then thought to be under control, being confined to the piles of lumber near the the size of the Grant "boom," as far burned buildings. The fire in the lumber, which was hard to get at, continued to blaze forth during the day, notwithstanding the engines kept steady streams upon it They kept it so under control, however, that there was but little apprehension of any further trouble from it. We give below the estimated losses and amounts of insurance as we have derived them from different sources. Of course slight inaccuracles may be expected:

Messrs. Colville & Co. lose their mill, about fifty thousand feet of lumber, about six hundred cords of wood, and a fist used for lightering lumber, altogether valued at about $20,000. They were insured for $2,000 on the mill and $4,000 on the lumber, as follows: $1,000 on mill, in the Western, of Canada, and $1,000 on lumber, in the Royal, represented by Mr. Norwood Giles; $1,000 on mill, in the Pamlico, of Tarboro, and $1,000 on lumber, in the Union, Marine and Fire, of Galveston, represented by J. W. Gordon & Bro.; and $2,000 on lumber, in the Fire Association of Philadelphia, represented by Messrs Atkinson & Manning. The flat, which was valued at about $600, was not insured.

The loss upon the wharf property, upon which the Mill and Sash and Blind Factory | located, belonging to Col. John McRae, is estimated at from $5,000 to $8,000, upon which there was no insurance The Sash and Blind Factory, the prop erty of Messrs. Altaffer & Price. was valued at from $5,000 to $6,000, upon which there was only insurance to the amount of $1,000, in the Home, of New York, represented by Mr. Norwood Giles. These gentlemen had recently introduced into their establishment three new and improved machines, one of them very fine. One of these machines had never been used, being under process of erection when the disaster occurred. Nearly all of their stock, &c., was at their warehouse or the east side of Nutt street, nearly opposite the mill, and, together with their books &c., was saved. They will commence operations again as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Messre. Alex. Sprunt & Son lose the large shed on their wharf, containing 307 casks of spirits turpentine, 400 barrels of rosins, a quantity of empty barrels and other merchandise, together with the wharf property. The loss on wharf and shed is estimated at $3,000, upon which there was insurance in the Hartford, represented by Mesers. Atkinson & Manning, of $2,000. The loss on spirits turpentine, rosin and other produce is put down at $8,500, which was covered by insurance in agencies represented by Messrs. Norwood Giles, De-Rosset & Northrop, and J. W. Gordon & Bro.

Mesers. Patterson & Hicks lost $500 in naval stores, which was covered by insurance in the Liverpool and London and Globe, represented by J. W. Gordon &

A derrick scow, for the Government, which had just been finished by Messrs. Colville & Co., and turned over to the proper authorities, was completely destroyed, so as not to be worth repairing. The damage to the hoisting engine and boiler is slight. The whole loss will amount to about $1,100, the main consideration being the hindrance to the works below which its destruction will cause, as the vessel and machinery would have been ready for active operations in placing the granite on the New Inlet dam on to-morrow, the 24th inst. It will require at least four weeks to prepare new scow and machinery for the work. In the meantime the delivery of the granite will not be suspended. Temporary arrangements will be made for unloading it at the dam, so that it can afterwards be put in place with the hoisting machinery.

The large brick office of Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son made a very narrow escape. The cupola was scorched, and the facing to window in a small room next to the fire. in which a lot of paper was stowed, ignited. It was the stern of the British barque Sussex which was scorehed by the flames before she could be towed from the vicinity of the fire-not that of the Norwegian barque Zephyr. The officers and seamen of the vessels lying at the Champion Compress wharf rendered much assistance to the firemen in handling their hose, &c.

As to our noble firemen, all we can say is, that they did their whole duty, from first to last, faithfully and zealously.

The result of the fire was a heavy blow to Mesers. Colville & Co. and Altaffer & Price, who had so little insurance on their property, and much sympathy was expressed for them on all sides.

Allen Mathis, colored, charged with the murder of one Reuben Herring, colored, in Pender, and removed to this county for trial, will be heard on the first Wednesday of the approaching term of the Superior Court, which convenes in this city on the first Monday in December.

- A colored individual who at tempted to stop a runaway horse on Front street yesterday, which was frightened by the passage of the Bucket Company with their truck, at full speed, was hurled half-past 7 o'clock. The patrons of the through one of the large panes of glass in school will be invited to attend, together the window of Mr. J. M. Robinson's hat

Ald for the Orphan Asylum. In addition to the proposition which has been made through the press, that wherever religious exercises are held in this State on Thursday next, Thanksgiving Day, a collection be taken up for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, it has also been suggested that voluntary contributions from those unable to attend the Thanksgiving services might be handed, as most convenient, to the Master of the nearest Masonic Lodge, or to the pastor of one of Condition of the Works. We learn from Mr. Bacon, Assistant Engineer in charge, who was in the city yesterday, that the dam at New Inlet is in good condition. The base is everywhere wide, and at low water mark it is generally more than thirty feet in width, with very wide slopes, especially on the sea side.

There have been times when there was some reason for discouragement as to the success and permanancy of the dam, but not within the past year-and now there is no cause for a shadow of a doubt.

A complete survey of the Bald Head Channel is being made, and the result will be reported within a few days. So far it shows that there is a good and wide channel across the outer crest of the bar of thirteen feet depth at mean low water, and the same depth is found as far inward as the survey has progressed.

The Linkhaw Murder Case. We learn from Col. D. K. McRae, who was present, but had nothing to do with the case, that the jury, in the matter of the State vs. Miss Linkhaw, were simply discharged after the mistrial, but the officer who had them under his care at the time they became separated was fined $100 by the presiding Judge and ordered to be imprisoned for thirty days. It is probable, however, that the fine will be remitted and the party discharged.

See fourth page for other local news "Does your mother know you're out, said a boy to his brother who did not go to school because he had caught a bad cold. "Yes, she does," was the answer, "for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has knocked my cold into a cocked hat." He bought a 25 cent
