An ex-army officer writes us that Gen. Hebert was a Lieut. Colonel of the Thirteenth Infantry by special appointment in the Mexican war. He resigned his place as Second Lieutenant of Engineers to take the command. The reason we thought there was a mistake was that we knew the time of Hebert's graduation, and we thought it was impossible for him to enter the army in 1840 and rise in the regular way to the grade of Colonel in six or seven years. Jos. E. Johnston was Lieutenant Colonel of Voltigeurs in the same way, by special appointment. When the war ended the war regiments were disbanded, when Johnston was restored to his old corps. Quite a number of officers of the old army received appointments in new regiments.

Nine cheers for Dr. Tanner! He 18 a hero. The amount of tenacity, of pluck, of will that has been brought into requisition to sustain him through the fearful and perilous forty days of starvation through which he has passed successfully, is something to marvel at. The schievementlis great. It shows what a man can do and suffer. Why, Tanner has suffered the pangs of a dozen deaths. While nected themselves with the church.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frial of Virgil Hill, Colored, on the Charge of Burglary - The State Submitte to a Verdict of Not Guilty.

Yesterday morning, at 9 o'clock, the case of Virgil Hill, colored, charged with burglariously entering the residence of Mr. John Neimyer, on the night of Wednesday, the 16th of June, was called. Owing delay was experienced. Finally, however, the following jury was obtained and regularly empanelled: D. IH. Walsh, I. B. Northrop, J. D. Nixon, colored, Wm. Warren, colored, J. C. Springer, Jas. Gallev. colored. R. B. Jackson, colored. Edward Davis, colored, R. C. Orrell, Robert Thomas, colored, Wm. B. Hill, colored,

Wesley Poe, colored. The first witness put upon the stand was Mr. Neimyer, who testified, in substance, that he lived on the northeast corner of Sixth and Orange streets; that on the night of the 16th of June, or rather, on the morning of the 17th, about half-past 2 o'clock, he was aroused from his slumbers by his wife, who informed him that there was somebody in the house; he sat on the when he distinctly heard some one working | heavy. at one of the front windows opening on Sixth street, followed by the raising of the sash; he then, armed with his pistol, ran of his house, on the right-hand side of the lands along its banks. passage, and into the parlor, which was in front and on the left-hand side of the passage, being guided by the light in the passage; hearing his coming the burglar or burglars sprang through the open window into the piazza, from which they jumped over an intervening fence into the adjoining lot, being the premises of Major James Reilly. As witness got into the piszza, and at the end next to the fence in question, he heard the burglars running through the corn in Mai. Reilly's lot and in the direction of his back fence, upon which he fired his pistol two or three times in the direction of the sound. Witness then explained that way yesterday had to cross the creek that old man Virgil Hill, (who was seated in the box with the accused). and his two sons, Virgil Hill, Jr., and Clem Hill, had been employed to paint the exterior of his house; that they took about five weeks to complete the job, which they might have finished in two; that on the Sunday morning previous to the alleged burglary old man Hill came to his house now agitating the minds of those most in-- Judge Russell, who is probably from Twelfth and Market streets to get a bucket of water, this being some time after the job of painting had been completed, until recently so promising, is seriously and that the two boys were generally barefooted. Witness then went on to state that before getting up the next morning after his house was entered he found prints of sandy feet upon his carpet in the parlor, and on the porch or plazza outside he also found prints of barefeet; then went into

Major Reilly's lot and found two tracks, one large and the other small; saw where they got on the piazza railing, knocking a paling off the fence in getting over; the tracks in the lot were apparently the same as those in the piazza, and led through the corn patch to the back part of Maj. Reilly's lot, being the same direction the parties were taking when he (witness) fired upon tifled them as those of the two Hill brothers; also found an axe (exhibited in Court), which had to all appearances been pitched over the fence, judging from its position and surroundings; had the initials

"W. H." marked on the eye of it. Recurring to the tracks, witness said he saw a distinct barefoot track made by Virgil Hill after his arrest, and it appeared to correspond with that of the accused, and one of those found in Maj. Reilly's lot; there was no peculiarity about Hill's foot except its length. While the Hills were employed in painting the house the boys made friends with the yard dog; had frequent romps with him about the lot, and the animal became greatly attached to them. On the morning after the burglary the dog was au 81t found fastened up in a small out-house on

Maj. Reilly, Wm. N. Carr and Mr. J. H. Hanby also testified, and at the conclusion of the latter gentleman's testimony the State closed its case, and Mr. Solicitor Moore announced that, while the circumstantial evidence was strong, it was not sufficient to convict in a capital case, and he would therefore submit to a verdict of not guilty, whereupon the defendant was discharged.

Capt. W. S. Norment and Mr. F. H. Darby appeared, by assignment, for the defence, and the Solicitor for the State. Court took a recess, without further business, until Tuesday motning, at 6 o'clock.

HEAVY BAINS.

Great Freshet in the Cape Fear and its Tributarios-Low Lands Flooded and Crops Destroyes.

The present indications point to a very heavy freshet in the Cape Fear, with material damage to corn in the lowlands along the line of the river. When the steamer D. Murchison left Fayetteville at to the absence of some of the special venire | 81 o'clock Friday morning there had been summoned in the case some considerable a rise of twenty-eight feet, and it was then thought to be rising at the rate of two feet per hour, and later advices report a rise of thirty-two feet. Capt. Garrason reports that as he came along he could just see the tops of the corn-stalks in the lowlands above the surface of the water. This will be bad for the farmers in that section, as many thousands of bushels of corn will doubtless be ruined by the freshet.

The Raleigh News of yesterday says that from every direction the intelligence is that the rains of Thursday have done vast damage. The Haw river, at the crossing of the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line Railroad was higher than it has been known for years. The Deep river also was very high, and the destruction to the crops on the thousands of acres, for one hundred and fifty miles along side of the bed, pistol in hand, and listened, the banks of the Cape Fear, must be

The Raleigh Observer of the same date learns from passengers on the Air Line road that the Cape Fear river is very high, and out of his room, which was in the back part is flooding thousands of acres of the corn

The engineers on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad state that the Neuse and Tar rivers are higher than since the great flood of 1878. The same news is brought by the railroad men from the Deep and Haw rivers, and from the Cape Fear, which they form.
