the following points were adopted: For opening a ship canal across Charleston Neck, S. C.; for the opening of steamboat communication from St. John's river, Fla., by way of Topokalija lake, to Charlotte Harbor, or Pease Creek, or Pocoson river, N. C.

propriation for improving Mobile harbor from $125,000 to $200,000, and spoke in support of the amendment, urging the importance of that harbor, not only to Alabama, but the whole country.

Mr. Withers hoped the Senators would stand by the bill as reported, and not let it

Mr. Brown moved to increase the appropriation for the improvement of Savannah harbor from $65,000 to $100,000. He spoke of the advantage of that harbor to the whole country, as affording a nearer outlet for its products to the seaboard, and appealed to Senators from all sections to join in the effort of Georgia to build up her flourishing commercial, manufacturing, agricultural and mining industries. Mr. Brown's first speech was listened to with

Mr. Blaine said the Senator from Georgia had convinced him of the justice of his amendment, and he should vote for it without thereby seeking to violate any understanding that the bill as reported was to be adhered to.

Mr. Beck spoke against the bill as a whole, saying the Democrats were making a poor showing for economy by appropriating nine or ten millions, when the department only estimated for five millions. He favored improving the great harbors, and might vote for Mr. Brown's amendment, but the bill in other directions was extravagant and invited corruption.

Pending debate at 6 P. M. the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The morning hour was dispensed with, and a discussion arose as to the propriety of continuing this debate upon the General Deficiency Appropriation bill in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Reagan, of Texas, desired to speak upon the Inter-State Commerce bill, but a great deal of opposition was manifested by the Republican side.

The Speaker suggested that by unanimous consent, after the disposition of the deficiency bill, a debate of two hours might be allowed in the House; one hour to be occupied by Mr. Reagan, and the other by a Republican. To this Mr. F. Wood objected, stating when the deficiency bill was disposed of he would press the funding bill for consideration.

Finally, the House at 11.45 went into Committee of the Whole (Mr. Whithorne in the chair) on the deficiency bill, general debate being limited to two hours.

Mr. Reagan proceeded to speak on the subject of Inter-State Commerce, but was interrupted by Mr. Valentine, of Nebraska, who made the point of order that he must address himself to the question under consideration. It being evident, however, that the Chair would overrule the point, Mr. Valentine withdrew it, preferring that Mr. Reagan should proceed by unanimous con-sent, than that he should do so by virtue of bill, and advocating the passage of what is known as the "Reagan" bill.
