Grant has come down from the heights of Presidential office seeking to the daily work of ward-shambles. He issued an order to the "Boys in Blue," and now it is claimed it will be all right with Garfield, and the old Union soldiers will "rally round the flag." Just so. But then there are thousands of soldiers-Republicans at that, -who are for Hancock against the field. Here is the way some Republicans look at Grant's action, according to the Washington letter in the Baltimore Sun :

"There are Republicans who comment with considerable freedom as to the good laste of an ex-President of the reputation of Gen. Grant going into a presidential canorganization. In this light the course pursued by General Grant is considered as a very serious mistake on his part, and one which detracts from his present fame."
