WILMINGTON, N. C .:

SATURDAY MORNING, Jan. 31, 1880

We have been deterred from mentioning editorially the great railroad fight ,an account of which fills our leading Southern exchanges, because of the space that would be demanded to give an intelligent and full view of it. In order to understand the merits of the struggle our readers would have to be familiar with the many roads embraced in the fight, and besides have before them a railroad map with the route laid down before them.

The Louisville & Nashville Rail road has bought a controlling interest in the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad and its dependencies. The significancy of the purchase lies in the fact that these two roads have been competing for many years to get control of the trade of the South. The Columbia Register says:

"The first distinct move in the game was the purchase of the Southern or Kentucky link of the St. Louis & Southeastern Railroad between Nashville and Evansville, which had been a feeder of the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad in its St. Louis business, and thus made the Nashville & Chattanooga Road independent of the Louisville Railroad, its old feeder. This was a very natural and necessary movement on the part of the Louisville company, for with the St. Louis business turning one flank of Louisville on one side and the Cincinnati Southern on the other, the fair Falls City of the Ohio seemed to incur the risk of being stranded and left high and dry in the great struggle for Southern trade. The very necessities of Louisville, therefore, made her fight like a rat in a corner for a trade that naturally and geographically belonged to her. The Nashville & Chattanooga met the movement with broad and comprehensive counter-movement, and laid its plans for a grand scheme which should control the St. Louis and Northwestern trade from the Mississippi to the sea, from the lakes to the Gulf, and thus to make Nashville the controlling head cen-tre of the vast traffic."

Colonel Cole had charge of the last movement. There are other dependencies that come in. It is unnecessary to mention them as they would merely perplex the reader without a map. At one time it was thought certain Colonel Cole was master of the situation. The Register

"The lease of the Georgia Central and its dependencies from Atlanta to Savannah by Colonel Cole and his friends was the complete transaction by which the Nashville & Chattanooga, through its great head, Colonel Cole, gave its powerful rival the

But the "best laid plans, &c.," fail in railroads as in other things. In the meantime the Louisville & Nashville Company was busy in making purchases and forming combinations. It ourchased the South and North Alabama Railroad. It bought a majority of the stock in the Mobile & Montgomery Road, thus securing an uninterrupted line from Louisville to Mobile. Its next move was to buy the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railroad, running from New Albany, opposite Louisville, on the Ohio, to Michigan City, on Lake Michigan, some sixty miles south of Chicago.

could give. Finally the Louisville | road between Asheville and Wolf Creek, Road went to work to buy a controling interest in its rival. The Register

"Without the knowledge of the Nashville and Chattanooga parties, the Louisville parties had succeeded in getting enough of the stock of their rivals to give them a majority of the outstanding shares provided they could capture the holdings of one of these

It is not necessary to show how this was accomplished. It was a great stroke. The contract was made in New York, and was announced at the time by telegraph. The road thus purchased owned $6,500,000 of stock. If the other roads interested should confirm the sale, then, according to the New York Times, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad will have absolute control of 3,500 miles of railroad -"the largest aggregate under one management in the world." The Times

"The combination will include what may be denominated the Louisville & Nashville main line, from Louisville, Kentucky south to New Orleans, Louisiana, via Nash ville, Tennessee, and Decatur, Montgomery and Mobile, Alabama, with a small branch line from Pollard, Alabama, on the Mobile & Montgomery road, to Pensacola, Florida; the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road, from Louisville north, via Lafayette, Indiana, to Michigan City, on Lake Michigan, whence connection can be made to Chicago by way of the Michigan Central, Pittsburg & Fort Wayne and Grand Trunk routes, or by a new road sixty-five miles long; a branch of the Louisville & Nashville road, southwest only from Memphis Junction, Kentucky, to Memphis, Tennessee; the St. Louis & Southeastern road, southeasterly from St. Louis, Missouri, to Nashville, via Evansville, Indiana ennessee. the Nashville & Chattanooga Read, still southeasterly from Nashville, Tennessee, to Chattanooga, Tennessee; the Western & Atlantic Road, from Chattanooga, Tennessee, to Atlanta, Georgia; and the Georgia Central Road, from Atlanta to Savannah. via Macon, besides numerous minor branches. These will give an uninterrupted route from the fresh-water lakes to the Gulf on one hand, and from St. Louis to Savannah on the other. A complete monopoly of through Southern traffic will be secured; every outlet from Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia below Cincinnati, on the Ohio, and Memphis, on the Mississippi, will be controlled, and all

Whether or not the victory is complete remains to be seen. Col. Cole may still be able to make a fight. North Carolina has some interest in this battle of the magnates. It is not simply a great struggle between competing capitalists, but a fight in which States are interested. It is possible for Cole to form an alliance with the Cincinnati Southern. I this is done the victory may not be all on one side. The Augusta Chronicle says:

competing or other lines will be made purely local or contributary."

"There is no denying that the Western & Atlantic Road is still the key to the situation-Cole and his friends control that Suppose the Cincinnati Southern offers him what he has lost at Nashville? The Cincinnati Southern has four lines to Chicago and the lake region. Why not Col Cole get his alliance here, and in a month have a route from the Northwest to the ocean, without building a foot of road, as good as the one he has lost?"

While the Louisville & Nashville Road is thus forming its combina tions for the trade of the South and Southwest, it gives no consideration to the trade of North Carolina. Unless that road regards the trade of this State as important North Carolina must look to Chicago or Cincinnati, possibly to the latter, for an opening of a continuous line from Cincinnati to Wilmington.

THE PROPOSITION TO SELL THE W. N. C. RAILROAD.

The STAR has had nothing to say about the effort to buy the Western North Carolina Railroad by & Syndi cate represented by a Mr. Best, of New York. The papers of this State that have discussed the matter are considerably divided in opinion as to what ought to have been done. The proposition is stated to have been

"Mr. Best proposed that the Legislature should be called in extra session to transfer the road; that he and his associates would form a new corporation, with a capital stock of $4,000,000; that the new corpora tion should have power to mortgage the road to the extent of $12,500 per mile; that they should complete the French Broad branch by the first of July, 1881, and the Ducktown branch by the first day of July, 1885, that they should pay the interest on the mortgage of $85,000 now on the road after the first day of May, 1880, and, of course, the mortgage itself (for which the State is not bound); that they should give the State $850,000 of stock in the new corporation; that the State should furnish 500 convicts per annum until the first of July, 1885, to complete the road, the company paying nothing for said convicts except expenses in guarding, clothing,

We have, heretofore, withheld our hand in this controversy because we Address, Ludden & Bates, Southern Music had not the time to give the mat. House, Savannah, Ga. ter that matured consideration which was necessary to write understandingly about it. We desired to be governed by facts, and not by any selfish or narrow considerations.

The Charlotte Observer deprecates the sale of this road. It evidently regards such a procedure as fraught with many evil consequences. It takes this view, supposing the sale made to a Syndicate which would being a necessity, cannot be long delayed, and she will then be in a condition to turn this vast trade in the direction of her own seaports, and Charleston must come to North Carolina towns to buy her Western supplies. With this little link in unfriendly hands, with Norfolk on the north and Charleston on the south, and the Richmond & Danville Railroad a feeder to Richmond, would have a rough time of it."

Charlotte and other North Carolina towns If there is money for a Syndicate n the road there sought after, there ought to be profit for the State in the same road. From what examination we have been able to bestow upon the merits of the question, we have arrived at this decided conclusion: that the sale ought not to have been made, and that Gov. Jarvis deserves credit for his action in the matter. It would be a great blow to the interests of the larger portion of the State. Viewed in all its bearings, as far as we have been able to discover them, we can see no good and sufficient reasons for yielding to the Best offer, but we can see most satisfactory reasons for opposing it with all due emphasis and vigor.

We shall consider the matter of the road and the interests of the State under a new aspect in our next

THE COURTS.

The Warsaw Brief Mention, discussing the necessity for certain changes in the court system, thinks there should be four Superior Courts for each county yearly, except in the smaller counties for which three would answer. It is for abolishing all Inferior Courts, special proceedings before clerks, and all final jurisdiction of magistrates. In developing its plan it says:

"Let the county commissioners of each county decide how much time the criminal docket would probably consume each term, and let the parties and witnesses in civil causes be summoned for the day after; then if the State business was through the civil docket would be taken up, otherwise the State docket would be continued until dis position had been made of all the cases, then the civil causes would be taken up. If the State causes were disposed of before the day for civil causes, the judge would remain until that day and then proceed. The four terms would render it probable that civil causes would be reached by Wednesday or Thursday in most counties, and the parties and witnesses not being summoned until the day appointed, would be an immense saving to the people, while, if the State business was dispatched before the day, no one would be at any expense by the Judge waiting until that day."

It assumes throughout that the creation of more Judges and circuits is a necessity, and that by it the people would be very greatly benefited and money would be actually saved. Not being lawyers we do presume to speak from practical knowledge of the deficiencies of the courts. they are as is represented by the legal editors then some changes ought to be made and will be made sooner or later. The STAR will very cheerfully favor any changes in the judicial system by which the tax-payers are to be benefited and money actually saved. In the present system as far as the jurisdiction of the justices of the peace is concerned there ought to be changes made of a most radical

STATE CONTEMPORARIES

The election does not come off until November, and we are disposed to agree with those who are opposed to making our nominations at a very early day. August is ample time to hold the Convention. This will give two solid months for a canvass, and that is enough. A short, vigorous campaign we believe better than a long one, for enthusiasm is necessary, and you can't get that up and keep it up on a six months stretch.—Greensboro Patriot,

After the time of holding the National Democratic Convention is named, let our State Convention be called to assemble, It was thus made strong. The next move was a proposition from the other great rival road to consolidate.

The Louisville Read got possession of the Georgia Western. This gave it a shorter route than the rival road.

Synthology which would also be the power to dispose of the right to make all connecting links between Charleston and Knoxville, thus crippling, if not destroying, "the North Carolina enterprise":

North Carolina enterprise":

Bate Convention be called to assemble, just in time to give delegates good opportion in the field, and let the occasion be the ginning of an active, enthusiassic compaign. We may need all the advantages that a well planned, active campaign will give. We are likely to have opposition sufficient to arouse zeal, and inspire enthusiasm; but, it a shorter route than the rival road.

State holds her grip, the completion of the doubted.—Alamance Gleaner.

CURRENT COMMENT.

There is no more intolerable and unrepublican nonsense than the talk of the necessity or a "strong man" in the Presidential chair. It is the ury of distruct of American institutions. It is a cry welcome to those who despise a Republic and disbelieve in it. What we need is not the government of a strong man, but of a strong people, that is, of a people strong in their loyalty to law, strong in their faith in free popular institutions, strong to maintain every bulwark of liberty and the Republic which the experience of a century and the example of our best and wisest patriots have erected. Our government cannot be "stronger" than it is without ceasing to be a popular government. There is no necessity for the Republican party to make the only nomination which would arouse an indignant protest against the theory that any citizen is essential to the safety of the country, and that the soundest conservative rules and traditions must be overthrown in order to put the Executive power into his hands .- Harper's Weekly, Rep. - Mr. John Bright's suggestion for the relief of Ireland is not likely to take a practical form, nor would ts adoption be wholly desirable. Virtually the plan proposed by the Member from Birmingham is but a substitution during the next thirty-five years of an impersonal for a personal landlord; of the Crown for the individual proprietor; the payment of rent, instead of quarterly as at present, being meanwhile transformed into a long drawn out repayment of the purchase money. In some isolated cases this plan probably would work very well. Small farmers, having good farms and going about their work with energy, would be able to save enough out of their earnings to meet the demands of the government, and probably would succeed in Commonwealth Distribution Company paying off their debt in a period considerably short of the fixed limit. But in the majority of cases there is room for believing that the proposed scheme of relief would work more harm than good .- Phila. Times.

A Colored Duel.

Savannah enjoyed the sensation of duel last week between two colored men, both of whom were seriously and probably fatally wounded. It seems, avs the Morning News, that Tom Clark and Charles Houston, two colored men, between whom ill-feeling had long existed, met at the store, where a number of other negroes had gathered, and got to drinking. The old quarrel was renewed between Clark and Houston and the former, who had his gun with him, proposed that Houston, go and get his gun and they settle their difficulty by an exchange of shots. Houston, who resided in the neighborhood, bastened home, and, procuring his gun, returned to the scene. Ground was marked off and the combatants faced, when, without any further preliminaries, both fired simultaneously and both fell at the same time. The guns were heavily charged with buckshot. Clark was shot in the left side and breast, some of the shot, it is presumed, entering the lung. He was brought to the city and carried to the office of Dr. Chisholm, who examined his wound, and found it to be very serious, and he was sent to the colored infirmary. Houston, who received three or four shots in the body, two in the abdomen, was carried off by his friends, and was believed to be in a dying condition.

Edison's Latest Patent. | Washington Republican, 28th |

Among the patents issued yesterday was one to Thomas A. Edison for an electric lamp. The inventor claims that he has discovered an electric lamp for giving light by incandescence, consisting of a filament of carbon of high resistance secured to metallic wires. The combination of carbon filaments with a receiver made entirely of glass, and conductors passing through the glass, and from which receiver the air is exhausted; a carbon filament or strip coiled and connected to electric conductors so that only a portion of the surface of such carbon conductors shall be exposed for radiating light; a method of securing the platina contact-wires to the carbon filament and carbonizing the whole in a closed chamber. The application for the patent was filed on the 4th of No-

Prosperity in Mississippi.

The press of Mississippi, without exception, chronicle much prosperity throughout that State. The Vicks. burg Herald says: "Mississippi appears to be emerging from the gloom of a long depression into the brightness of a permanent prosperity. All the productions are bountiful, prices are good, old scores are being wiped out, and all the people feel that there is 'life in the old land yet.' A planter showed his books to a newspaper correspondent, in which, out of seventyfive names of tenants, share-workers and hirelings, but one had failed to pay his bills and have money ahead, and the reason he gave for the exception was that he had dabbled in politics last summer and lost his crop through sheer neglect."
