The news from Florida is very encouraging. There is no doubt of that State going for Hancock. Great enthusiasm prevails and an active canvass is being conducted. The meetings are reported as very largelarger than ever before.

Last year Foster, the Republican candidate for Governor in Ohio, had but a majority over all of .25. I Ohio goes Republican on the 12th inst., it must be by a very small majority. Foster's majority was 3,252. The vote this year will approximate 700,000.

Secretary Evarts, in his New York speech, said that Gen. Hancock "was a great and faithful General, but"and what do you reckon followed, reader? Hear him: "But he cannot come up to the standard of a party like the Republican which can boast of such men as Lincoln and Hayes." Jewhilikins!

The careful New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, Independent Republican, says the letter of Gen. Hancock on Southern war claims, in which he declares he will recognize them under no circumstances if elected, as he will be, has had a most reassuring effect. He says already there "is a marked improvement of the public credit." The business men of the country knew that Gen. Hancock can be trusted, because he is truthful and he is honest. It is a good thing to have truthful and honest candidates.

The Goldsboro Messenger has begun a new volume. It began its career in 1867, and it has made remarkable progress. It is possibly the most widely circulated paper in the State, and is pushed with uncommon energy. Both the weekly and semiweekly editions are large and attractive papers, printed with excellent type on good paper. We are glad to note such success in North Carolina journalism. The last weekly contained an extra half-sheet well filled with advertisements, and an eight-page pamphlet containing opinions of the press concerning its value, and the vote of 1876 in North Carolina by disticts, and for Governor, President and Representatives. Such enterprise deserves special commendation.

with any information concerning the political outlook knew, that Garfield was a very dead cock already in the Presidential pit, and that the Rads were in despair; but we did not suppose that in their desperation they would undertake to swap horses in the middle of the stream, or change commanders on the very eve of a signal defeat. That there is some such purpose in the minds of the Stalwarts may be true, and the following throws light on it. The Washington special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun, dated September 29,

"An item of goesip has been floating around in political circles here for ten days past to the effect that a movement was on oot for the withdrawal of General Garfield from the head of the Republican ticket and the substitution of General Grant in his place. Not much importance has been attached to this, and for two reasons: First, that there is no recognized authority which could undertake the responsibility of substituting General Grant, even if Mr. Garfield was willing to get out of the way and, second, all sbrewd politicians agree that if the Republican cause is in such dire straits as some of its supporters seem to fear, it is too late now for Gen. Grant or any one else to save it. The meeting yesterday between Gen. Garfield and Gen. Grant, Senators Conkling, Logan and Simon Cameron has, however, given fresh interest to this piece of gossip, and prominent Republicans to day, while not exactly crediting it, talk of the possibility of it as forlorn hope. In this connection it is much commented on that neither Gen. Grant nor Senator Conkling in their speeches yesterday made any personal allusion to Mr. Garfield, and it is a fact, which has never been the case in any previous Presidential campaign, that scarcely any of the leading speakers of the Republican party bring Mr. Garfield into their speeches at ail. Several high government officials to-day were expressing grave doubts as to Republican success in Ohio next month, and said the Republicans could scarcely have settled on a candidate less calculated to arouse popular enthusiasm than Gen. Garfield.

Let them change; we have "got 'em." The country wants peace, and wants an honest government. The country means to have Winfield S. Hancock for President.

The editor of the Washington Post 18 in New York. He writes to his paper that if Indiana and Ohio were to vote now -to day-they would go Democratic. He says the Democrats are very short of money, Mr. Barnnm's Committee not having more than $100,000, all told, and from the start. Tilden gave but $25,000, Hilton but $2,500, and so on. Money is lacking greatly. On the other hand the Republicans have large sums. He says:

"They can reach capital and capitalists essily, and, if necessary, repeatedly. Including the money wrung out of the officials, it is fair to estimate that they have already raised and applied over a million

He thinks the Democrats throughout the country should send contributions to Mr. Barnum and at once. He says further:

"I do not doubt, as I have said already, that we shall win. Go where you will and you will find Gen. Hancock twenty per cent. stronger than Tilden, and he won, but we should win much more easily, and certainly much more emphatically, if the National Committee had no further concern about Southerner.

Our usually correct contemporary, the Wilmington STAR, is wrongly informed in regard to the manner of the nomination of Capt. Kitchin by the District Convention. The opposition spoken of in the STAR's report, arose not upon a motion to make the nomination unanimous, but simply on a motion to nominate "by acclamation." --- Judge Fowle arrived in town Tuesday evening en route to Tarboro. Soon after his presence became known, a crowd gathered at Wm. Bonitz's Hotel, where the Judge was stopping, and to put an end to vociferous calls of "Fowle," the distinguished and eloquent orator responded in a brief, but enthusiastic speech, which was characterized by his own ability. The Judge promised to address the people of Wayne at an early day. Hon. W. H. Kitchin was next called out, and made a stirring speech, after which the audience dispersed in the best of humor. -The Republican leaders in this county are not in a harmonious or brotherly condition. - Senator Vance has been called abroad on important business. - Greensboro Patriot: Miss Lucy Owen, of Hillsboro, died last night about 9 otclock, at the residence of Dr. D. A. Robertson, of this city, of malarial fever.

- Toisnot Home: Rev. G. A. Duke, Baptist, has a protracted meeting at Hickory church, near here. Several conversions are reported, and a good meeting generally is in progress.

- Raleigh Visitor: Rev. Dr. L. S. Burkhead, P. E. of the Wilmington District, is in the city visiting his family. He has been suffering from bilious fever, but we are glad to announce that he is convalescing.

- Graham Gleaner: There is a man in our county jail for running a mil on Sunday. It wasn't his mill, and he raised the flood-gates and started the mill for fun, then ran off, leaving the mill running at full speed.

- New Berne Nut Shell: Oysters have been scarce in our market thus far, and, with one or two exceptions, all that have been brought here have been of a very poor quality. — Miss Martha Barker, who was sent to this section by one of the Northern charity societies to do missionary work among the colored people, and who has done much good, we learn was stricken with a congestive chill in James City yesterday, and died suddenly.

- Raleigh News and Observer: The regular and excursion trains on the various roads yesterday brought many isitors to the colored fair. At an early hour the grounds were quite well filled - Bishop Hood delivered a very sensible proper self-respect; to cultivate temperance and the domestic virtues; to acquire property, and most important of all, to educate both the minds and the hearts of their children. He spoke of the exodus move-ment, and condemned wholesale coloniza-

Nelson, a defaulter to the amount of nearly $2,000. A pretty good steal for a small office. He has absquatulated, leaving his bondsmen to pay. - Chapel Hill items : Things are brightening up for our little town. Chapel Hill is just coming out of her desolation. There are more students here now than at any previous session at its beginning. The University is complete in all departments. - The University Railroad is graded within a mile of the corporate limits of the town, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. - The crops in this county are good. Corn is abundant and cotton is coming in rapidly. It will soon be all open; the crop is good. There is also a fair fruit crop - Halifax dot: The handsome brick house belonging to Maj. M. A. Hamilton, within three miles of this place, was burned on Saturday. It is now a mass of ruins. - Mebanesville note: You will be sorry to learn that diphtheria has been prevailing alarmingly a few miles south of this place. One family buried three children in less than one week.

- Tarboro Southerner: A man in Tarboro has been found bold enough to bet $25 against $50 on Garfield. -T. G. Etheridge, of Coleraine, Bertle county-a good man, is dead. —The farmers of Edgecombe and Pitt counties have organized a society and are determined to hold an Agricultural Fair on the 17th of November at Temperance Hall Grange, Mc-Kendreeville, Edgecombe county. This is the way to start. —On the 18th of No-vember (Thursday) Capt. James R. Thigpen will deliver an address pertinent to the occasion, and Col. John L. Bridgers will entertain the crowd with an historical and practical essay on farming. -- Dr. Joshua Taylor, a good citizen, died at his home in Williamston, on the 21st inst., of consumption. ---Rocky Mount contemplates constructing a Missionary Baptist church. -There are at present more mosquitoes than were ever seen in Tarboro. - We regret to learn that Mr. W. E. Best, a prominent citizen living near Hamilton, in Martin county, poisoned himself on Saturday by taking morphia through which he died on Sunday. Mr. Best had purchased from a merchant in Hamilton. named Hoffman, on Friday, what he supposed to be quinine, as both morphia and quinine are put up in the same sort of small phials.

Acting upon this information Officer Richardson immediately telegraphed to Sheriff John Wilcox, Jr., of Marion, S. C., where the murder was alleged to have been committed, to know if there was any truth in the report. The Sheriff replied by letter, stating that Jim Black was wanted for a cruel and brutal murder, and that a reward of $100 had been offered for his apprehension and delivery. This statement was corroborated by letters from Messre. W. W. Sellers, Solicitor of the Fourth District, and W. H. Manning, the Governor's Private Secretary.

Upon this information Justice J. C. Hill issued a warrant for Jim Black, which was placed in the hands of Officer Richardson, and yesterday morning, about half past 7 o'clock, the alleged murderer was discovered and arrested on board of the little schooner Snow Storm, on the line between this city and Little River, S. C., upon which he had shipped as a hand, under the name of Sain.

The accused was then taken before Justice Hill and regularly committed to jail without benefit of bail. Yesterday afternoon Officer Richardson received another telegram from Sheriff Wilcox, asking him if he could bring the prisoner on immediately, without waiting for a requisition on the Governor, stating that he could exhibit Gov. Simpson's proclamation and furnish him (the officer) a certificate that the prisoner had been delivered; but the officer concluded it was safest to have matters conducted strictly in accordance with law, and his answer to Sheriff Wilcox was to that effect.

The murder is said to have been committed some time in January last, and Sheriff Wilcox said in his letter that great concern for the capture of the murderer had been exhibited by all classes of citizens in Marion.

For the STAR. "Wadesboro and Charleston,"

Charleston News and Courier of September 29th, 1880, which seems to me to be intended more as an attack upon Wilmington than a fair exposition of circumstances connected with the subject in question. The editor writes: "The managers of the A. C. L. were informed (by whom?) that the superiority of Charleston over Wilmingmatter to make such an assertion, but a very difficult one to prove its truthfulness. It is a notorious fact among merchants and net proceeds of shipments of cotton to this market are almost invariably-always average-more than to Charleston. I myself have seen account of sales of cotton from the two markets of the same quality and lot of cotton shipped and sold on the same day, which showed a difference in favor of Wilmington of 1 cent per pound, notwithstanding the fact that the quotation of that day's market was } cent higher in Charleston than in Wilmington. I do not intend to explain wby this difference should be in quotations, but it is seldom that the grading is uniform, and as a rule Charleston grades will go fully one-half to a grade higher here.

One would suppose from reading the article referred to that there was no seaport cotton market within five hundred miles of Charleston, as they seem to think that they should be charged no more freight on cotton over two, if not three railroads, a distance of - miles, than Wilmington, over one railroad, of - miles. I would not be surprised at their claiming that they should be put on the same footing as regards freight from interior points in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas as in New Orleans. Our merchants would do well to ponder over this extract: "There is no discrimi nation against ports that are strong in themselves. Wagon towns, (my italics) the nooks that did a fine business when there were no railroads and no steamboats, and have been dropping behind ever since, but places like Charleston have nothing to fear.' Now, sir, it behooves our business men to wake up and take advantage of the means which nature has provided for us and we will soon not only recover what we have lost, but, from our greater facilities for cheaper handling of goods in transit than are offered by any other Atlantic port, to say nothing of a necessarily greater improvement in market facilities and advantages, we would soon be placed nearer the front rank of cotton ports than we are now. As a means to this end, I would suggest greater manifestation of interest in supporting our Produce Exchange and once more placing our Chamber of Commerce, of which we have heard so little of late years, in the high position of influence it once held. The small amount expended in the support of these institutions would be vastly more than repaid in a little while. In this connection I would ask why it is ality of the Norfolk Exchange and others, while we never hear a word from our own institutions, whose business it is. The subject grows upon one as he writes, and I hope that this communication will result in bringing fully before our people the stern fact that we are going backward and not forward as a commercial com-
