FOR CONGRESS:

J. W. SHACKELFORD

OF ONSLOW.

ABOUT THE CANDIDATES.

On Thursday the Democrats wil meet in convention at Raleigh to elect candidates for the State offices. It is believed by many that Jarvis and his ticket will be very strongthat he and the most of his ticket will be nominated on the first ballot. W do not know how this will be. The STAR has not favored his nomination for many reasons. We will only suggest two: First, we do not regard him as a strong candidate second, we do not regard him as a man of sufficient culture, power and eloquence to make lan efficient canvass against the best men who might be nominated by the opposition. Governor Jarvis is a cold man without magnetism. He is a quiet, steadypulling plodder, without a spark of imagination or pathos or passion. There is nothing of the Arabian courser about him. He can pull well at the wheel, but has neither the wind nor speed to make a long and trying race. We are only giving our opinion. It is in order to say how you estimate a man's gifts. He is a politician-he is a candidate. If he were plain Mr. Jarvis not asking high honors at the hands of the people we should say nothing, of course, concerning his gifts. His admirers might believe him to be in speech and in brains more than the equal of George E. Badger when he stood first among our lawyers and was the acknowledged leader of his party in the United States Senate, for aught that we cared.

The STAR has not advocated the nomination of Judge Fowle. He is certainly a much abler man than Jarvis, but he is not as astute a politician. He has the eloquence, the passion, the fire, but we do not know what are his debating powers. He may be able to handle any man he . may meet, but of that we are not assured. He met Judge Russell, of this city, once in 1876, and we learn from did not get any advantage to put it mildly. But our failure to support Judge Fowle's candidacy for the nomination is not attributable to a want of ability, or an apprehension that he could not be elected. The STAR has advocated no man for any State office as our columns will show.

After reading diligently our many State exchanges, and judging by what we have had stated in letters and what we have heard, we incline to the opinion that a stronger mana more acceptable man than either person to bear the Democratic ban- they low are the North. Senator is that we must have the erctoral ner in the very important contest that is to be waged for many months to come. Such is our judgment, whether valued at anything or not We shall not be in the Convention and we are expressing our convictions

As to the Lieutenant Governor there will be four candidates, namely: the present incumbent, Mr. Robinson, of Macon; Mr. Julian Carr, of Durham; Col. Thos. Holt, of Alamance, and Col. H. B. Short, of Columbus. We do not know who will develop the most strength in the beginning, but Col, Short may prove the "dark horse." He is a gentleman of intelligence, of character, and of much personal popularity.

We have not time to dwell upon the other candidates. We will only say that no doubt some will be chosen that we would not name if the selection were left with us. . Now as to the Presidency and Vice Presidency. The papers-many of them-are still insisting on Mr. Seymour. Of course he is the strongest, but what are we to do if he says he will not have it? The New York Graphic, of last Thursday, a Republican paper, says that he can carry New York. We copy a part of what

"If New York is lost in November there seems no hope for the Democracy. It might succeed by some fraudulent counting in Congress, but it could hardly succeed with the people. It might as well be admitted that New York is necessary to Democratic success. Horatio Seymour says that he could carry this State, and Mr. Seymour is not alone in thinking so. He would unite all the Democratic factions in the State in his support. The Kelly-Robinson-Tilden feud would be forgotten, and all Democrats would go forward shoulder to shoulder in the attempt to make Seymour President and obtain a share of the

"Beymour is a 'dark horse' at Cincionati of whom the candidates should have a

The Syracuse (N. Y.) Courier, published at Mr. Seymour's home, insists upon his nomination, and says ex- hard, late editor of the Wilmington Journal plicitly that he will accept if nomi nated, and that he is "the purest as well as the ablest statesman of the age." It says:

"If we ask if there is such a man, there comes from every hamlet and hilltop from the pines of Maine to the mines of California, and from the lakes of the North to the Mexican seas on the south, in responsive yeas, Horatio Seymour. That is the name whereby we may conquer. That is the name whose potent spell would insure victory to the Democracy of the Empire State

The Washington Post of Friday says there "is a Seymour wave approaching that will carry all in the Cincinnati Convention before it.' The Washington correspondent of the Baltlmore American (Rep.) says:

"It seems to be conceded that the Demperatic candidate for President is to be furnished by the East, and the candidate for Vice President by the West. Seymour continues to be an immense favorite, and is gaining ground so rapidly that leading Democrats here declare they regard his nomination as almost certain.

The announcement made on the authority of the Utica Observer that Seymour would not accept may be received with some grains of allowance as that paper is Tilden's organ at Utica. The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch writes on Saturday:

"I had a talk with Mr. Buell, the editor of the Capital, who has just returned from New York, and he remarked that three months ago he was at sea about the Cincinnati nomination, but now he is not. He believed after three or four ballots Mr. Seymour will be nominated, and with him Western man. I asked if he thought Mr. Seymour would accept. 'Certainly I do, said he, 'but I cannot give you the reasons which convince me that he will accept. He said enough, however, to make me conclude that while in New York, his native State, he learned more in regard to Mr. Seymour and the Presidency than it would be prudent just now to print."

Gen. Thomas L. Clingman, shrewd, far-seeing politician, is in New York. He has been interviewed by the New York Herald. Here is a part of the interview :

"Reporter-Who do you think, General, will be selected to lead the Democrats? "Gen. Coleman-Seymour, if he will ac cept; or, in case he is unavailable, Han-cock will be likely to be nominated."

If Seymour will accept he is the man. As to the Vice Presidency, the candidate should come from Indiana, if an Eastern man is selected for the first place. Ex-Gov. Hendricks is the best man wa have no doubt. He is now by right Vice President of the United States, as he was elected in 1876, but was cheated out of it. That fact, with Democrats that the impression made his fine ability and high reputation was unfavorable to Judge Fowle. He | for honor and morality, would help the ticket, specially in his own State, Indiana. After an Indiana man, William R. Morrison, of Illinois, is probably the most available man for Vice President.

Senator Vance reported to the Senate from the Naval Committee a bill to amend the act concerning Publie Marine Schools. The amendment proposes to extend it to the ports of Wilmington, Charleston, Savangab. Mobile, New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Galveston. The object of the Fowle or Jarvis can be found, and schools is to educate sailors at the that it would be wise and prudent in various points indicated. By this the Convention to go outside of the amendment young men will be eduknown office seekers and take a third cated as mamen in the South just as

I will simply say that the bill is unavi-mously reported by the committee on Naval Affairs. It is to extend the benefits of these marine schools to the several ports of the South, provided that the States interested will bear a portion of the expense, as provided in the original law. The object was to furnish marine education at places the yellow fever, so that in manning vessels in those ports subject to reliow fever the danger of introducing that disease would not be so great as if the ships were manned by unacclimated persons or persons who never had any experience in those localities. That was the object of the bill, and was the reason why the committee on Naval Affairs unanimously agreed to the report. "The Secretary of the Navy is to furnish the ship. It is not imperative. He is only to do it in case it can be spared. There are a number of ports mentioned in the bill not with a view to having ships detailed to all of them, but to enable all of them that are willing to undergo the expense to have them. I think under the circumstances there will be no impropriety whatever in passing the bill, but great propriety in do-

The Washington Post very wisely insists that Seymour is the man to nominate, and it maists that he will accept. Some days ago it said that Seymour and Thurman was the ticket: It will be remembered by our attentive readers that the STAR insisted that the Vice-Presidential candidate should come from Indiana. The Post of Saturday has this to say:

"As to the Vice-Presidency, good policy requires that it go to Indiana. Mr. Seymour would be much gratified to have Mr. Hendricks accept the Vice-Presidential nomination. Should Mr. Hendricks decide to do so, there will be no dissent, and his patriotic motives will not fall of due appreciation. But should Mr. Hendricks decline the second place on the ticket, his friends will be quite satisfied with the nomination of Senator McDonald, who is a strong, sble, upright man, having the confidence of his State and the country.

The Raleigh News is again producing the vote of 1876. As there is a misunderstanding as to what was the vote we avail surselves of the figures in the News : "The average vote cast for the seven State officers was 123,643; that of the Tilden electors 122,479. The largest vote ever given for a Democrat in North Carolina was polled for our friend Joseph A. Engeland Secretary of State. The original returns of the election of 1876, now on file in the Capitol, show the following totals of votes polled for State officers and for Presidential Electors Vance, 123,265; Jarvis, 123 868; Engelhard 124,010; Love, 122,963; Kenan, 123,608; Worth, 123,936; Scarborough, 123,880; Fowle, 122,448; Leach, 122,251; Latham, 122,580; Wooten, 122,552; McRae, 122,550; Busbee, 122,458; Robbins, 121,112; Waring 122,530; Glenn, 122,234; Avery, 122,-

The State Treasurer, in reply to a note addressed by the editor of the Raleigh News, says of Mr. Best's

"On the 28th day of May I received fifteen thousand dollars: $4,958 33 to pay the interest on the first mortgage bonds of the Western North Carolina Railroad; $10,-041 67 to pay for convicts and operating expenses from the date of the passage of the aw authorizing the sale, to the day that the grantees took possession. The $30,000 re-ferred to is now held by me as security for the payment of the interest on the $850,000 Western North Carolina Railroad bonds The above payments were made in cash, and are now held to my credit in the Citi-zen's National Bank."

The STAR has again and again stated that if you would see its own opinions do not look to what is clipped from other papers but to its editorials. We copy often views precisely opposed to our own. We wish our readers to see what is held by Atter awhile the STAR will take up Garfield's and Arthur's record and ventilate them in earnest. At present it is too far off to begin the fight. We prefer to await the marshalling of the forces when the appointed leaders are in the field.

THE PERSODICALS.

London Quarterly Review for April contains the following papers: David Hume; The English Flower Garden; The Marquess Wellesley; The Book of Common Prayer; Memoirs of Madame de Remusat; The Chinese in Central Asia; The Taxation of India; The Slavonic Menace to Europe, and The Conservative Defeat. This is an excellent number of one of the great English Quarterlies. Price $4 a year. The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barcley street, New York.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for July is out early and a good number it is of a popular and entertaining monthly. We are glad to note the continued excellence of this desirable family magazine. It is copiously illustrated as is usual with it, and contains a large and varied array of edifying and entertaining articles. Price $3 a year, and it is very cheap at that sum. Address the magazine at 57 Park Place,

OURREST COMMENT.

-- We now believe that the finger of success points to Horatio Seymour, and that his nomination at Cincinnati would be a harbinger of a glorious victory .- Abingdon Standard. It does. Let's give the old man a chance in spite of himself .-

Richmond Dispatch, Dem. -- In selecting a candidate we would be as free from sentimentality as in choosing a horse. The interests of the Democratic party are to be consulted. The duty of the Cincinnati Convention will be to nominate the man whose name furnishes the surest guarantee of success, and there is not an unprejudiced man in the country who is not fully convinced that this name is Horatio Seymour. The fundamental idea, gathered in. But New York and Indiana, added to the Democratic South, will give us the victory, and the campaign will be inaugurated and fought out with the view of making sure of those two States. Mr. Seymour will not decline the nomination. His recent utterances show clearly that he will obey the call of his party, if summoned to bear its standard. - Washington Post, Dem.

[N. Y. Financial Chronicle.] FRIDAY, P. M., June 11, 1880.-The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening, June 11 the total receipts have reached 18,580 bales, against 23,674 bales last week, 23,764 bales the previous week, and 26,514 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1879, 4,781,696 bales, against 4,407,422 bales for the same period of 1878-9, showing an increase since September 1, 1879, of 374,274

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 57,353 bales, of which 35,116 were to Great Britain, 3,473 to France, and 18,764 to rest of the Continent, while the stocks as made up this evening are now 340,016 bales.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that, compared with the corresponding week of last season, there is an increase in the exports this week of 46,084 bales, while the stocks to-night are 114,451 bales more than they were at this time a year ago.

Island Sound Disaster-Cowardly Conduct of the Crew and Petty Of-Reces Recesery of Dead Bodies, &c. [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

NEW LONDON, CONN., June 13.—The It is the opinion of mariners that the Narragansett is broken in twain. She is grounded in the western extremity of the shoals, and but for her grounding there she would have sunk out of sight. In the opinion of seafaring men the officers of the Stonington cannot be blamed for the accident. The courses of the colliding steamers lay together, but had the Stonington sounded two successive whistles isstead of one, in reply to the signals of the Narragadeett, the accident would not, in all prosability, have occurred. No bodies have been recovered to-day.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 12:- Captain John W. Cushing, of Bath, Maine, states that the deck-hands and petty officers of the Narragansett west off in the first boat load, disregarding the claims of the women and children. He also states that three other boats were manned by strangers, and that the captain was not seen after he shouted to the Stonington, immediately after the crash, to back up alongside. Six bodies have been washed ashore at Niantic. Some of them have been identified. One of the women is supposed to be Mrs. Wm. Stevens, of Hoboken, N. J., and another that of Miss J. K. Little, no residence.

The six bodies taken to Niantic are those of two girls, one five and the other eight years of age, two women to middle life, and two men. One of the men is, a large stout person who weighed in life probably 225 pounds.

Samuel H. Waldron, clerk of the Narragansett, was taken on to New York and returned from New York to Stonington on the midnight mail to might. On the train he accidentally met the parents of the little girl who was supposed to be lost. They were everjoyed to learn that she was safe and sound at Waldron's house in Stoning-ATTLEBORO, MASS., June 13.—Mr. Car-penter, brother-in-law of Mrs. Stilson, the Atlanta lady who lost her two children, states that he put a life preserver on Mrs. Stilson by force, and then used to lower her down to the water, but she persisted in clinging to the boat and endeavoring to get back on board. She was finally pushed into the water and subsequently picked up.
