No cases for the Mayor's Court yesterday morning.

The storm signal has been flying for the past two days.

The new engine horses, purchased for the steamer "Little Giant," were subjected to a thorough trial on Monday, and it has finally been decided to keep them.

A storm of wind and rain raged here yesterday morning, between midnight and day. The rain fell in torrents and was accompanied by thunder and lightning.

A Sociable will be given this evening at Germania Hall, by the ladies of St. Thomas' Catholic Church. Dancing will be the order of the evening, and refreshments will be furnished at reasonable prices.

The street car track is being taken up. We suppose, of course, that the gap left in the Belgian pavement on Front street will be filled up as soon as possible, as it not only looks bad, but will prove annoying to drivers of vehicles.

We have been requested to state that religious services will be held this (Wednesday) evening, at half past 7 o'clock, at the Seaman's Bethel, on Dock street. The public, and particularly seamen, are invited to attend and participate in the exercises.

The beautiful opera of "Little Red Riding Hood," the rendition of which, under the management of the Misses Burr and James, took our people by storm on Friday evening last, is, as was stated in our last, to be repeated at the Opera House to-morrow (Thursday) night.

The following is the correspondence on the subject, which was crowded out of our last issue: WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 31st, 1880. Misses Burr and James, &c.

Ladies—The undersigned most respectfully congratulate you upon the extraordinary and well merited success of the entertainment given in the Opera House last evening under your direction for the benefit of St. John's Church, and have the honor to request that you will kindly arrange for a repetition of the Operetta for your own benefit, and in order that many persons who were unable to procure seats upon its recent rendition may share in the enjoyment of one of the most delightful entertainments ever offered to our community.

Very respectfully, D. G. WORTCH, F. M. MITCHELL, JOHN WILSON ATKINSON, NORTWOOD GILES, C. H. ROBINSON, D. R. MURCHISON, D. MACRAE, A. L. DRUMMETT, GEORGE W. KIDDER, JAMES SPRUNT.

Wilmington, Jan. 31st, 1880. GENTLEMEN—The kind and flattering compliment which you have extended to us in your note of to-day, in regard to the rendition of the Operetta of "Red Riding Hood," is gratifying to us in the highest degree.

We are sure that our first object was for the benefit and relief of the church, and our next to please our friends; if we have succeeded in both, as you have so kindly intimated, then at your request we will consent to a repetition of the Operetta, at a time which may be agreed upon by those desiring it.

With sincere thanks for your flattering notice of our poor endeavor, We are, very respectfully, Misses Burr & James. To Messrs. D. G. WORTCH, &c.

Col. McRae's Lecture To-night. We once more call attention to the fact, as a matter of form, that Col. D. K. McRae is to treat our citizens to another of his charming intellectual efforts at the Opera House this evening, for the benefit of the Wilmington Library Association.

Several hogs running at large on the streets, contrary to the ordinance made and provided, strayed into a private lot on Seventh street, yesterday, when a force dog on the premises seized one of the fat "porkers," inflicted a fatal wound upon him and then sucked his blood; while it was all that the owners of the canine could do to keep him from killing more of the hogs.

A dangerous place for hogs. My little medicine I would give to my baby, a mother said, speaking of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. At all drug stores, 25c.

The Lady of Lyons.

Miss Pomeroy concluded her engagement in Wilmington last night as Pauline in Bulwer's beautiful play, "The Lady of Lyons," and both herself and company appeared to much better advantage than on the evening previous.

The attendance was much larger than on the former occasion, and the satisfaction general and frequently attested by applause. The piece was much better suited to the capabilities of the Company than "As You Like It," and the representation on the whole far more than satisfactory.

Miss Pomeroy gave a spirited and pleasing rendition of Pauline, and well sustained previous opinions formed of her ability. Mr. Leake's splendid voice, under thorough control, was particularly effective, and the delivery of his lines charmed the listener. He is an actor of long experience and unquestioned talent.

The Company go hence to Charleston. — Brig Ellen Greaves, hence, arrived at Glasgow yesterday.

Barque Israel, Taslin, hence, arrived at Hamburg on the 31st ult.

Barque Irene, Siebert, hence, arrived at Glasgow on the 28th ult.

Schooner Emily H. Naylor, Fisher, from Belfast, Me., for this port, put into Norfolk on the 29th ult. with centre board broken.

Up to the time the Gov. Worth and Waselet Fayetteville Monday morning there had been no rain and no improvement in the river, which was very low.

The storm of Monday night and yesterday was very severe at the mouth of the river. Pilots who arrived from below report that the British schooner A. F. Randolph, nineteen days from Jamaica, and bound to this port to load lumber for the West Indies, went ashore during the night on what is known as "The Fingers," south-southwest from Bald Head light, and it was feared that she would go to pieces.

The pilot boat Rosa Scarborough, of Smithville, went ashore on Bald Head beach, and yesterday was reported high and dry. It was thought that if the weather moderated soon she would likely be gotten off all right, otherwise it was feared she would go to pieces.

The British barquentine Resolute, from Liverpool December 27th, and bound for this port, was discovered yesterday morning close into the breakers off Bald Head, with both anchors down and the seas breaking over her. It was thought that, as she held so long, and the ebb tide would soon set in, which would help her in hoisting up her anchors, that she might ride through the gale in safety.

In the meantime it was so rough that none of the boats could get out to the imperiled vessel. The bar was represented to be one sheet of breakers, and it was noticed that the Resolute was rolling to such an extent that her gunwales, and sometimes even her yardarms, would dip into the sea.
