Virginia is set down for $326,000 for its share of the River and Harbor

Gen. Gordon's speech is said have been the most successful at Winchester.

The last from Massachusetts that eight Republican delegates will vote for Grant.

There is good news from Ireland as to the prospects of a good crop. The sufferings are nearly ended.

Senator Vest, of Missouri, is credited with having made the best speech thus far in the Kellogg case. He was listened to with marked attention.

It is difficult to say what course the Democrats will pursue as to the Deficiency bill. Some say it will be acted upon separately. That is what llayes wants.

I'om Keogh is talking again. This time he is reported in the Cincinnati Commercial as admitting that Grant cannot be nominated if the unit rule is broken. "Is that an earthquake

It is thought in Washington that several Democratic Senators will yote with the Republicans on the Kellogg case-that it has been already adjudicated. L. Q. W. thinks there will be as many as six or seven.

A great rush for Europe has set in. Every steamer from New York is crowded, and it is estimated that 30,-000 will sail from that port alone. There is so much money they do not know how to spend it at home.

Here is Vance's description of the old, dilapidated bloody shirt: "A tanner not emblazoned with the stars and stripes, or its colors of any other na ture, a lion rampant or a bear couchant, out a shirt flippant, floppant."

This 18 what he said in his recent speech in the Senate.

Tilden's friends in New York are offering to bet any amount that he will be nominated at Cincinnati. Tilden's State Committee were to have met in New York on the 5th. The anti-Tilden meet at Albany on to-

On the 4th inst. the United States Senate was presided over by colored Senator Bruce. If he is nominated by the Republicans as Vice President and should be elected, the Senate will have him "to rule over them" for four years to come.

The latest from Washington concerning the veto is to this effect, as stated by the correspondent of the Richmond Disputch: "The veto has not in the slightest dis-turbed the equanimity of the Democrats, who will right away introduce a bill in the Senate containing nothing but the rider in regard to the deputy marshals, which the President has disapproved. This is to be pushed through the Senate with all possible haste and sent to the House. In the mean-while the Deficiency bill is to be let severely alone until it is seen what Mr. Hayes will do in regard to the deputy marshals' bill.',

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XXVI.--NO. 40.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1880.

Dublin showed its appreciation of American benevolence. On the 4th ball was given in honor of the Constellation at the Mansion House. It was a regal entertainment. The American and Irish flags were interwined. The freedom of the city was granted to Captain Potter.

There is news from Pennsylvania. Mr. Moses P. Handy, of the Philadelphia Times, formerly the editor of the Richmond Enquirer, is in Washington. He says the anti-Grant element in the Republican delegation s stronger than is supposed, and that Tilden cannot get a majority of the Democratic delegation under any Vance made a decided hit but he was a little too funny for the grave body he addressed. So we judge from the comments. The Richmond State's special says:

"Senator Vance's speech on the Spofford-Kellogg case is pronounced to be a very able and exhaustive argument and searching review of the salient points, but much of it quite below the standard of dignity usual in senatorial speeches.'

Vance overflows with humor and fun, and Senatorial dikes cannot hem it in. It will have its way and will break over all obstructions.

Hayes is the deadest fraud of a fraudulent age. His last veto only excites unmitigated contempt. He is too much for the moderately decent. Republican stomach. "Bildad" writes from Washington to the Richmond State on the 3d inst:

"Almost at the same moment he vetoed one bill because it contained a political rider and approved another containing a rider more objectionable as a so-called invasion of the prerogatives of the President. Even the Stalwarts could not squeeze out enough enthusiasm to applaud the message when read by the Clerk—a height of partisan fervor they have never failed to attain on any similar occasion for years. It fell flat, and was consigned to the Appropriations Committee for consideration, while the bill it murdered in cold blood was laid upon the table without a vote upon its pas-

The Dr. Samuel Choppin, whose death was announced by telegraph, was the distinguished surgeon who was in Wilmington during the yellow fever time in 1862, and rendered such efficient service. The Richmond State says of him:

"Dr. C. was a native of New Orleans, and descended from a distinguished French family, noted as far back as Henry of Navarre, in French history. He studied medicine in New Orleans, and passed through a regular surgical course in the hospitals of Paris. At the breaking out of the war he reft a large practice in his native city to ake the position of chief surgeon on the et iff of his personal friend, General Bean-fegard, and throughout the whole war was attached to the fortunes of that commander. Since peace he has been following his profession, in which he stood deservedly very high. For some years past, since 1874, up to a month ago, he had been the President of the Board of Health of New Or-

The STAR noted during the extra session the marked ability of the Kentucky delegation-doubtless the strongest from the South, take it all and in all. L. Q. W., in the Richmond Commonwealth, thus refers to the Kentuckians:

"Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, is one of the most magnetic popular orators in the country. He is a natural talker and speaker, catches readily the best thought of his party, and translates it into vigorous Saxon with a fluency and ring that are well worthy the traditional reputation of the old Ashland district represented in the past by Clay, Beck, Marshall and Breckinridge. Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, is an able speaker, a clese, concise reasoner, a thorough lawyer, and I think carries more weight when he speaks than any other man in the House of either party. Mr. Knott is a clear, logical reasoner, and when he pleases, is an unrivalled humorist. Of Mr. Beck I need hardly say that his speeches fairly bristle with facts and a sledge-hammer style of logic, not ornate, it is true, but very diffi-

He also refers to Mr. McKensie, who made an admirable speech a few days ago on the tariff. The able and brilliant Vest is a Kentuckian.

- Winston Leader: Col. Yates has completed the survey of the Virginia Midland to this place. The route from Walnut Cove, we learn, is very propitious -little grading necessary. The Colonel and his corps are now in camp near town. It is probably that he will next survey from here to Mooresville—go over the line of the W. S. M. The best of feeling prevails among our people, and we have every assurance that the road will be completed. - Piedmont Warehouse sold last week, three grades of tobacco for James Scales, of Forsyth county, at the following figures: $61 00, $64 00 and $72 00, making an

- Charlotte Observer: A meeting of the general passenger agents of Southern railroads was held at the Central Hotel in this city yesterday for the purpose of agreeing upon the rate of summer excursion tickets for the present season. The following general passenger agents were present: W. J. Houston, of the Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line; G. P. Erwin, of the Western North Carelina; J. J. Gormly, of the Atlantic, Tennessee, & Ohio J. R. McMurdo, of the Richmond & Danville; S.C. Boylston, of the Savannah & Charleston; P. L. Cleapor, of the North Eastern; D. C. Allen, of the South Carolina; T. M. Emmerson, of the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta; F. W. Clark, of the Carolina Central. It is understood that the meeting generally favored low passenger rates.

- Oxford Torchlight: Mr. Mills told us last Sunday that 60 of the children at the Asylum were down with the measles. and that 40 were just convalescent. Work has commenced on the Oxford Female Academy. It will be ready for Prof. Hobgood's fall session. —The wheat crop of Granville is generally good. A first-class boot and shoe-maker would find Oxford a desirable place to locate. — From present signs the Granville delegation will support Judge Fowle for Governor. -Several of our citizens have purchased car-loads of ice. - The following secret organizations seem to be in a flourishing condition in Oxford: Masonic, Knights of Honor, Odd Fellows and Good Templars. We learn that steps are being taken to organize a lodge of Knights of Pythias also.

- Pittsboro Record: The many friends of Hon. John M. Moring will regret to learn that he is still confined to his bed with rheumatism. — Last Monday was the day appointed by law for holding the annual election of Mayor and Commissioners of this town, but to the surprise of every one no election was held, - Mr. O. S. Poe, of this place, has a cow that is indeed valuable. She gives every day between five and six gallons of rich milk. - We congratulate the people of Western Chatham upon the prospect of soon having the railroad completed through their midst.— We have always regarded the battle of Alamance as a most unfortunate affair, for many of the men who then fought each other united together a few years later in battling for American Independence, so that true patriots and good men were engaged on both sides.

RIVER AND MARINE.

- An unknown barque was reported off the bar yesterday, bound in.

- The Danish brig Second of April, Capt. Sorensen, which has arrived in below, reports having spoken, on the 21st of March, in South latitude 0. 4, longitude 24.41.45, an American barque showing signal letters JNVA, also a German brig, showing signal letters N D TF, from Cardiff to Corhumbo, South Africa. All well.

- We learn from Capt. Harper, of the Government steamer Woodbury, that a small corn schooner went outside a few days ago, when, being unable to proceed in consequence of contrary winds, she put in at New Inlet Bar and anchored in the bight near the rock wall, as the Russian schooner Catharine Marie had done before her. Here, on Tuesday evening last, a considerable gale of wind found her, and fearful that during the night, which threatened to be a very stormy one, his pose to honor their son of adoption, craft might be dashed to pieces and all can the people among whom he was hands perish, the Captain actually sought to shoulder, for four years, and for whom out a place on the rock wall, where the he has undying regard, detract from the water, at high tide, was washing over it in glory of his distinction by withholding a shallow stream, and, with all sails set, which is due a worthy son. We cannot ing to seek safer anchorage on the inside. The little schooner dashed forward towards the formidable obstruction, as if, imbued with the instincts of life, and scenting the danger which threatened, she meant to make a wild leap across the intervening space. In reality, however, the bows of the schooner were thrown high up on the rocky surface, and but for the assistance of the government steam-tug Jas. 7. Easton, Captain Williams, which threw her a line and finally succeeded in towing her across the wall of rock, she might have been in a much worse predicament than if she had remained at anchor in the bay, where she would have been in comparative safe quarters, even though the storm had been as severe as it had threatened. Legal or Illegal. -

For the information of the public generally, and especially of our Smithville friends, who voted on the "wet" and "dry" question on Monday last, and among whom there is a difference of opinion as to the legality of the said election, we give the result of our examination into the subject as

Section one, of chapter 138, Laws of 1873-74, provides that it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners of any county, upon petition of one-fourth of the qualified voters of any township in their respective counties, to order an election to be held on the first Monday in May in every year, to ascertain whether or not spirituous liquors shall or may be sold in said township or

MAJ. CHARLES M. STEDMAN.

Next to a man from home, Cumberland ounty prefers a representative in Congress who is interested in her welfare and identified with her people. Such is the sentiment expressed by the leading men of our party. Therefore, in the humble opinion of the Banner, the gentleman whose name heads this article is that man. Maj. Stedman is a native of Fayetteville—was reared here until he arrived at young manhood, when he emigrated to our sister city by the sea, leaving his father a leading business man of the town and his brothers to grow up under her fostering care. Here have since resided all these members of his household around whom the tenderest ties of his affection and memory have been entwined. He is virtually one of our own voung men.

During his four years course in the University of North Carolina, Major Stedman won first distinction in every study—was elected Valedictorian of the Philanthropic Society, but relinquished the honor to join the Fayetteville Light Infantry, and entered the army as a private. He became one of the most trusted officers of McRaes' celebrated brigade, and an especial favorite of the brilliant commander of that splendid organization. His career in the army was stainless. After the war, he went to Wilmington, without money and without friends, and began the practice of his chosen profession—he now has the largest law practice of any lawyer in eastern North in his nomination. Major Stedman regards Wilmington as his adopted home, but can the charge be sustained against him that he has forsaken or can ever forget the scenes of his birth and childhood and the friends of his youth, and do aught that would damage their interests or reflect dishonor upon them ? Maj. Stedman was accepted by the people of Wilmington when a poor young man, recognizing in him the elements of true manliness-those brilliant talents which have since elevated him to positions of trust and emoluments, and which have won for him golden opinions and secured him a place in the esteem of his fellow-citizens second to none. Now his friends proborn, with whom he fought, shoulder to accept the compliment which the greatest part of the district is eager to bestow upon her, in the nomination of one of her native and to the manor born citizens.

We do not feel authorized to pledge Cumberland county to the support of Major Stedman, but, without meaning to disparage the claims of other aspirants, we think her support is due him; and we hope the delegation elected by our County Convention will give him the preference.

Again, Maj. Stedman should be supported because to his efforts and influence, in a great measure, is attributable the successive triumphs of Col. Waddell. 'Tis true, two years ago his friends introduced his claims for the nomination, but when he discovered that the friends of Col. Waddell desired to honor him again, Maj. Stedman, with deference to Col. W. and to his friends, and to perpetuate harmony in our ranks, withdrew his claims, and refused to allow his name to go before the Congressional Convention. Then, as he had persistently done on previous ocasions, he exercised his unbounded influence in a variety of ways to render the election of Col. Vaddell inevitable. At this time, therefore, we think the friends and admirers of Waddeli would display a wonderful lack of gratitude to refuse to support him, the man who so strenuously labored and who so lavishly expended his means to enhance the interests and to secure the election of the favorite candidate. Major Stedman is a true man, an uncompromising Democrat; one whose record is unsullied, and whose character cannot be impeached. He is an able man, an eloquent man, and a representative man in the strictest sense of the term—as such he would reflect honor upon his constituency and be of incalculable benefit to the material interests of the District he represents. He is, also, an available man—he will come into the Convention with the influence and support of New Hanover, Pender, Columbus, Brunswick and Bladen. If Cumberland will combine her strength he will receive the nomination on the first or second Pettean Visitors.

A flock of pelicans, very rare visitors along our coast, was sighted about two miles outside the main bar a few days ago. At first they were taken for the wreck of some vessel and various other suggestions were ventured in regard to them, when it was finally determined to go near enough to solve the mystery. There were about twenty-five or thirty in the flock, and they kept very close together.

A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administrated to the child. with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still werse, and while contemplating another sleep-less night, the mother stepped from the roem to attend to some demestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended with the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
