"Two colored men who went from Wilson county, N. C., to Indiana, arrived here to-might on their way back home. They told Senator Ransom that they would rather ive one year in North Carolina than to live o be as old as giants out there. They had not seen but one nice place in Indiana, and hought the people the most unwelcome olks they ever saw. They are thoroughly nome-sick, and say there are hundreds there who want to get back, but have not the money. I asked if work was plentiful. No, indeed; said one. at Richmond, Va. A few nights age five rebbers were fired upon by the guard in Oakwood Cemetery.

Senator Ingalls's case is to come up this week. He is being overhauled, it will be remembered, for buying his way into the Senate. If guilty be should be expelled instanter.

Senator Davis, of West Virginia, will make his report in regard to Treasury discrepancies in a few days. He has been digging away for a long time, and it is to be hoped that he will be able to show up John Sherman in proper light. It seems to be generally accepted that the Treasury books are badly kept.

The Henderson Inter-State Commerce bill that passed the House Commerce Committee provides a Board of Inter-State Commissioners to be a bureau of the Interior Department. They are to supervise the business of all roads from one State into another and to any foreign country, and compel them to carry at reasonable rates. It prevents unjust discrimination and prohibits rebates and drawbacks, except such as are common to all. Penalties are prescribed for violations of the act. Its final passage is very doubtful,

Why people should spend such sums to get up the Mardi Gras display, and why so many people should go to so much expense to see it, is just what we do not care to understand. It is an exotic that ought not to flourish in this country. It is probably better adapted to New Orleans, which is the most cosmopolitan minds of our resders that the last Legislature cut down the levy for the taxes from twenty-nine and two-thirds to twenty-four cents, and then appropriated all the taxes on professions, trades, incomes, merchants and dealers in clears, and three-fourths of all the taxes collected from dealers in liquors, to the payment of the interest on the State debt. As a result the general fund will, for the year 1880, be much smaller than heretofore. play, and why so many people should Dictator Don Cameron is changing his tune a little bit in regard to Grant. Conkling says he is for Grant first, last and all the time; but Don talks differently. He is for him if he can be nominated on the first ballot, but otherwise his name will not be brought before the convention. In fact, he says that unless his friends still feel sure when the convention meets that he can be elected if nominated, his name will not be presented. As to the Harrisburg Convention, he says the endorsement of Grant would not have been attempted, in view of the shape things took for a period immediately preceding the convention, if it had not been necessary in order to prevent his (Cameron's) defeat. To avert this he had the help of quite a number of pronounced Blaine men among the delegates, who loyalty to himself in State affairs they placed before their support of any Presidential candidate. As to the nomination of Mr. Blaine he did not consider it expedient. This is given on the authority of the Baltimore American's Washington correspondent, who is a

as one of the street laborers, T. Moore, a white man, was at work clearing out the mud under one of the wooden gutter bridges on Wilmington street, the bridge, which was being held up on one side by two men, suddenly slipped from their grasp and fell on him. Moore's injuries were of a severe character. He was senseless for some time, and so badly bruised as to be helpless. — During 1879 there were issued from the office of the Secretary of State 365 land grants to various persons. The largest number issued in one county was in Watauga, where 43 were taken. Wilkes came next with 29, Macon 27, and Ashe 24.

- Oxford Free Lance: There are now 190 outside paupers on the county list, and it has cost $1,400 to support these for six months. — Mrs. Robards, who was for a number of years matron of the Orphan Asylum, has left that institution. There is a convict now at work upon the Oxford & Henderson Railroad who is seven feet four inches in height and pulls down the scales beyond 800 pounds. He is said to be from Buncombe county. --- A large and appreciative audience greeted Col. Wharton J. Green at the Court House on Tuesday night last to hear his Lecture en-titled "Revolution and Rebellion." It was an audience worthy of the distinguished Lecturer, worthy of the cause and worthy of the town. All came expecting a rich literary treat and none went away disapcointed in that respect.

- New Berne Nut Shell: Upon inquiry we learn from the Register of Deeds that about $80,000 in new bonds have been issued in exchange for the old bonds of the county. --- When Senator Vance was Governor he is reported to have said that the A. & N. Harmon, a native of Watauga county, was recently murdered in San Jose, California. - Mr. Harrison Sills, of Kernersville, was badly burned recently by dropping a bottle in the fire which contained half a pound of powder. -A few days ago revenue officers seized in Cleveland county, a wagon, two mules and harness, 70 gallens of whiskey and one box of tobacco, belonging to Peeler & Allen, R. E. Espie and R. E. Ellis, all of which will be confiscated to the government and is now advertised for sale. We understand the parties were arrested. - The indications now are that if Taylorsville builds a narrow-gauge railroad it will be to Mooresville, not to Statesville, as at first contemplated. — The old veteran, Capt. Spragins, is still sick at his home in Greensoro. - The general ticket agent of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad announces that hereafter round trip tickets to and from all stations on the road will be on sale at all stations on Saturdays, good to return the following Monday. A single fare for the round trip will be charged for these tickets. It is learned from a prominent gentleman, who was present at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Western North Carolina Railroad, in Raleigh, that the calling of the special session of the Legislature is by no means yet settled in the negative. Gov. Jarvis, though still undecided, is yet very much inclined to the session, and feels that in calling it he would have ample support in the voice of our delegation in Congress, and the division on the question before the Board. —A revenue storekeeper in Montgomery county, who refused to let a young man have as much beer as he could drink, was shot by the latter, the ball entering his cheek and carrying away several teeth. Mayor's Court.

The first case called yesterday morning was that of Lewis Larkins, colored, charged with cursing and acting disorderly on the streets in the neighborhood of Fourth and Harnett streets, on Saturday night last, about half-past 9 o'clock. Defendant was ordered to pay a fine of $5 or go below for

W. H. Blackburn, colored, was arraigned on the charge of larceny. The evidence was to the effect that one Dancan Holder, colored, went to a stail in the market house to buy a piece of meat, about 9 o'clock Saturday night; that the meat came to 30 cents, and Holder presented a five dollar bill, from which to take the money that Lewis Hicks, colored, who was in charge of the stall, said he couldn't change the bill to get the thirty cents from it, when the defendant, Blackburn, who was standing by, proffered to take the bill over to Mr. Dawson's and get it changed. It was entrusted to him for that purpose, and Blackburn never came back with the money. A search was made for him and he was found at a store in the southern part of the city. He was then enticed down the street, and finally, about 12 o'clock that night, turned over to officer Howland, of the police force, who lodged him in the guard house. He confessed that he had spent three dollars of the money for a pair of shoes which he then had on his feet, and upon being searched only four cents in money was found on his person. Blackburn, who had nothing to say for himself, was ordered to give a justified bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

Mr. Reuben Grant, an aged citizen of Wilmington, died very suddenly at his residence, in the southern part of the city, on Saturday night last. He had been very feeble for some time past, being troubled with asthma, but on the afternoon before his death, we learn, he took a long walk, visiting his son in Brooklyn. The same night, about 11 o'clock, he was sitting in his chair, when his wife noticed that his head was inclined to one side, and upon hastening to his side she found that he was dying. He lived but a few minutes afterwards. Mr. Grant had for a long time been a member of the Fifth Street M. E. Church, where his funeral was preached by the pastor, Rev. T. Page Ricaud, yesterday morning, the remains being subsequently taken to Wrightsville Sound for interment.
