WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1879.

WHOLE NO. 3,834

As a currosity we copy the following from a letter written from Wilmington to the New York Herald:

"Since this non partisan ball has been started a unanimous thrill has run through Southern politics in favor of Grant and Stephens. It is the sincere belief of your correspondent that this State, and indeed every other Southern State, will send a unanimous support for this ticket."

The only "thrill" we have been able to detect here is a boom for Seymour. We do not believe there are fifty Democrats in the State who could be induced to support Grant for the nomination unless the promise of a very soft place was made, and "by authority." We have not seen a word in one of our Democratic State exchanges that squints remotely at any support of Grant. To the contrary, they appear to be very "solid" against him. They have not forgotten his shameful record. The Baltimore Gazette is correct when it says of the proposed movement:

"But it would be a blind folly or downright idlocy on the part of the South to lend itself to such a wretched game."

We do not apprehend the slightest danger in North Carolina from any such foolish movement. A few hungry office seekers may plunge in, but the Democratic rank and file will resist Grantism to the bitter end, however sweetly he may sing.

It is now said that the "true inwardness" of Gen. Toombs's letter in that he is for Grant. He says he would rather see Grant made Dictator than see a Northern Democrat President. We copy the following paragraph concerning him from the Washington letter in the Baltimore

"To his mind Grant represents the best and equality in the Union. 'What more natural, then,' said the politician already quoted, 'than that Toombs should seek to help Grant at the North? With all his wild talk, Gen. Toombs is remarkably wise as a counselor. Nobody would be more apt to see the certain damage to Grant's chances for the Republican nomination likely to follow the victories of the Republicans in the fall elections. If assured of success with Blaine or Sherman they would have take only as a dernier resort, and as security against the South, knowing what an enfan terrible he is at the North, and perfectly reckless of the effect upon himself. Toomb saw his opportunity to help Grant by appealing to the apprehensions of the Stalwarts of a new rebellion at the South, and used it with characteristic audacity."

"Hark, from the Toombs a doleful

Mr. Stephens says no one is authorized to say that he would support Grant, but he believes that the South would support him in preference to Tilden. He does not think that the latter would get five States as against Grant. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says of

"He freely avows his strong personal regard for Grant, whom he thinks worthy to rank with the phenomenal men of history. He has the fullest confidence in Grant's judgment and patriotism, and thinks he has been much misapprehended both North and South. There is nothing new in all this as Mr. Stephens has repeatedly expressed his admiration for Gen. Grant, between whom and himself a warm reciprocal interest has existed since their first meeting at City Point in the last winter of

The Agricultural Department puts the crops in the United States for 1879 as follows: corn, 1,500,151,570 bushels; cotton, 4,926,285 bales; barley, 40,184,000 bushels; buckwhest, 13,438,000 bushels; oats, 365,000,000 bushels; potatoes, 181,362,340 bushels; rye, 20,646,000 bushels; tobacco, 384,059,659 pounds; wheat 448,750, 000 bushels.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle says this, and it is comforting:

"Out of about one hundred and thirty Democratic newspapers published in Georgia, there is not one that would touch Frant with a forty-foot pole.

A Narrow Escape.

A colored man called at the gunsmith nent of Mesers Perdew & Crai on Front street, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of getting a gun repaired. He was explaining to Mr. Craig, one of the proprietors, that he had been trying to discharge his gun during the day, but it wouldn't go off, and removed the cap from the touch hole, leaving, it is supposed, the fulminating powderon the nipple, when his thumb slipped, the hammer flew back, and the weapon was discharged, the contents striking a double-barrel gun sitting near the window, making such an indentation in one of the barrels as to render the weapon almost valueless, and then passing through the window, knocking out two panes of glass. It was very fortunate that no one was injured by the accident.

At the Opera House, this evening, commencing at half past 7 o'clock, our citizens will have an opportunity of enjoying a rare treat of a literary character, the occasion being the delivery of a lecture by Hon. George Davis, entitled "A Study in Colonial History." The subject is one of peculiar interest, while the superior attainments and marked ability of the distinguished lecturer will clothe it with such brilliant attractiveness that none can fail to be pleased as well as edified and instructed. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Historical and Scientific Society, and we beapeak for the lecturer a crowded house.

Thanksgiving Offering.

Those of our merchants on Water, Front, Market, or any other street, who wish to make a thanksgiving offering, to assist that worthy charitable institution, the Oxford Orphan Asylum, can hand or send in their contributions at noon to-day to Col.
