- Weldon News: Sixty shares have been subscribed to build the bridge across the river. They will all be taken and then sealed proposals will be received to build the bridge. —A heavy rain fell here on Sunday night, and we learn in several places there was much hail. In Northampton county hail is jured the crop of Mr. James Grant, and we also hear that the crop of Maj. Emry, on the Norwood farm, and the crops of other gentlemen in that section were very seriously injured. The corn and cotton being completely stripped of its foliage.

- Raleigh Observer: The three negro burglars who were last week arrested in Chapel Hill have been tried before a magistrate and committed to jail. One of the three was a blacksmith. He made a skeleton key with which the others attempted to open a door in a dwelling. But the key, badly made, broke off in the lock. The blacksmith's participation in the affair was found out, and he turned State's eviternal revenue sources to $124,009,378 92, which is an increase of $49,272,016 90 in customs and $10,437,763 34 in the internal dence against the others.
