The Danites. Of "The Danites," which is to be presented at the Opera House on Wednesday evening next, by Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin and their talented troupe, the Boston Herald of a late date says:

There is always a certain something about play which treats of California life which a deeply interesting to the people of New England States, and however many times it may have been played, it always seems to stand as something new. The play of "The Danites" is one that is well known to the people of Boston, and the present cast has made it more of a favorite than almost any other cast could have done, and yet, one would judge, from those present at the Howard Athensum last evening, that it was the first night of an entirely new play. It is quite possible to agree with other critics and speak of "The Danites" as a ocem, and yet it would be more proper to call it by its true name—a poetical drama.

The shadows of the mountains are upon it, and the golden sunlight that lingers in the gleus illumines it with a radiance far greater and more intense than its author could have ever hoped for. The rugged nature and child like are likely as the respective of the respective o ever hoped for. The rugged nature and child-like simplicity of the pioneer are shown, wedded to a perfect man, and the whole, poetical as it is, is never without the proper dramatic elements. It is hardly necessary to speak of Mr. McKee Rankin's rendition of the part of Bandy. He has shown the people of Boston what he could do, and received the praise of the press without laying himself open to any blame. Mrs. McKee Rankin's Billy Piper is artistically beautiful, and rendered with a fidelity to nature which makes it more pleasing than any of the good things this really good actress has ever done. With two such actors in the cast, it is little wonder that Joaquin Miller's fanciful play has achieved the wonderful success which it has met with.

Seats can now be secured at Heinsber 65

ternoon for the term, after transacting a much larger amount of basiness during the week than any of its predecessors have before accomplished in the same length of time. Sixty-seven cases in all were tried, convictions and submissions being obtained in fifty.

The following were disposed of yesterday: Jane Williams, charged with larceny, was found guilty and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

with larceny, were acquitted William Pickett and John Pleasant, were each fixed one penny and costs in assault and battery cases.

Elliah Jenkins, Henry Gause and George Brown were tried on a charge of larceny and acquitted. Josh Johnson was fined one penny and costs for earrying a concealed weapon. A number of parties were arraigned for retailing liquor without license, but submitted, and judgments were suspended on the payment of costs.

Jane Fisher was sent to the work house for twelve months for assault and battery. Arthur Fisher, found guilty of harboring an escaped prisoner—the notorious Tom - Judge M. I. Eure registered at Johnson-was sentenced to the penitentiary for four years.

James Daughtry was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for larceny. James Henderson, for larceny, was fined 10 and the costs, the Judge being thus lenient on account of the previous excellent

limutrating the Colored Fair. Frank Leelis's Illustrated Newspaper devotes two entire pages to illustrating scenes and incidents connected; with the late Fair of the Colored Industrial Association at Raleigh. That paper, however, seems to have imbibed the popular Northern idea, to the effect that everything connected with the colored people must of necessity be shabby, in these pictures the men, women and children have a shabby look, the vehicles are shabby, and even the marshals in the procession wear slouched hats and otherwise present a shabby appearance, while in reality the colored people are noted for their respectable appearance on such Investing in Old War Material. A Mr. Buck, bailing from Baltimore, has purchased from the Government all the old cannon, shell, gun-carriages, etc., at Fort Caswell, and is now engaged, with a lighter belonger to Mr. G. F. French, in removing the articles from the grounds. It is understood that it is Mr. Buck's intention to ship the guns and other material to THE FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Bright Light Across the Elver-Turpentine and Rosin in a Blaze -Cooper Shops and Staves Burning Scenes and Incidents.

The fire last night originated in a pile dross in rear of the distilleries of Mr. Alfred Martin, on the west side of the river, and quickly extended to the quantity of inflammable matter lying adjacent. It is supposed to have caught from sparks coming out of the chimney of a cabin a few feet distant, and when first discovered was of very small proportions. Fortunately the wind was blowing away from the stills, and none of them were injured, though two stills of Mr. Martin very parrowly escaped destruction and were saved only through the most indefatigable efforts of the firemen and spectators.

Mr. Martin's loss will not amount to much, as the dross was the principal food for the fismes, a few barrels of rosin and tar and a dross still house being about all burned belonging to him.

Mr. Alex. Johnson, Jr., whose still and yard are next that of Mr. Martin, loses more heavily, as his cooper shop, tools and a large pile of staves were destroyed, but all were fortunately insured. The Cape Fear was the first to be lightered across. The other Fire Companies were all promptly on hand, and worked faithfully wherever there was need of their services.

It was difficult to procure boats to carry the companies across the river, and the flat of John Taylor, a colored man from Piney Bluff, lying at the foot of Princess street, was seized by members of the First Ward Bucket Company, (colored). Taylor protested against the seizure and attempted to prevent it and was pretty roughly handled some one striking him a severe blow with boat hook, or gig, knocking him down and cutting a severe gash in the top of his head. The parties accused of making the assault were arrested, and the sufferer was taken by some of the firemen to Dr. Burbank's office, where his wound was examined and MALL AND LOOK AT THE dressed, and he was afterwards taken to the City Hall. John Grady, of the First Henry Gervine and George Hill, charged | Ward Bucket Company, was the party first arrested for the offence, but George Hayes, a member of the same Company, it was alleged, was the person who struck the

> Another colored man had an involuntary cold bath. He got into a boat at Market street dock to go across the river, but managed to upset it before it was cast loose. He held on to the boat, however, and was dragged out of the river by some of the bystanders.

We have noticed heretofore the inestimable services rendered by the Wm. Nyce at fires along the wharf on either side of the river, and last night, as usual, she had flats in position for the engines on their arrival at the dock, and quickly put them alongside of the scene of the fire. thereby saving much time and labor, when both were so valuable.

Concert. A number of young gentlemen of this city, assisted by two comedians late of Simons & Slocums Minstrels, the Cornet Concert Club and String Band, propose to give a humorous vocal and instrumental concert at the Opera House some time in December next, the proceeds to be devoted to the benefit of St. John's Church.
