President of the University, will, by invitation deliver a lecture at Wilson on Wednesday evening next. His subject will be "The History of the University." The exterior of the new Catholic church extension, on McDowell street, is finished. -General Johnstone Jones arrived in the city yesterday. He is still on crutches, but hopes to be able to dispense with them in a month, at most. - President Gray, of the C. F. & Y. Railroad, says, according to the Raleigh Observer: . "The length of the line from the Gulf, in Chatham county, to Greensboro, is fifty-one miles. Of this thirty miles are graded. From Greensboro the line to Mt Airy, in Surry county, is sixty-six miles in length. The engineers are now locating this portion of the line, and work on it will begin about April 1. Mr. Gray is promised the one hundred convicts now on the Oxford & Henderson Road, which will be finished in about a month, it is expected. There are at present two hundred and fifty convicts at work on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Road, and these are all on the branch from the Gulf to Greensboro. It is expected that the twenty-one miles will be graded by September 1, and that then the

It is now thought that Congress will not adjourn till July 1st. "We told you so." All the talk about an early adjournment, by April at farthest, was all bosh. But our extra session will adjourn in ten days. May be.

Rev. James H. Holmes, colored, has sued the Richmond Commonscealth for damages done his charac ter. That paper bears the matter resignedly and says:

"Those two well known and able members of the Richmond bar, Messra. W. C. Roane and Ro. Peel Brooks, have been retained for the defence, and will doubtless be able to make the wool fly at the proper moment.

Concerning Senator Bailey's bill providing for the distribution of lands among the several States for educational purposes, the Richmond .State's Washington special says :

"Senators Hoar, Morrill and Barnside, Republicans, have declared themselves in favor of it, and there is a good prospect of tits passage. Upon the proposed basis of distribution of the money the Southern States would receive the greater portion of It.

Mr. Edward J. Hale writes to Hale's Weekly from New York that persons going North "can save $4.50 by buying a ticket only to Portsmouth and then one to this city. A friend who has recently come over that route saved $9 for his own and his wife's passage. This arises from the competition between rival lines at Portsmouth."

It is thought in Washington that filden is not only in the race but sthat he has considerable strength. "Concerning rumors that he is not a «candidate, the Richmond Commonmealth's correspondent from Wash ington writes on the 28th:

"Those people who put Mr. Tilden out of the race may take rank with the Blaine and Sherman men, who, up to the other day, insisted that Grant had no idea of running, and now say that he won't take it unless he gets it unanimously."

That Trunk. We learn that the trunk found Saturday night, to which reference was made in Sunday's STAR, proved to be the property of Mr. E. S. Knight, residing at the corner of Hanover and Seventh streets, having been stolen between 7 and 8 o'clock, and stripped of its contents, including overcoat, pants illiams and Woebse. and Mr. E. B. Allen. a son of Policeman Allen, who had responded to the cries of help, while they went home to dress. In or near this alley the prisoner was finally brought to bay, and was immediately seized by Mr. Allen, followed by the policemen, who took him to the guard house.

Mr. Davis said the moon was shining very bright when the pursuit was commenced, and he thinks it was a little before daybreak. The bag of money which was found on the person of the prisoner when he was arrested was produced in Court. He identified the bag, and stated before it was opened that he noticed when counting it Saturday night that there were in the lot of specie one silver dollar and seven halves, and the number in the bag corresponded. He spoke of an old copper coin, and that was found and identified; also of a number of old three-cent pieces, which were separate from the rest, being wrapped up in a piece of cloth; also a smooth shilling, which was among the pieces taken from the drawer, which was identified. Witness also recognized a match case found on the person of the prisoner. Mr. Davis found a chisel near the gate, and his pants in a corner of the fence, together with an axe belonging to a neighbor. The door was prized open with a chisel, the prints of which could be seen all along the edges of the shutter and door-facing. There were also signs of an attempt to prize open the window. The door, which opened on the outside, was fastened with a bolt, and was also hooked at the bottom.

The prisoner, upon being told that he could question the witness, and warned by his Honor and the Solicitor not to say anything that might be used against him" self, persisted in making a statement, which, taken altogether, was not calculated to help him any. He acknowledged that he had on no shoes at the time he was arrested, and said that he tore them to pieces in jumping fences. He spun out a long story about passing Mr. Davis' house and finding a pair of shoes hanging over the fence, in one of which he found the money that Mr. Davis came out of the door and said something about shooting, when he became frightened and ran off, carrying the bag of money with him.

Mr. William Turley, an inmate of Mr. Davis' house, and who assisted in the pursuit, testified, but no new facts of importance were elicited.

Policeman Williams heard the call for police about a quarter to 6 o'clock, saw the prisoner jumping a fence, and gave chase from Fillyaw's store, following up the pursuit until the prisoner was captured, when he helped to take him to the guard house. He found on his person a shoe, a match
