SATURDAY MORNING, Nov. 29, 1879

THANKSGIVING. On Thursday last a large congrelet us consider a few points that concern us more as communities, as citizeus of this Commonwealth. We should be thankful for the age th in which we live, for it is one of astounding and unprecedented pro gress, in which new forces and activities are in motion. It is an age of upparalleled energy and enterprise and ingenuity. The very sinews of activity are being strained to the utmost to give momentum to the car of moral, intellectual and material progress. We should be thankful for our country, and especially for the physical character of our Southland. It the air glad! How the busy haunts is a goodly heritage. In this State of ours the God of nature has spread out for the enjoyment of our people a magnificent domain, admirably diversified with broad savannas, towering mountains that look eternal, and the majestic rivers. . Nature has done much, man but little. As yet the variety of soil, the wealth of mines, the vast water power, the rich productions of our virgin forests have been but little utilized or developed. We should be thankful for the character of our people as compared with other peoples. The people of the South are mostly a rural people with those habits of life and principles of conduct that belong to that class. The corruptions and vices of the large cities are not widely dis seminated amongst us. The blasting isms, the noxious poisons of society blighting as with the kiss of death the flowers of virtue and morality, find nothing congenial in the simple tastes and habits of our country people. In no other country is there such a high regard paid to woman as in the maligned South. We believe. too, that it may be truthfully affirmed that here there is a greater reverence for things sacred than elsewhere. In no other land is the marriage relation maintained in such purity as here.

The sermon was oy so long as he does not become preached by Rev. E. A. Without puffery we portance and privilege of this freedom from all civil disabilities-the righ effort. It was an impressive discourse to enjoy our religions convictions without fear of molestation. When ever religion is controlled by legal enactments then there is inevitable decline in its purity and power, and thus it becomes assimilated in charac ter and form to human governments. We should be thankful because the people of the South both understand and love the true principles of a republican form of government. On people know at what a sacrifice. blood and treasure our civil freedom was obtained. They remember th centuries of blood and convulsio through which our ancestors passed before the guerdon of liberty wa wrested from the strong hand o tyranny. They know how Sydney sell fell before the executio er's axe in behalf of human societ and its rights. They remember ho in halls of stormy debate and in seen conclaves the effort was made strangle liberty forever. They know how much it has cost already on th continent to first gain and then to preserve our liberty. Knowing these things our people are true to constiintional liberty, and will cleave to as a mother cleaves to her first-born through peril and storm. They who obeyed its voice and followed it wi steady courage and indomitable will and burning enthusiasta amid fields of carnage and death, will be true to its demands amid scenes of quietude and peace.

His munificent and merciful hand has been stretched out to feed us. He a caused the fig tree to blossom, vines to bring forth their won fruit, the labor of the olives to During productive, the fields to yield their meat, the flocks to be increased, and herds to still stand in the stalls. How gladsome the heart, and how grateare really the source of great domestic comfort. What a vast impetus do they give to every department of industry! How commerce whitens the seas, and the machinery of factories clatter day and night, making of men are made jocund with the noise of thrift! How the great, national arteries of wealth swell under their magic touch! How even the very morals of the people assume a higher and more hopeful tone! In all we have said, and we could add much more if we had time and space, we see God's faithfulness, truthfulness, power, goodness and wisdom. These lessons teach men to be obedient to God's law, to reve rence and adore their Maker, and to join in swelling the universal' chorus of thanksgiving and praise,

While such papers as the Cincin nati Gazette-a paper that hates and shuses the South systematically and continually-are accusing the South of all manner of meanness and corruption and denouncing our people as murderers, swindlers and assassins, the merchants of that growing city appear to take a different view of the matter. The Louisville Courier-Journol says: a such of an boy in the bors

"We are surprised to see that the Cincin-nati Gazette points with pride and exulta-tion to the fact that 10,000 is vitations have been sent to Southern merchants to visit Cincinnati on the occasion of the opening of the Southern railroad."

majority to helpless minority in the House, sealed the door of the Radical senate, and elected a Democratic President. Let that sort of blandering proceed. - Washington Post, Dem.

- It is remarkable that Southern Democrats should think that General Grant "is not bound by obligations to party" when he was the candidate of the Republican party for two terms of office, and will probably be the standard bearer of that party in 1880. He is a Republican, and Southern Democrats know this as well as the Herald. There seems to be no reason for making public the opinion that Gen. Grant is the favorite candidate of the Southern Democrats, unless it be that its novelty will make it attractive for a time to the lovers, of sensation. Such an opinion is remarkable, to say the least, and should be preserved on parchment in the British Museum. The account of General Grant's popularity in the South is highly sensational.-Richmond State,

Dem. In the last number of Harper's Weekly Mr. Nast's pencil sets forth the monetary situation with forcible distinctness. Brother Jonathan's golden leg is all right, but the circulation in this other leg-silver-is checked by the trap of the silver bill, and the limb is swollen and inflamed. "Something must be done," he says to Dr. Sherman, "or else this leg will mortify." The plain remedy is to remove the Mr. Hewitt's bill requiring the trap. Secretary of the Treasury to have coined sufficient silver money to meet the demand for it could have no injurious influence; but the present compulsony coinage of silver in quantities that the people will not take or have, will, if kept up, displace the gold standard, and fileh from every man's earnings the difference between the bullion value of the silver dollar must here record our judgment of the from beginning to end. There was enough of unction and ardor to give force and edge to the body of the reflections, whilst here and there were passages of real pathos and thoughts of singular felicity and sweetness. The sermon contained several happy illustrations that were touching, and one-the block of marble and the plastic hand of Michael Angelo-was managed with exceeding skill, and in its beauty almost bordered on poetic. The discourse was thorough ly practical as well as intellectual, and no ordinarily sensible person could listen without understanding, and being morally, if not spiritually, improved. The entire services were in good taste, and were solemn and impressive.

There is something decorous and becoming in such an assembly. Why should not the whole people meet once a year in the sanctuaries of Jehovah to worship Him, and praise and magnify His name for all the blessings and benefactions which He has so graciously and generously and mercifully bestowed upon them Why should not all hearts be grateful unto the Giver of every good and every perfect gift for all His con tinued benefits? Let us consider to day-for many who will see this did not join in the worship on Thanksgiving Day-what we should thank Almighty God for. Of course we can only touch the points without elaboration.

We should thank God for our being-that we have life, and that the soul is immortal. We should thank Him that we have a way of escape from the penalties of sin and transgression-that Jesus Christ, the God-Man of the Scriptures, the Idcarnate Son of God, is the Saviour of all sinners who believe in Him, who trust unfeignedly in Him for redemption and pardon, for He is the way, the truth and the life. We should

But he will not do such an bonorable thing."

Senator Bayard has confidence i the people. He knows, 100, that the liberty that must be coddled by the army is in a very languishing and moribund state. He is thoroughly imbued with the principles of our Constitution, comprehends fully the interpretations of that great instrument as given by the fathers, and i in full sympathy with the old English idea of liberty. So the following ntterance from so wise and patriotic a statesman is worth reading and remembering. In a few words, a the Philadelphia Chronicle said, h tersely stated, boiled down, put in nut-shell, "the case of the peopl against the army." The able Senator les were found, inning vere ; bias

Wby should the army become the guar dians of the liberties of the people ? The army is but one of the instruments of the people to govern themselves. They never ward. The army is the creation of the Jaw, and the law is the declaration of the people's will. It is like placing the creature abbreathe Creature training the creature above the Crestor to suppose that the Amer-ican people cannot hold and will not hold free and fair elections unless their own creatures are put to watch them."

Old Ben Butler is able if unprinc ledi Whether he wishes the Den ocrats to succeed as against the Re publicans is very doubtful, but what he says is none the less to be consid ered, for he has a way of semetime ago, when he said he was inclined t South alike, being engineered by such leaders as Tilden, Kelly, Watterson and Toombs, will continue as usu that, hence, whoever the Republ cases mominate as sure to be elected.

Considering that Mecklenburg is the Autho third largest tax paying county in the State, and New Hanover the largest, and that the two counties are carrying a debt of about $800,000 as corporations, incurred for internal improvements; and further, that they Com and other counties have already done their duty to other sections in the way of paying taxes to give them railroad facilities, we do

Gen. T. L. Clingman. [N. Y. Herald.]

About 67 years old, of tall, spare igure, erect as an Indian chief, having hair and beard of iron gray, which intensifies his somewhat weatherbeaten appearance, the ex-Senator, or, as he is better known at home, General Clingman, may be regarded as a venerable connecting link between the present and that era of the past when the utterances of Southern statesmen were all potent in the councils of the nation. Thirty-six years age General Clingman was elected from the Pine Tree State to the House of Representatives, where he continued to sit for fourteen years, each time being re-elected as an independent candidate. In the spring of 1858 he was first appointed United States Senator by the Governor of North Carolina, and was subsequently elected twice to the Upper House of Congress by the Legislature of that State. About the time the war commenced he had entered upon his second term as United States Senator, but in the early days of the struggle he offered his sword and services to his native State. He had four years of steady service in the Confederate army, the last three of which were assed as a general officer, and with his brigade he participated in some hard fighting, receiving at various times six wounds, some of which he still suffers from, He has not been a candidate for any political office
