Cadet Whittaker is to be tried by court-martial for, we suppose, conduct unbecoming a cadet and a gentleman. It is a grave case and he deserves punishment for attempting to fasten a serious charge upon others and bringing disgrace upon the institution of which he has shown himself to be such an unworthy member.

In 1876 Blaine started with 285 votes; on the seventh ballot he received 351. Conkling started with 99 votes; on the sixth ballot he had 81. NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS. The Democratic Convention of the Third District, held at Fayetteville, nominated for Congress on the 32nd ballot Mr. John W. Shackelford, of Onslow. At the time we write we have not the particulars of the ballotings and are not informed how this was brought about. He was not spoken of prior to the meeting of the Convention as a probable "dark horse." His nomination was a sur-

We do not know much of his political record. He is a Democrat in good standing, has been a member of the Legislature for several sessions, and in both Houses, and has, therefore, some valuable legislative experience. What his debating powers are or what kind of a canvasser he is we are not able to say at this time. He is some thirty eight years of age, we believe. A strong, earnest, long canvass is before the country, and all who cherish Democratic principles will have to do battle in their behalf. The STAR will endeaver to do its duty for those principles upon the maintenance of which it believes the safety of true republican institutions and the prosperity of the country depend.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate publishes an entertaining letter from Rev. Dr. Deems, written from Constantinople, and dated May 5, 1880. He thus in rapid outline presents what he has accomplished since he landed at Alexandria, Egypt:

"My whole time has been crowded. I have gone up the Nile to the First Cataract, passed through the land of Goshen, crossed the Red Sea and gone on a canal to Sinai, and back through the desert of Suez; from Ismailis I have been through the Suez Canal to Sow Said, and by steamer to Jaffa; and on horseback I have traversed the Holy Land from Hebron to Casarea, Philippi, and swept around Syria, crossing both ranges of Lebanon, taking in the ruins of Basibeck, and by steamer have come from Beirat to the Golden Horn, stopping at Cyprus and Rhodes, passing in sight of Patmos, standing by the tomb of Polycarpin Smyrna, and, running among the beautiful isles of Greece, have gazed on the site of Homer's Troy, and run up the channel of the Hellespont to this wonderful city. To-morrow, I expect to go, in a chartered steemer, up the Bosphorus to the Black Sea, and on Friday start for Athens. Thence by Venice and across the continent, I shall strive to make rapid strides to London, where I have engagements which will probably demand a fortsight, after which I sail for home, and hope to preach from my own pulpit, on the first Sunday in July."

Wade Hampton says that Bayard s gaining strength daily and will be nominated "if the South comes to his aid." Gen. Bradley T. Johnson thinks he knows all about it, and says:

"As far as the South is concerned, he will have the solid delegations of Delaware, Maryland, North and South Carolina, and Mississippi, besides a number of votes from Virginia, Georgia, and Alabama, and probably from Kentucky and Ten-

If he can say what North Carolina will do he is wiser than any of her sons. Mr. Seymour is the choice of a majority, we have no doubt, and will be warmly supported if it should turn out that there is a good prospect of nominating him. The delegation will not be instructed, and it will be apt to go for the most available man.

- Raleigh Observer: Condensed from Graham Gleaner. On Saturday the anniversary of the battle of Alamance, which was fought in 1771, was observed at the battle ground near Graham. Some 300 persons were present. J. L. Scott, Esq., opened the exercises, using a gavel made from a tree cut at the grave of Herman Husbands. Rev. W. S. Long opened the exercises with prayer. Col. T. M. Holt delivered an address of welcome. Judge Fowle followed next with a speech brim full of patriotism and eloquence. Hon. John Manning made a speech, after which the monument was unveiled. The monument is an obelisk of granite quarried in the county. It bears the following inscription: Here was fought the battle of Alamance, May 16th, 1771, between the Regulators and the British. This was the first battle of the revolution. Liberty, 1880." After dinner, speeches were made by Hons. Kemp P. Battle and D. F. Caldwell.

A Cattle Stampede Creates a Panic on | To-Day's Indications. the Street.

A number of cattle were being driven out to one of the butcher pens, yesterday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, and had reached the vicinity of Fourth and Chesnut streets, when a stampede took place, in the midst of which one of the drove, apparently a staid and respectable old cow, fell down, and appeared too weak or too much shocked by her tall to be able to get up. She was assisted to her feet, when, apparently imbued with a spirit of vengeance. she commenced a series of vigorous assaults upon everybody and everything that came in her way or even under her observation. Her evident bellicose disposition and belligerent tendencies had the effect of producing a panic among the few pedestrians on the streets in that neighborhood, who sought a safe retreat with all the speed possible. A veteran typo, who happened to be passing at the time, and who evidently feared that his "form" might receive an indelible "imprint" from her horns, which would have been an ugly "job" for him. took refuge in a friendly gateway, behind the shelter of which he thought he could enjoy the fun and remain "proof" against her insidious advances. Fortunately for him, the belligerent animal was soon after-

Novel and Curious Case. J. L. Williams, colored, had a partial hearing before Justice Gardner, yesterday afternoon, upon the somewhat novel and serious charge of chopping up and destroying the vegetables in the garden of an old colored man by the name of Robert Phinney, living on the east side of Fourth, between Swann and Nixon streets, in the northern section of the city. It seems that Phinney was owing some rent which he had promised to pay on the 1st of June, and it is alleged that Williams, being aware of the fact, made an offer to the owner of the property to pay the rent on condition that he should have the garden In the meantime, however, it transpired that Phinney was already in negotiation with the agent of the proprieter of the lot with the view of paying the rent at once, the receipt for which was being made out, when the offer was of course refused. The same night the garden was entered, and all the vegetables, &c., estimated by Phinney to be worth about $100, were destroyed. It is further alleged that the track found in the garden corresponds with that of Williams, who has a club-foot. Defendant was ordered to give bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance'this morning to undergo a further examination.

Magistrate's Court.

Frank Hamen, colored, was arraigned before Justice McQuigg, tyesterday, on a peace warrant, and also on the charge of assault and battery and failing to provide adequate support for his family. He was ordered to give bond in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for three months, and to pay a fine of $10 in the case of abandonment. The assault and battery case was dismissed at the cost of the prosecutor, Julia Hamen.

Mary Holland was arraigned before Justice Millison a peace warrant sworn out by Ann Smith, both colored. Defendant was required to give bond in the sum of $25 to keep the peace for ninety days and pay the Body Recovered-Inquest.

Yesterday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock, a colored man by the name of Peter Evans succeeded in bringing to the surface the body of Owen Chadwick, the colored man who was drowned off a flat at Mr. J. W. Taylor's mill on Wednesday morning last. The body was properly secured and Corener Hewlett notified, who held an inquest over the remains, the jury returning a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death from accidental drowning. The body was found near where it went down.
