GLUCOSE SUGAR.

A communication in the New York Herald directs attention to the deleterious elements of glucose sugar, and the danger with which it threatens the public. It is insisted that every household in the land is interested in this matter. It is contended that there is a very great difference between cane sugar and glucose sugar. The latter is made from the grape by the aid of sulphuric acid, and 1s, therefore, considered neither pure nor wholesome. The Herald article savs:

"Small as has been the proportion of this sugar used its effects have been sufficiently marked to arrest the attention of many of our sagacious physicians, who have already sounded their warnings against its use. They have told us that the fearful increase of that deadly disease, which was rarely heard of until glucose sugar made its appearance (Bright's disease of the kidneys), is due to the impurities that insidiously lurk in glucose sugar. Professor Kidder the celebrated chemist of the Michigan Agricultural College, announces that 'of 17 samples of table syrup recently examined by him fifteen proved to be made of glucose, one of which contained 141 grains of oil of vitriol and 724 grains of lime to the gallon. Another, which had caused serious sickness to an entire family known to him, contained 72 grains of oil of vitriol, 28 grains of copperas and 363 grains of lime to the gallon. "If these are facts then the mixture of glucose sugar with anything is adulteration, and a villainous one at that. It is a dangerous economy to pay a higher price for an article possessing these deleterious elements, and a stupid one to purchase ten pounds for the sweetening that is contained in six of pure cane sugar.'

Housekeepers should endeavor to provide themselves with pure, unadulterated articles of food. It is very difficult, we grant, to do this, for in this time of humbuggery and fraud almost everything is subjected to the plastic hand of adulterators and deceivers.

We noted recently the unfavorable effects produced upon the English

Lincoln as a Southerner.

From Walt Whitman's Philadelphia Lecture, April 15.] How often since that dark and dripping Saturday-that chilly April day, now fifteen years bygone-my heart has entertained the dream, the wish, to give of Abraham Lincoln's death its own special thought and memorial. Yet now the sought-for opportunity offers, I find my notes inompetent (why, for truly profound themes, is statement so idle? why does the right phrase never offer ?) and the fit tribute I dreamed of waits unprepared as ever. My talk here, indeed, is less because of itself or anything in it, and nearly altogether because I feel a desire, apart from any talk, to specify the day, the martyrdom. It is for this, my friends, I have called you together. Oft as the rolling years bring back this hour, let it again however briefly be dwelt upon. For my own part, I hope and intend, till my own dying day, whenever the 14th or 15th of April comes, to annually gather a few friends and hold its tragic reminiscence. No narrow or sectional reminiscence. It belongs to these States in their entirety-not the North only, but the South-perhaps belong most tenderly and de-voutly to the South of all; for there, really, this man's birth-stock. There and thence his antecedent stamp. Why should I not say that thence his manliest traits-his universality -his canny, easy ways and words pon the surface-his inflexible determination and courage at heart? Have you never realized it, my friends, that Lincoln, though grafted on the West, is essentially, in personnel and character, a Southern contribution?

Democratic State Convention-Permanent Organization-Report of the Committee on Credentiais-Harmony Restored-Arraigament of the Fraudulent Republican Par-Itself, &c.

The Special Committee, on Credentials shortly made a report through Mr. Dill. The Committee reported that the decisions had been arrived at unanimously in each case, and in the case of the contest in Philadelphia, while the Vaux delegation admitted that the McGowan delegates were regularly elected under the established rules of the party, yet, for the sake of hav-ing a united party in Philadelphis, both sldes were anxious to secure harmony and concerted action. The Committee will therefore meet in Philadelphis at some fu-ture day and make such for the organization of the Democracy in Philadelphia as in their judgment may be rendered necessary. They will determine what a regular organization shall be, and how it is to be made up. Each delegation is to be admitted to seats in this Convention, and each delega-tion to cast one-half of one vote through its chairman. The report was then adopted and the roll of delegates called. At the conclusion of the roll call R. E.

Monaghan nominated A. H. Dill for temporary chairman. He was unanimously elected: Mr. Dill made no speech.

It was resolved that the order of business shall be as follows: The appointment of committees on Organization and Resolutions, all resolutions to be referred to the latter without debate; the election of delegates at large and of electors at large; nominations for Judge of the Supreme Court and Auditor General and the appointment of representatives, delegates, electors and members of the State Central Committee. After the appointment of the committees on Resolutions and Organization and before proceeding with the regular order of work. R. E. Monaghan was nominated and unani-

That wise and good statesman, Gov. Seymour, seems to be the choice of a majority of the Democratic party for nominee of that party for President. With Gov. Seymour at the head of the ticket, supplemented by the influence of such a gentle man as Gov. ty-Old Time Democracy Asserting | No sales up to the close of our report. (By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] HARRISBURG, April 29.-The Democratic Convention was called to order at half-past

The STAR mentioned that Grant was unfavorable to negro suffrage. It is known that John Russell Young, a distinguished journalist, accompanied Grant in his foreign travels and has published a work entitled "Around the World with Gen. Grant." In this book he gives many long conversations held with Gen. Grant on political topics. He is reported as talking after this sort upon the subject of "Reconstruction":

"Military rule would have been just to all-to the negro, who wanted freedom ; the white man, who wanted protection; and the Northern man, who wanted union. As State after State showed a willingness to come into the Union, not on their own terms, but upon ours, I would have ad-mitted them. This would have made universal suffrage unnecessary; and I think a mistake was made about suffrage. It was unjust to the negro to throw upon him the responsibility of citizenship and expect him to be on even terms with his white neighbor. It was unjust to the North. In giving the South negro suffrage we have given the old slave-holders forty votes."

The Republican party is very sick of their policy. They thought that by using the negro "as dumb driven cattle" that they could forever control them and through them the South. It was their purpose to continue in office indefinitely by bamboozling the uneducated and undisciplined negro recently made a freeman. They are disappointed, and now they are resorting to other methods not more creditable to regain power. But more of this hereafter. We believe Grant is honest in what he says. We believe so for this reason: the writer of this asked him in November, 1865, what the Northern people proposed to do with the negro in regard to voting. He was then a Democrat. We remember distinctly his reply, and it was this: "I will tell you what I heard Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, say recently. Said that gentleman, if the Republican party give the right of suffrage to the negro the Democrats will carry majority." Grant was evideetly opposed to it then.

voters by the advocacy of the Beaconsfield Ministry of German and Austrian Government organs. The English did not relish such advocacy. The following from the New York Sun tells how the great Tory organ of England regards the approaching election in this country. The Sun says:

"The London Zimes is out for Grant for the next President of the United States. Why should it not be? The 2 imes is the leading royal and imperial journal of the world. Why should it not be in favor of the anti Democratic-the imperial-candidate for President of this country ? It seems a little odd that just as the Liberals are coming into power in England, the limes should be trying to establish imperialism here. The American people will isappoint that hope."

The essay of Judge Black in the North American Review for May is one of the most vigorous papers we ever read. It is caustic but fair, and is an overwhelming reply to Mr. Boutwell on the third-term heresy. It will prove a tremendous campaign document if Grant is the Republican nominee, as he will probably be. Judge Black is very famous as a political controversialist, and he has easily demolished the ablest men he has met in discussion. He has rarely written with more elegance, power and felicity than in the paper referred to.

We have received through Mr. Heinsberger the fifth number of the Humboldt Library of Popular Scientfic Literature, viz : Mr. Herbert Spencer's treatise on "Education, Intellectual, Moral, and Physical," a work of which the Rev. Dr. Hill, President of Harvard College, says : "It contains more good sense than any book on education we have seen." Price 15 cents. The type 18 clear, paper good. It resembles one of Harper's Franklin Library series.

The Ohio Republican Convention has instructed its delegates to vote Pennsylvania by a hundred thousand for John Sherman. The Connecticut Democrats do not instruct, but it is understood that a majority of the delegates are for Samuel J. Tilden.

Silk Culture In China.

[Rev. Dr. Yates in Biblical Recorder.] When I was in France, a few years ago, one of the French savans called on me at Lyons to ascertain, if possible, how it was that the Chinese managed to keep their silk worms free from disease. And when I related the above facts in regard to tertilizers he exclaimed, Eureka.

The earth removed, in excavating these numerous canals, has given the country along their borders the appearance of a slight undulation. In certain localities, known as the silk districts, the earth has been placed in square blocks or bedsthree or four feet above the level of the interspersed rice fields. Upon these beds the mulberry trees, for silk culture are grown. In this culture the ordure of no animal is allowed to be used as a fertilizer, for it is supposed that silk worms fed on leaves thus fertilized are hable to epidemics. The only fertilizer allowed is a thick coating of compost made of clover or grass, and the mud taken from the bottom of canals, by means of an ingeniously contrived grapple that enables the operator to bring it up through six or more feet

- Gen. Andrew Jackson, a few days before his death, sent for Mr. Mc-Combs, a Nashville undertaker, and said to him coolly: "I have seat for you to give you some instructions about my funeral." Then, says McCombs in a recent letter, "as calmly as he would discuss the most ordi nary business matter, he gave the most minute instructions relative to it." A' few days after the General was laid quietly to rest at the Hermitage.

fundamental principles proclaimed and practiced by the illustrious men who setled our free institutions and founded the Democratic party to protect and preserve

Second, That the just powers of the Federal Union, the rights of the States, and the liberties of the people are the vital parts of one harmonious system, and to save each part in its whole constitutional vigor s to "save the life of the nation."

Third, That the Democratic party maintains, as it ever has maintained, that the military are and ought to be in all things subordinate to the civil authorities; it denies, as it ever has denied, the right of the Federal administration to keep on foot at the general expense a standing army to invade the States for political purposes, without regard to constitutional restrictions, to control the people at the polls, to protect and encourage fraudulent counts of votes, or to inaugurate candidates rejected by the majority.

Fourth, That the right to a free ballot is the right preservative of all rights, and the only means of peacefully redressing grievances and reforming abuses. The presence at the polls of a regular military force and of a host of hireling officials claiming the power to arrest and imprison citizens without warrant or hearing, destroys all freedom of elections and upturns the very foundation of self-government. We call upon all good citizens to aid us in preserving the democratic institutions from destruction by these imperial methods of supervising the right of suffrage and cocreing the popular will; in keeping the way to the ballot-box open and free, as it was to our fathers; in removing the army to a safe distance when the people assemble to express their sovereign pleasure at the polls, and in securing obedience to their will when legally expressed by their votes.

Fifth. That Rutherford B. Hayes, having been placed in power against the well known and legally expressed will of the people, is the representative of a conspiracy only, and his claim of right to surround the ballot-boxes with troops and deputy marshals to intimidate and obstruct electors, and his unprecedented use of the veto to maintain this is an insult and menace to the country.

Sixth, That the Democratic party, as of old, favors the constitutional currency of gold and silver, and of paper convertible nto coin.
