

FOR PRESIDENT: WINFIELD S. HANCOCK, Of Pennsylvania.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT: WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Of Indiana.

Nothing can intimidate me from doing what I believe to be honest and right.—Hancock in 1868.

When insurrectionary force has been overthrown and peace established, and the civil authorities are ready and willing to perform their duties, the military power should cease to lead, and the civil administration resume its natural and rightful dominion.—Hancock in 1867.

FOR CONGRESS: JOHN W. SHACKELFORD, Of Onslow.

[ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOV. 2.] DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET. For Governor—THOMAS J. JARVIS.

THE BEST OF CAMPAIGN DOCUMENTS.

We very much doubt if the Star-warts could have done a greater service to the cause of Hancock and the country than by fussing about that letter of the "superb" soldier to the head of the army.

Mr. Jackson, living near Savannah, Georgia, has over thirty-five thousand tea plants on his farm. He has sent several samples of his tea to Commissioner Le Duc.

As far as we can gather from the various reports Gen. Burrows was first out-generalled and then forced to fight some 8,000 or 10,000 Afghans with not more than 2,400 troops.

If the relieving column numbers really 10,000 men it ought to be strong enough to clear out all opposing forces and even dictate peace.

We have heard before of December and May getting together or winter lingering in the lap of spring.

The official register of the North Carolina Military Institute at Charlotte shows six instructors and seventy-five matriculants during the last year.

Our TALK. We have received from J. Fitzgerald & Co., 143 Fourth Avenue, New York, the eighth number of the Humboldt Library of Popular Science.

Can it be true that Garfield has strength in no section? Is he to get no States? Can it be so that even New England is about to turn its back upon him?

The House of Lords was overwhelming in its opposition to the Liberal measure intended to protect the Irish tenant. Nearly six to one was the vote.

vote of disapproval just given by the Peers of the Realm had been given by the direct representatives of the people it would have sent the Liberals into retirement at once.

Gen. Hancock told a Herald reporter that he wrote his letter to Sherman "frankly and with no restraint," never expecting it to be published.

There is honesty in every line of his letter. It is a capital campaign document, but written in 1876.

Mr. John S. Wise, the late Governor's son, declares that, if elected, he will undoubtedly cast his vote for Hancock and English.

bayonets while they were plundered by alien thieves who claimed to be their representatives and officers, somebody else was employed to do the infamous work.

It has often happened that the best things of the greatest men are attributed to others who are wholly incapable of them.

Why should my opinion be asked or volunteered on any subject? Anybody else who has watched his life is as good a judge as I, and there are thousands who know him much better.

Power may destroy the forms, but not the principles of justice; these will live in spite even of the sword.

For twelve years Judge Baxton has been eating the bread of the white taxpayers of North Carolina, and now he wants to repay them by putting Garfield and the party of hate in power over us.

Heed no other bugle blast than the straight Democrat. There is no manly sound about a regular organized ticket.

It was in these circumstances that HANCOCK SPOKE OUT THE WORDS OF TRUTH and sobriety which reassured the friends of free government.
