VOL. XXV.--NO. 83.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1879.

Gen. Charles P. Kingsbury died on Christmas day, at his residence in Brooklyn, New York, aged about 61. He went to West Point from the Oxford district, although a native of Wayne county, New York. He was the ablest, the most highly cultivated, the most gifted man of his name, so far as the writer knows. He had been a member of the Presbyterian Church for quite a quarter of a century. He married in Favetteville-He was graduated at West Point in 1840, taking number two in a large class. He was the author of a treatise on artillery tactics which was long the text-book at West Point. He was Gen. Taylor's aid at the battle of Buena Vista, and is mentioned pecially by him in his official report. He belonged to the Ordnance Corps and had but little chance of distinction. He was an exceedingly brilliant and able writer, contributing largely to the leading periodicals of the country. His published criticisms and literary papers of different kinds would make many volumes if gath-

There was never a greater mistake for any man to commit than for him to have one set of morals as a citizen and family-man, and another set of principles and morals as a politician. A politician who is dishonest is none too good to play the same game with his fellows in the business affairs of life. When the honest men of the country combine in favor of honesty among officials there will be fair dealing at the polls and in the after-count. The Richmond State gives two examples of unusual conscientiousness. We copy:

"Honest men everywhere are begin refuse the wages of fraud, which, we take it, is a hopeful sign of the future of the country. It was first a Conservative, Griffin, in Virginia, who would not accept a place to which he believed his Republican competitor had been elected, notwithstanding the returns were counted in his favor: and now a Republican in New Jersey has followed his example and refused to be a party to a fraudulent or technical count in his lavor. This is the true remedy for the evil: Let men act in their political as they would in their private or business relations. No honest man would knowingly be a receiver or purchaser of stolen property, pass a counterfeit bill or forged cheek, or cheat his neighbor out of the value of a penny in trade, and yet many such will connive at election frauds upon the people and profit by them without the least compunction of conscience,"

Samuel Perry and Taylor Evans, colored school teachers and preachers, are the agents used in the North Carolina exodus. They are in Washington and report that they have found homes for 665 negroes, with promised homes for 200 more. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun reports as follows :

"Perry has just returned from Indiana, and says that the farmers about Terre Haute went sixty families, and in Rockville fifty amilies will be given work at good wages. They have made an arrangement hy which the through fare has been reduced to sixteen dollars from Goldsboro to Indianapolis, and in order to prevent the scheme from getting into bad odor they will not hereafter admit to their colonies any persons who are not able to pay their fare. Perry says that the party that was here recently in such an impecunious condition were not under their care. They intend to canvass the State of Indiana for places, and hope to take five thousand colored people out there during the next six months. They assert that they will take out none who are not provided for with labor in advance, and do not expect any opposition from the people of Indiana. The greatest demand is for house servants, and Perry says he could find places for five thousand women if they were educated up to the Northern system of domestic economy, but he does not think a North Caroline plantation cook would suit an Indiana

It is estimated that there has been an increase of at least ten per cent. in the industries of Richmond, Va., during the year. The increase in the ron trade is one and a half million dollars. Agricultural implements $132,000. The leaf tobacco business has been quite heavy, but not as much so as it would have been but for the fact that the European markets were overstocked by purchases of former seasons. The increase of the manufacturing trade is fifteen per cent. One manufacturer alone has made this year two billion cigarettes, and shipped two million to European

Gov. Garcelon, in his reply to ex-Senator Morrill's letter proposing to refer the matter in controversy to the Supreme Court, says:

"Please to indicate the points that occur to you which have not already been adju-dicated upon, and I doubt not that we may be able to secure a satisfactory solution of devotion to principles. It is interesting to know how it views matters in Maine. It says:

"The wrong practised in 1876 does not justify imitation, however severe the provocation or tempting the occasion. Our friends in Maine must be aware that the entire country is now watching the course of events there. The popular will can never be thwarted with impunity."

be able to secure a satisfactory solution of the doubtful complications; or, if not satisfactory, at least such as may be deemed authoritative. The fact to which you alitude, that so large a number of Republican members elect fail to receive certificates, is due to the fact that so many municipal officers failed to comply with the constitutional requirements, and which, by judicial decision, the Governor and Council have no authority to overlook. This condition of affairs is no fault of the Governor and Council."

While scientists and unbelievers are crying down Edison, his answer to all his critics is that the lamps are burning brightly. One light has been steadily burning for five days. A special to Philadelphia, on the 26th,

"At 9 o'clock this evening the eighty horse-power engine was at work, and the chunky little generator was churning out electricity. Two street electric lamps were casting an orange glow upon the snowy meadow in front of Mr. Edison's private office. Twenty odd electric lights were burning in the Edison buildings. I: was a whiter light than that in the street. It was more like daylight. There was nothing that could annoy the eye. The glow was mild and steady. There was no flicker in the airless globes, and the weakest-eyed sewing woman could have taken her stitches as easily as though she sat by s window at noonday."

The gas light managers express no alarm. They profess to believe some how that, after all, Edison will fail But the great inventor says the electric light is practically done, although he is still experimenting with a view of reducing its cost.

The New York World asked the question if Horatio Seymour was nominated if any one supposed that Grant could carry New York against him. The Philadelphia Chronicle, the leading Democratic paper of Philadelphia, says Seymour is an emnent patriot and statesmen, and that "there will be no better man nominated." Correct, Mr. Chronicle.

The New York Tildenites want the Democratic National Convention to meet in that city. John Kelly opposes this movement vigorously. The Tildenites say it is impudent in Kelly to have anything to say about it. A man who received 77,000 votes for Governor ought to be allowed to speak his mind.

ST. JOHN'S DAY.

celebration by the Masonic Prater nity Yesterday-Dedication of their Lot in Oakdale Cometery-Ad-

The Masonic fraternity of Wilmington, consisting of St. John's Lodge No. 1, and Wilmington Lodge No. 319, celebrated St. John's Day yesterday. The programme previously agreed up and published in our Sunday's issue, was carried out almost to the letter. The members met at St. John's Hall at 91 o'clock, and, after a brief but unavoidable delay, were formed in procession by the Marshals, Messre. John L Cantwell and John W. Perdew, and headed by the Cornet Concert Club, took up its line of march up Market street to the residence of the orator of the day, E. S. Martin, Esq., who was escorted to the carriage prepared for him, when the procession countermarched to Fourth street, up Fourth to Campbell, and out Campbell to Oakdale Cemetery, marching to the Masonic lot not far from and almost immediately in tront of the entrance, and on the north side of the avenue leading to the Confederate lot. Here the officers and members of the fraternity took the stations assigned them. neat and substantial stand had been erected on the north side of the lot, fronting south, and in this the Orator of the Day, the Chaplain, members of the committee, and gentlemen of the choir took their seats. We also noticed on the stand Fab. H. Busbee,

Esq., of Raleigh. The exercises were opened by a dirge from the band, after which the ceremony of dedicating the lot was proceeded with by the officers of St. John's Lodge No. 1, which included prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. George Patterson, D. D., and the reading of the dedicatory services by Worshipful Master W. R. Kenan, which was done in a very clear and distinct voice.

The dedicatory exercises were very sulemp, interesting and impressive, and were listened to with much attention by those

Next followed an ode by the choir, Bradley and Rankin, with Mr. Myers at the organ, which was executed with much skill and sweetness, and was followed by a beautiful and impressive prayer, appropriate to the occasion, by liev. Dr. Patterson, the Chaplain.

J. I. Macks, Esq., then, in a few neat and appropriate words, introduced the speaker, E. S. Martin, Esq., remarking that one so well known in our midst required but little

Mr. Martin then arose and delivered one of the best addresses of the kind to which we have ever listened. The principles of masonry were pictured in glowing colors, while the language of the speaker was both beautiful and impressive, and his manner graceful and attractive. Speaking in the open air, with a stiff breeze of wind and the glaring sunshine both in his face, he labored under no little disadvantage, but he seemed not to regard it. It is seldom that we have listened to an address on any subject that impressed us more favorably.

At the close of the speech the Worshipful Master called for a tender of the Grand Honors, which was done by the clapping of hands by the members of the order.

Another dirge by the band, rendered with excellent effect, and the pronouncing of the benediction by the Chaplain, Rev. Dr. Patterson, and the interesting services were brought to a close, when the Marshals, in obedience to directions from the Worshipful Master, reformed the procession, which, to the soul-inspiring music of the band marched back to the Lodge room, where it was disbanded and the members dispersed until the evening.

At half past 7 o'clock in the evening the members of the two Lodges reassembled at St. John's Hall, and forming in procession, marched to the City Hall, preceded by the Cornet Band.

At the Hall, after music by the band, the ceremonies were opened by prayer from Rev. E. A. Yates, an ode was sung by the Glee Club, and the orator for the occasion, Mr. Fab. H. Busbee, of Raleigh, was introduced to the large audience of ladies and gentlemen assembled, by Rev. Dr. Patterson.

The address of Mr. Busbee, pertaining of course to matters relating to the Order was also highly entertaining and instructive to the general audience, and was listened to with profound attention and in terest. Graceful in manner and pleasing in speech, his eloquence impressed all while his fair presence no doubt captivated the hearts of many of his hearers. We regret that we are unable to give a synopsis of the address.

Lout Their Dinner. On Sunday last, as Mr. Geo. F. Tilley, residing on Third, between Walnut and Red Cross streets, was about to sit down to dinner, together with his family, they were all called out for a few minutes in the yard, leaving the house deserted. They soon after returned to the dining room to partake of the meal which had been prepared and placed upon the table, when they discovered to their chagrin that some thiefmost probably a strolling tramp-had en tered the house during their brief absence and stolen their dinner, even to the empty ing of the butter dish, leaving only two or three biscuits to the family with which to stay their hunger until another meal could be prepared. Entrance must have been made through one of the side windows which was found open, as both the front and back doors were locked, the only other way of ingress and egress being through the kitchen, entering by which the thief would have laid himself liable to certain detection. It was a daring theft, committed with wonderful speed and expertness, as the family were absent from the room but a few minutes.

Fire Sunday Morning.

The house on the southeast corner of Front and Ann streets, belonging to Mr. J. F. Stolter, narrowly escaped destruction by fire on Sunday morning last, about half past 7 o'clock. The fire seems to have caught near the foundation on the north ade of the building, thence blazing up between the plastering and weatherboarding nearly to the roof. The fire department was quickly on the ground, when a portion of the weatherboarding was ripped off and a stream of water gotten upon the flames, which were quickly brought under control. Mr. Stolter estimates the damage to the building to be in the neighborhood consisting of Messrs. Robinson, Myers, of $500, the most of the plastering being by insurance in a company represented by Messrs. DeRosset & Northrop. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the ignition of matches by rats or mice.

Interesting Occasion.

A large congregation assembled on las Sunday afternoon, at the Masonboro Baptist church, some six miles from the city, when Rev. John H. Beasley was set apart to the full work of the gospel ministry. The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Taylor, of this city, from Romans i:16. "I am not ashamed to preach the gospel of Christ." The ordaining prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Edwards, of South Carolina, after which the right hand of fellowship was given. A number of our citizens were in attendance upon the solemn services.
