WILMINGTON, N. C.:

FRIDAY MORNING, Dec. 19, 1879.

A NEW POLITICAL SCANDAL.

A letter in the New York Star from Washington concerning Mr. Tilden and the "unwritten history" of 1876, will no doubt attract wide attention and excite much comment. It declares that Mr. Tilden offered to buy the electoral vote of South Carolina-that two persons went from that State to New York and interviewed Mr. Tilden, telling him that the Republicans would give the electoral votes to Hayes unless he paid $30,000—that the money was actually sent to Charleston, but that the plan was changed because it was believed that Florida and Louisiana had been secured, and South Carolina was of but little consequence.

The account is long-would fil two columns of the STAR, and we have not space for it, even if we thought it worthy of being copied in full. We do not know how much truth there is in it. Possibly there is The account appears to have been prompted by Gen. Gary's attack on Senator Hampton. We copy one paragraph from the "futile dalliance" account:

"This is a page of the history of the fa-mous election of '76, which has never been given to the public until now; and as Gen. Mart Gary has been interviewed on a subject which has a direct bearing on what was attempted to be done by Hampton and his friends before the election, so now we have here in the foregoing facts the history of what was aftempted after the election. It has been stated that Tilden lost his election through being counted out in Florida and South Carolina, and he has been charged with attempting to buy a vote in Oregon. He certainly attempted to purchase the six votes of South Carolina by paying $30,000 for them, if the story as i has been told to your correspondent be true, and there is no reason whatever to Without indorsing any of the state ments in the least, we give the above as a part of the political gossip and scandal of the day. It may be true, but it is probably false. The Charleston News and Courier has this to say: "What we have said about the attempt made by Governor Tilden to secure the South Carolina electoral vote, by bribery or purchase, is confirmed, we find, by the writer of an article published in the New York Star of Saturday. There is something in it. The charge is made that Democrats in South Carolina knew of the scheme and in South Carolina knew of the scheme and had a hand in it. We do not believe it, and we shall not attach any importance to this part of the story unless the true names of the persons implicated are given so that they can speak for themselves.'

BISMARCK AND GREAT ARMIES.

In the last numbers of the British Quarterly and Westminster Reviews there are elaborate papers on Prince Bismarck. One is depreciatory some extent; the other appears to be discriminating and fair. We gather, after reading both, that great as the German Chancellor is, his success has not been marked in directing the affairs of the Empire since it was formed. In other words, he is greater as a war minister than as a peace minister. He created literally the Empire as much as Count Cavour, probably the greatest statesman of modern times, created Italian unity. But Bismarck has made some capital blunders since the Franco Prussian war, notably his financial schemes, the Falk laws, and his dealings with Socialistic problems. His greatest blunder, it would seem, is his keeping such a heavy armament which provokes other Powers to do likewise, and which only embarrasses and impoverishes. We refer to these things because recent intelligence from Germany shows that the great minister is learning by experience. It is certain that he begins to realize that the armament business has been overdone and s the real cause of the financial depression and socialistic agitation. We say there are indications which show that Bismarck is awakening to sense of the heavy burdens he has placed upon his own country by his military system. He has so expressed himself, and he wants the Powers to disarm-to give up their immense war equipments and to come down to a peace basis. He began the work of arming and he must set the example of disarming. France, Austria, and the other Great Powers will not begin the good work until they see Germany taking the initiative. A the Baltimore American says:

"If Bismarck wishes to crown himself prince of peace, as he has already prince of war, he will lead Germany to take the initiative in this matter. The other Powers will be only too happy to follow."

MORE ABOUT THE PROPIES.

In the recent Georgia Legislature speech was made by Mr. J. A. Awtry, in which he referred to cotton manufacturing. He showed that the cotton crop of the State was worth in the Nashville American says: $22,500,000. He said:

"If we had converted this raw material nto yarn and exported it in that shape, it would have added 100 per cent, to its value. Instead of $22,500,000 we would have had $45,000,000. If, after converting it into arns, we had made cloth of it, we would have so increased its value that the crop would have been nearly equal to $60,000, 000. As a matter of course I do not pre-tend to accuracy in this statement, but offer t as an approximation merely to indicate he very great increase in value that results from the manipulations of the manufacturer. * * * * The most extensive cotton spinner in New England, perhaps in the world, has traveled over the South and attentively considered our advantages, and he admitted that he could spin cotton at from 5 to 7 per cent. cheaper than he could in New England. But the truth is we can spin cotton from 10 to 13 per cent. cheaper in Georgia than in New England. The expenses on one hundred pounds of cotton shipped from here to Providence, Fall River or Lowell, will mount to 121 per cent. on present prices. This expense the spinner can save, or very nearly save; this gives us in the item of ost of raw material a clear advantage of 10 per cent. This of itself is a good profit. in addition to this we have great advanages in climate and water power.

We copy this mainly for the reference to the advantages the South has over the North in the facilities offered. Latterly we bave noticed in several Northern papers that they appreciate these advantages.

In regard to the experiments now making in this State in the use of the "Clement Attachment," we promised to refer again to the letter of Mr. C. F. Harden. According to him the machinery used in the factory at Windsor, Bertie county, cost $4,338. The Raleigh Observer takes his figures as a basis of calculation, and makes the total cost, including houses, $7,500. His cotton costs $10,000, besides incidentals amounting to $1,000. Hands, oil, repairs, &c., $3,800. Interest $1,000-total expenses, $14,800. We do not know, but we incline to the opinion that this estimate is excessive.

The Observer next shows the profits which it places at $16,300 -net pro fit, after deducting expenses, $1,500. We think it probable that by good management this mill can make $2,-500 profits. If this is correct, then some fifteen per could be realized. We confess in this speculation we are groping in the dark. The Westminster mills experiment turned out well. When we can get an exact statement of operations like those published by the Georgia mills, we can then speak more confidently of the value of the small mills. The subject is certainly very important, and well worth the most careful and intelligent investigation.

Every Northern State that may be doubtful or Democratic is threatened with an invasion. Oregon Republicans are anxious to get thousands of negroes to make that State sure for them in 1880. In the meantime they do not care a continental whether the poor negro freezes or dies. Oregon is a great deal colder than Indiana. That North Carolinian in Washington is right, who said, according to the Dispatch, that "the exodus is a cruel fraud upon a parcel of poor negroes." We neglected to note that the minority of the Brooklyn Presbytery -those who voted against Talmage kind." Having mentioned what the hearted Randolph of New Jersey, pulpit harlequin said, it is but right the other side should be heard.

If two things were done in North Carolina the children would be much more favored. If men were required to pay tax on what they were worth, and if no man were allowed to vote who could not show his poll-tax receipt, then the revenues of the State would be more than double what they are now. It is evident that the country at large is troubled with the problem of how to collect taxes on personal property. We are satisfied that not half of the actual wealth of the State is taxed. This makes the burden unequal, because it makes it heavier and more oppressive on those who do fairly list their property. Take the case of New York. We copy from the Baltimore American:

"Since 1872 the collections in that city have fallen off from $8,906,343 to $5,036,-991, and the assessment from $306,949,422 to $197,532,075, and this in the face of the fact that there has been a large actual increase in the amount of personal property which is really liable to taxation. The difficulty seems to be that citizens take undue advantage of the legal exemptions acceptable as excuses by the commissioners, and by stretching their consciences a little swear off entirely. Of 16,623 persons on the com-missioners' lists but 1,899 acknowledged that they had personal property subject to taxation, while 6,219 swore that they owned none that was taxable, and 8,505 paid no attention whatever to the notice that they had been assessed. It will be seen that the difficulty in this case is precisely that which impeded the collection of the income tax-

Mr. Lewis T. Clement, the inventor of the "Clement Attachment, was born in 1803 in Rutherford county, Tennessee. A sketch of him

"On the restoration of peace his patriotic heart responded to the cry for help for the impoverished South, by a more determined renewal of an enterprise that he confidently believed would place the cotton States on their feet again; but his surroundings were entirely new and embarrassing. Penniless, he resumed in his old age the trades of ginwright and furniture maker, in order to eke out a decent support for himself and invalid wife, and it was only during short intervals of respite-atolen time, I may say-that he could prosecute his work on his models His progress was necessarily slow, but he worked and waited a wearlsome time,' until his patent was obtained, and those familiar with his ideas were convinced of their ultimate triumph. Two or three of his friends then advanced means sufficient to construct a small machine and put it in operation. Jut at this turning point in his fortunes, while on the road to Nashville to look after some matters connected with his invention, he was fatally injured by an accident at Mill creek bridge, on the Murfreesboro & Nashville turnpike, and died on the 22d September, 1879, in the 67th year of his age."

Prof. Ledoux, the chemist of the North Carolina Experimental Station at Chapel Hill, attended the organization of the American Agricultural Society in New York. He has writ ten an account of what he saw and heard for the Raleigh Observer. W give a paragraph or so:

"A Vice-President has been elected from every State. The Vice-President for North Carolina is Col. L. L. Polk, our Commis sioner of Agriculture. "As a compliment to North Carolina, th address which I had the honor of delivering before the Association upon the quality o American seeds was put down as the very first on their programme. A letter from Gov. Jarvis, endorsing the movement, was read and received with tokens of pleasure, and published in a promuent agricultural

The cotton crop of 1879 was estimated at 5,250,000 bales. Evidently somebody has been at work in the cotton fields.—Chicago Inter-Ocean, Stalwart.

journal of this city.'

This is cool decidedly. After making the South a sort of Pandemonium, and having negroes slaughtered as the hog men in the West butcher the swine, this paper comes to the very ensible conclusion that "evidently somebody has been at work." Just so, Mr. Inter-Ocean man, just so.

By the act of Congress making quinine free of duty, over one million dollars has been saved to the people in one year. It was a gigantic monopoly and swindle, and the Democrats crushed it.

CURRENT COMMENT

A case somewhat similar to that of Dr. Lorimer, of this city, was related by Mark Twain of himself at the breakfast to Oliver Wendell Holmes. Twain told how he had unconsciously stolen for a preface to his "Innocents Abroad" a dedication which Mr. Holmes had years before written to a volume of his poems. He explained it by saying that he had filled himself full of Holmes by reading and re-reading that author, and he supposed that the dedication "lay on top," and was in that way unconsciously appropriated as his own. - Chicago Inter Gecan.

- It is immaterial, as far as the public welfare is concerned, whether it was, or was not, proposed in 1876' to leave the Tilden candidates for Presidential Electors to their fate. The National Democratic party took no interest in the South Carolina canvass, and contributed neither money nor speakers to the cause. Mr. Tilden was opposed to the nomination of Gov. Hampton, and it was no part of his plan of campaign that the Democrata should carry South Carolina. When the election was over, and there was a chance to secure here the One indispensable Electoral vote, an agent of Nephew Pelton came to the State with or without lifty thousand dollars in a carpet-and by other men of that stamp who love South Carolina. As to Gov. Hampton's attitude it was stated, and has not been denied, that one of the Visiting. Republican Statesmen, who was in Columbia when the Board of State Canvassers were in durance vile, offered, on the part of the Republican managers at Washington, to withdraw the troops and let Gov. Chamberlain drop, if Gov. Hampton would publicly avow his belief that the Hayes candidates for Presidential Electors had been elected in this State. Gov. Hampton indignantly declined to be a party to any such bargain. The people generally, it should be added, thought first and foremost of the redemption of South Carolina. - Churteston News und

Courier, Dem. OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

If the railroad question is not profitable but rather a burden as argued, why let us discuss it when we have leasure, when there is no foe to meet. The East cannot control the Legislature, no matter which party is successful. The East with Iew exceptions sends Republicans to the Legislature, who have no voice if that body is Democratic, and are easily influenced by the Western Republicans if that party has control, and will support the railroad because they do not pay taxes. So that the Legislature in our opinion will support the railroad, no matter which party is in the ascendancy. It is better that the matter should not be made (an issue in the campaign. Let us not be divided, when we need all our strength.

It is impolitic and unwise, us well as burdensome, to a portion of the State to continue these appropriations after the road is completed to Asheville. Why not let the subect be discussed entirely free from political considerations and then left to the discretion and wisdom of the next Legislature? What has it to do with politics anyway? or how can its advocacy or opposition affect the standing of any member of the Democratic party? Now, Granville county pays every year $6,000 to this road, nearly as much as all the State taxes of the seven counties directly interested in its extension. Other eastern counties pay in equal proportion and some nearly double what Granville pays. Is it anything very remarkable that Granville, or Wake, which appeally sends up $15,000, should desire to look into this matter and ascertain if the investments are wise and judicious? - Oxford Torchlight.

To Steal the Vote of New York. [Washington Cor. N. Y. Herald.]

The project which has been mootby some Republicans in New York, that the Legislature of that State shall, when it meets in January, change the method of choosing Presidential electors, finds general favor here among Republican Congressmen, and some Western men re particularly active in its advoca-They urge that New York is now decidedly a doubtful State: that the proposed change would give a large majority of its electoral vote certainly to the Republicans, and that it would thus settle beforehand, and almost beyond doubt, the result of the next year's election and give the Presidency securely to the Republicans. The plan, asit is have urged, is to let the voters in each Congressional District choose a Presidential elector, the two electorsat-large to be chosen either by the Legislature or by the body of district electors. Some Western Republicans think that this plan ought to be recommended to the Republicans of the New York Legislature as a party measure, and it is even said that the National committee, which is to meet here next Wednesday, should consider the propriety of a public declaration on the subject. It is feared by those who favor it that the New York Republicans will be timid about acting unless they have the consent of the party in other States.

Postomee Statistics. The total receipts of the United States Postoffice Department for the welve months ending June 30, 1879, were $764,466 more than those of the preceding year, and about $1,000,000 more than it was estimated they would be, a result that is attributed to the revival of business. There were issued during the last fiscal year for sale to the public 774,000,000 stamps of the face value of $20,117, 259; 221,797 postal cards, and 148, 000,000 stamped envelopes, valued at $4,300,000. The total issues of all kinds (including also the newspaper wrappers, official stamps, etc.) reached an aggregate of 1,222,000,000 in number, and $29,500,000 in value. The increase in the demand has been principally for postal cards and stamped envelopes. The whole number of letters and packages received and disposed of by the Dead Letter Office during the last year was 2,996,513, a decrease of about 190,000 from the total of the

Wilmington, N. C.

WHEREFORE? (1) Because nine out of ten select them; (2) Because exactly suited to persons of mederate means, being cheap and economical in fuel; (3) Because quick, convenient and perfect in operation; (4) Because (and it is a clinching proof of their superiority) repeated efforts are constantly being made to imitate them; and (5)
