MORNING EDITION.

OUTLINES.

Henry Quarles, a negro murderer, hanged at Houston, Texas. Steamers Stoungton and Narragansett collided in Long Island Sound; the latter was burnt and sunk; over fifty lives reported lost.

The Third District gives a larger vote in the State Convention than any other—179. Let it be given for men who can be elected.

The five North Carolinians who voted for Grant at Chicago were Isaac J. Young, J. H. Hardin, J. C. Cooper, Tom Keogh and O. J. Spears.

The census takers will find more old darkies whose ages vary from 110 to 150 years than were ever heard of before, and the names will be given just as if any one in the world believed one word of it.

The fearful collision of two steamers in Long Island Sound and the burning and sinking of one, causing over fifty people to lose their lives, is one of those awful visitations that shock us and show the uncertainty of human life as well as the dangers that attend travel.

Several of our State exchanges have referred in terms of warm approval of the appointment of our eloquent and distinguished townsman, Col. D. K. McRae, one of the Democratic Electors for the State at-large.

Carriage Index: Nobody in this county cares to run for the Legislature; all desire to run from it.

Greensboro Patriot: The blackberry crop this season is said to be larger than it has been for many years.

The Wilson Advocate publishes a synopsis of Rev. Dr. Burkhead's excellent address before the Wilson College Seminary on the 21st inst.

There is not a so-called centurion in North Carolina whose birth can be established by incontestable evidence, if so true of the evidence.

Henderson Review: We met Superintendent Mills, of the Orphan Asylum, a few days ago. He had started on a tour in behalf of the 150 orphans at Oxford.

The Rockingham Bee compliments very highly some dramatic readings given at that place by Miss MacCall, a young lady of great promise. She is a native of that section.

THE MORNING STAR.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, JUNE 13, 1880. VOL. XXVI.—NO. 72. WHOLE NO. 4,004 persecution and glory, every member of his delegation shook his rhetorical head.

Warrenton News: Capt. Peter Turnbull died at his residence in Warrenton on Saturday morning last, in the 76th year of his age, after a brief illness.
