FRAGBANT.

We admire "cheek." When it is in large development-something colossal, so to speak-we stand in its presence and wonder as we gaze. We confess the doings of the Stalwarts rather crowd our astonishment. They do things on so sublime a scale of impudence that we are amazed. "And still we gazed and still our wonder grew." Consider their recent votes in Con-

Ohio, made a speech in the House of Representatives some three months ago. He spoke in the presence of and pertinacity if he is "toking fair," the Republicans from Pennsylvania. We quote from what he said about the deputy marshals employed in that State, and we ask our readers to ponder and remember. Said Mr.

Finley : "Why, Mr. Chairman, of the seven hundred marshals employed in Philadelphia in the last election, I find from a report of a committee of the other House, that thirteen of them were convicted of crimes, such as murder, burglary, shooting, with intent to kill, &c. Two of them were keepers of houses of prostitution, two were keepers of low doggeries, and the whole lot of them. every one of them, was an active working Republican at the polls who wore the badge on his breast of a special deputy marshal [Laughter.]

"I will give the gentleman the names of some of his constituents and probably he will remember them. One of them is Philip Madden. He was a special deputy marshal at the polls who had been convicted of highway robbery and served two terms in the penitentiary. [Laughter.] Francis Mc-Namee, of the Seventh Ward, had been arrested five different times for different crimes, some of them as high as burglary. Daniel Redding, who also wore the badge upon his breast, had been tried for murder, and he was the gentleman that the testimony shows had voted no less than eight times in one day. He was an active, working Republican and wore the marshal's badge on his breast.

"Michael Slavin, marshal Fifth ward, described as 'a thief and notorious repeater.' J. Roberts, marshal sixteenth division, had been a policeman in the City of Brotherly Love. He had blocked up the polls and arrested citizens who went there to vote, and he had a beautiful record. He had been keeping a house of prostitution and had there a lot of Republican policemen that were paid out of the Federal Treasury for keeping the peace at the polls !

After reading this then remember that the Democrats, during the late session of Congress, endeavored to have the election law so amended as to divide the deputy marshals equally between the two great parties and to give the appointment to the Courts instead of allowing the Marshals to select them, and the Republicans voted against it. Remember dso that the bill passed nevertheless, but was vetoed by Hayes, a Republican President who holds his office by fraud. Such is the Republican record as to the deputy marshals. Such is the Republican record as to bull-

ment. It is an interesting case, and | and looked nearly as fresh and well as he ever did. By Cable to the Morning Star.] LONDON, July 17 .- The House of Commons, in Committee of the Whole last night, restaned the consideration of the Compensation for Distribution bill.

Mr. Gladstone moved an amendment, of which he gave notice last Monday, viz that the last clause of the bill shall read as follows : "And the tenant shall be entitled to compensation, in the discretion of the county court judge, if the non-payment of rent is caused by prevailing distress, and the tenant is willing to continue in occupation upon reasonable terms of rent, arrears of rent and otherwise, and if such terms are refused by the landlord without reasonable alternative.

Mr. Parnell m wed to add after the word "alternative" the following : "Comprising just reasonable terms as to rent, arrears of rent and otherwise to the incoming tenants. if any."

Mr. Gladstone objected. After some discussion Mr. Parnell with drew his amendment and Mr. Gladstone's amendment was adopted by a vote of 225 to 25.

gress in connection with their speeches. They talk glibly, forcefully, eloquently even, about the rights of freemen, the purity and freedom of the ballot and an honest count. They denounce vigorously, unmeasuredly, all forms of terrorism, all violations of law, all efforts at bulldozing. Bat what does it all amount to? Words, idle, foolish, vain words; only that and nothing more. It is vapor, bosh, rant, and endless nothingness. Whilst denouncing and berating they are practicing, doing, performing. They give the lie direct to all their utterances. In Rhode Island, in Massachusetts they disfranchise tens of thousands of laboring white men. In Philadelphia, in New York, and elsewhere they resort to the most effective and cunningly devised system of bulldozing, and thousands of free, qualified electors are disfranchised.

Are these empty statements without foundation in fact. We have already, in previous editorials shown by irrefragable testimony that the disfranchising is largely practiced in Massachusetts, and to a considerable extent in Rhode Island. We need not go into the matter again or at this time. As to the bulldozing in New York and Philadelphia that too has been made plain. We will not stop now to restate the evidence as we wish to refer to a matter more especially in which the voters of the whole country are interested. We wish to offer briefly some testimony as to the character of the Republican peace-preservers who were employed in 1876 to do political work at the polls. It will be seen what a lovely and fragrant boquet decorates the button-hole of the party of Garfield and Arthur.

In the Presidential election of 1876 the Republican party used 11,615 special deputy marshals. Of this number 10,874 were placed in Democratic precincts, as the report of the Attorney General of the United States shows. Why this? Can there be but one answer? Was it not to intimidate, to bulldoze, to terrorize? It was a great shame. Gen. Garfield, only a few weeks ago, admitted in the House that there had been abuse.

dozing in the past. Such is the Republican record as to a fair, free and ness and marrow of the Gospel, and honest election about which they preach so much. Was there ever such an exhibition of "cheek" in the face of such a record?

There have been many authenticated instances of starvation, some of which were fatal as in the case mentioned in yesterday's STAR. We give another case to-day that appears to be credible. Rev. Mr. Garretson was a man of high Christian character. The Albany (N. Y.) Argus presents a well-authenticated case of a man, Reuben Kelsey, who fasted fifty-three days before he died. He was 27 years of age. Another case, substantiated by reliable testimony, occurred in Washington county, Pa., in 1840. Thomas Ford, aged 23, went without food for 39 days and died. There are other cases of comparatively recent date that show that persons can live for many weeks without food. Some very interesting cases of protracted fasts have come down to us from the Middle Ages. There is one case reported that extended to eight weeks.

Our readers have not forgotten the marvellous case of the young lady in Brooklyn. We gave a year or so ago a very interesting account from the pen of a gentleman well known in this city. We find the following reference to her in one of our Northern exchanges that is interesting and will refresh the memories of the readers of this article:

"The latest case of reported long-fasting, that of Miss Mollie Fancher, of Brooklyn, is too well known to require more than a passing notice. It is claimed by the friends of this lady that she has sudsisted nearly sixteen years' without food, and also that she possesses mysterious powers of seeing and reading through scaled envelopes. No sufficient test of this case has ever been made by competent persons, and it remains a mystery to this day. Persons have lived without food when water was accessible for many days at a time. On the 19th of March. 1755, twenty-two persons were buried beneath an avalanche in the Alpine village of Bergemolbetta, in Piedmont. They were not dug out until the 18th of April follow-ing, when they were all found dead except three women, who had found some hay, fed a gost with it, and thus obtained a pint of milk daily, on which they sustained life for month. In Belgium, in the year 1683, four colliers were confined in a coal pit without anything to eat for twenty-four days. They were taken out alive on the twenty-fifth day, having subsisted on the water which trickled from the walls of their

We do not get the New York Times, the leading Republican daily, and some times miss matter that conserns North Carolina. Its Raleigh correspondent, we notice, claims that the Grant men got the victory in organizing the Republican State Committee. He writes: "The marrow of the fight was the control of the State Committee. The Grant men were determined that it should not be made up so as to secure an indorsement of the delegates who voted against Grant. The other side fought to retain the control they had in the committee before the convention met. With all these complications, with no organized movement throughout the State on the part of the Grant men, with Colonel Thomas B. Keogh, the real leader of the Grant men, absent from the State, and with full organization by the opponents of the Grant men, the Grant men carried the convention, adopted the plan of organization as reported by the com-mittee, and succeeded in having a State Committee appointed by Congressional districts and by the convention, and not by the President of the convention."

We do not mean censure for any man who holds the office of coroner, but we mean that something should be done to curtail the number of inquests held. A different method of some soit should be adopted. - Charlotte Demosrat.

Let no good Democrat-infier indiscretion and prejudice to get the better of him. There must be no apathy or dissatisfaction because every man did not get his choice nominated. Too much is at stake. The vote of North Carolina is needed to insure a grand Democratic national victory, and the influence of an aggressive and enthusi-astic campaign here will be felt far beyond
