Governor Stevenson, of Kentucky, the permanent chairman, says it will be Payne, of Ohio, and English, of Connecticut. Payne is 70 years of age, as old as Mr. Seymour, and a ittle older than Tilden.

That shrewd politician, Col. Mc-Clure, editor of the Philadelphia Times (Ind.), writes to his paper from

"It is known that Tilden's implacable bestinty had much to do with Seymour's peremptory declination. But for the vindictive opposition of the Tilden men to Seymour I think it probable that he would have been nominated, almost without the form dity of a ballot, and be would have been compelled to accept. But as Tilden would load Seymour with the entire respinistility of the campaign in New York and binder rather than aid his success, Seymour cannot be forced to accept a caudidacy that he sincerely desires to

The reprehensible practice indulged in by small boys of throwing stones is often complained of. They "don't mean any harm by it," but it sometimes results in serious consequences. Yesterday several youngsters about fifteen years of age were arraigned before Justice Millis for throwing stones, one of which struck an infant child of Mr. Hugh McDonald in the side. It was at first thought that the blow would prove fatal, but happily its injuries were found not to be serious. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several aleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still werse, and while centemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the roem to attend to some demestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and sald nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended with the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having pass
