All the limbs and twigs falling off, leaving nothing but the body of the tree standing. Reidsville Southern Star: A few days ago Squire Tom Martin, of Reaver Island, Stokes county, died suddenly at his residence. A few days before his death Mr. Martin's leg was broken by a falling tree, but he was apparently getting along well, when one night after eating a hearty supper he told his wife he was dying, and requested that a letter be immediately sent for him. Before the gentleman sent for could arrive Mr. Martin was dead. In his death the community loses one of its best citizens.

The Charlotte Observer had fished out, up to last summer, only eleven aspirants for Congress from that district. How many have been added to the list since it does not say. In this list we do not think is counted Col. Charles R. Jones, himself, the able editor of the Observer, whose mastery, which equals his talents, also prevents him from pushing his claims among the score of prominent names, claims equal if not superior to those of any candidate mentioned, real or prospective. Greenboro Patriot.

We suppose it may be accepted that Horatio Seymour has positively declined to accept the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. We are sorry at his declination. It is a happy circumstance, however, when viewed from one standing point—that out of 50,000,000 people there is one man who actually refuses to be a candidate for the highest office. But viewed under another aspect Mr. Seymour is not to be commended for his course. When the office seeks the man it is his duty to yield to the wishes of his countrymen. Patriotism demands that sacrifice. Mr. Seymour can be elected, and we regret most deeply that he has taken the position he has relative to his proposed nomination. The Richmond Dispatch's special from Washington says:

"Mr. L. Q. Washington informs me to-night that he has never seen, as reported, a letter from Mr. Seymour declining the use of his name in connection with the Presidency, but that a perfectly reliable gentleman has informed him that he has seen such a letter, and that the declination is couched in positive and emphatic language."

The Republicans pretend to have discovered a grand conspiracy at Augusta, Maine, but this is probably a got-up story to justify their course in hurrying the military to the capital. A dispatch to the Boston Herald gives this version:

"A plot to burn the residences of leading Augusta Republicans was discovered to-night. Triangular bits of paper marked the doomed residences. They were tucked on after night and were soon perceived by the vigilant police. Had the Governor not given his order for calling out the troops to-night, military men at the State House were likely to abandon their watches, which was ready to result in an inglorious end."

Bildad says of Horr's reply to Cox: "Horr talked himself out in about fifteen minutes, having kept the audience in a roar of laughter nearly the whole time. Though his wit and rhetoric and culture were far inferior to what Cox had displayed, his remarks were in better temper and the sympathies of everybody seemed to be with him, and the general verdict on the battle of wit was that, though not artistically done, Horr had skinned Cox. Declining to give the particulars of those around him, Cox did not reply."

This is an age of swindlers. Every few days there is a new dodge. The latest is the census swindle. The State says:

"Bogus census takers are now on their rounds in the North, and a number of farmers have been victimized into signing their names to negotiable notes when they thought they were merely verifying the number of children, hogs, cattle and sheep they possessed."

Mr. Sala, the London correspondent, writes to his paper from Richmond, Va., where he is at present sojourning, that "the negro is, from many different aspects, a Bad Job, but the Southerners are trying hard to make the best of him."

The dissatisfaction at the appointment of some of the Supervisors of the Census is increasing. Georgia, Indiana, West Virginia and Connecticut are especially disgruntled.

The readers of the STAR will be glad to learn that Senator Lamar is rapidly improving, and expects to be able to resume his seat in the Senate before very long.

Spirits Turpentine. Buffalo Bill had a full house at Raleigh. Revenue collections last week in the Fourth District were $19,529.57. There were nine deaths at Raleigh from January 15th to January 22d, seven days.

Mr. Fred A. Olds, is now local editor of the Raleigh Observer. He is already doing good work. Mr. J. W. Lancaster has become associated with the Wilkes Advertiser. He is a leading lawyer of his section.

Fayetteville Gazette: With the beginning of the new year the Graded School has never been in a more prosperous condition and the attendance is good. Goldsboro Mail: The Rev. H. F. Peeden, near Pine Level, had the misfortune to lose his dwelling-house by fire on Saturday night, while the family were at church. A little son of Mr. Montpelier Bizzell, who lives near Bentonsville, Johnston county, was burned to death last week.

Pittsboro Record: Deputy Collector L. B. Pennington, accompanied by Thomas Wright, made a raid near our village and captured about ten gallons of un-stamped whiskey and a man named Edward Johnson, who lives near Silk Hope, in Johnston county, was burned to death last week.

Bakersville Republican: Deputy Marshal Mark Handy, of Madison county, was shot last Monday while attempting to seize illicit distillers in the upper part of Linville township, near Linbeck's store. He had made the arrests, and had turned back to find a pistol that he had lost, when he was shot by some one concealed in a laurel thicket. The shot took effect in his shoulder, making a dangerous wound.

New Bern Democrat: The steamer New Bern, of the Old Dominion Line, sailed yesterday morning with a cargo of 600 bales of cotton, 350 barrels of naval stores, and a large number of packages of eggs, fish, etc. The steamer

OUTLINES.

The Fusionists in Maine are much dissatisfied at results, and they assert that Garcelon sold out to the enemy; it is confidently asserted that there was a plot to capture the State House on Saturday night; Republicans are urging Governor Davis to disperse the Fusionist government; Governor Smith, Fusionist, has issued a proclamation to the people of Maine, in which he sets forth his purposes; he claims his government to be the lawful one. Benjamin Conley recommended by President Hayes as postmaster of Atlanta, Ga. Louis Blanc, in the French Chamber of Deputies, insisted upon more freedom, such as is enjoyed in England and the United States. Terrible distress at Adrianople; fifteen persons found dead of hunger. M. Fournir, a high functionary of the War Ministry of France, blew out his brains. John Bright favors sending a commission to Ireland to sell farms of landlords to tenants who are willing to buy. The Secretary of the Navy recommends that the Peussoula Navy Yard be put in a state of efficiency, and requires $676,901 for the purpose. Mr. Bayard will speak on his resolution to-day. Mr. J. F. Phillips, the new Representative from Missouri, was sworn in yesterday. The Senate confirmed the nomination of James Russell Lowell as Minister to Great Britain, John W. Foster as Minister to Russia, and Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin, as Minister to Spain. It is thought that Wednesday will be the last day of the dual government in Maine; after hearing what the Supreme Court has to say the Republican Governor will enforce the dispersion of the Fusion government. The extensive job shop connected with the penitentiary at Fitchburg, L. I., was destroyed by fire; the building cost $100,000, and contained $350,000 worth of machinery and stock belonging to the Bay State Shoe Company. Purloiners of Quebec are threatened with aslashes from the cliff above the city, caused by recent heavy snow storms; and great consternation prevails. The Chief Justice of Maine has summoned his associates to consider the questions submitted by the Fusionists. The telephone was successfully worked at St. Louis a distance of 410 miles. Rev. Mr. Hayden, of Connecticut, charged with murder, was hanged yesterday in the sum of $5,000 and released. More witnesses were examined before the Senate Exodous Committee yesterday; one of them testified that the emigration was directed to Indiana because it was a doubtful State in the coming election; they were told that the Government wanted them to go there, and would pay them from one to two dollars per day. Cuba has been visited by severe earthquakes; at San Cristobal the public buildings are in ruins, and many persons were injured. The Berlin government intends to levy a tax on advertisements in newspapers. The property of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, at Philadelphia, has been seized to satisfy a claim of the United States Government, amounting to half a million dollars. It is understood that the British Government intends to proceed in the prosecution of all the sedition cases. A steamboat on the Mississippi, with 2,100 bales of cotton, has been destroyed by fire; eight lives were lost. An extra session of the South Carolina Legislature will meet in February; the Supreme Court of the State has declared the recent tax levy invalid. New York markets: Money 5/6 per cent; cotton quiet and steady at 12 1/2@12 3/4; Southern flour more active and steady at $3 50@7 75; wheat fairly active at 1 1/8@1 1/4; corn closed firm and quiet at 52@61; spirits turpentine dull at 42@42 1/2; resin quiet at 1 1/2@1 60.

More Ute Indians are coming to Washington.

Mrs. Chief Ouray is the reigning belle of Washington.

The prospect for large building operations in New York this spring is said to be most encouraging.

As soon as the "strong man" arrived at Havana there was a mighty earthquake. It was only a third term boom probably.

The latest New York estimate is that the Republican delegation to the National Convention will stand: Grant 62, Sherman 8.

Edison's stock has tumbled so low down that there are no bids and the price is nominal. Stock that sold at $3,500 will not fetch $1,000.

Carl Schurz and Fred Hassaurok have made up. They are the two leaders in the West of the Germans and are both opposed to Grant.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean has made many discoveries. Its greatest is its last—that Tim Howe, the able-bodied Senator from Wisconsin, is a very able man.

The Government is still after Mr. Tilden about that income tax business. The case is set for argument this week in the U. S. District Court of New York.
