We arge every Democrat in New Hamover to "do his level best" for the county ticket. Work bard and be sure you vote.

There is a strong and growing impression that Hancock will carry Indiana. A great change in his favor is going on all over the country.

The Virginia darkeys are paving their poll tax. Money from outside enables them to do it. Perhaps John Sherman is scattering his Treasury notes as he did in Indiana. Barnum says Hancock will earry Connecticut by 5,000. Jewell says Garfield will carry it by 10,000. Barnum concedes three of the four Representatives to the Radicals, whilst Jeweil says they will get all. Let New Hanover and Pender resolve to elect Mr. Worth to the Senate. Good hard work can accomplish wonders. He will make a faithful Legislator. Every Democratic voter should help on the good work. The census will be completed, it is now said, by the meeting of Congrees. This will allow the new appointment to be made at once, so that the changes can go into effect in 1882. Such is the Washington Democrats of the Third District. remember that the Democratic ascen.

daney in the next House of Representatives may depend on one votemay depend upon your vote. Then do your utmost to secure the election of Mr. Shackelford.

The following explains the compliestions in Louisiana which we find in an exchange:

"Governor Wiltz having decided to keep the registration lists open in New Orleans ing that according to law the books should be closed ten days before election, have decided to prosecute under United States law all who illegally register after that time."

The New York Herald opposes the Democratic nominee for Mayor. Of course. It has been antagonizing Hancock for weeks. A paper that can in any way help such a corrupt knave as Garfield would support hardly an honest Democrat for Mayor at a time like this.

The Radical postmaster in Washington, one Ainger, tried to help Garfield out by lying. He said the "dating stamp" on the Chinese letter was a forgery as the stamp on the etter was not used in January when have been stamped in Washingtonthat on April 18th last a new stamp was adopted-three months afterand the forger had used that. This looked fair but it was false. The Washington Post says the statement is false. It says:

"We have in our possession envelopes stamped at the Washington posterfice before April 13, and the arrengement of the ellers and figures is exactly like the arrangement on the fac-simile.

"So it would appear that Mr. Ainger has not, as he states, changed the form of his stamp; or if he has done so, he has ber n to neglectful of his duty as to permit his clerks to use an old stamp down to April 13, when he says the change was

York express entire confidence in the result in that State. They are in high hopes and the fight is red-hot. The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Times of the date of the 25th inst., writes:

"The one thing apparent above all is that new life and vigor and earnestness have been imparted to the campaign by the Democrats. The sober-thinking members of the National Committee who are not given to speech unless they have honest convictions to express, say to-day that Hancock's chances have improved very much within the past four or five days and he is likely to be elected. They point to fact that the roll of Northern States which Hancock has an even chance of carrying has been swelled very much, now embracing Maine, New Hampshire, Connecti cut, New York, New Jersey, Indiana Califernia, Nevada and Oregon. New York, New Jersey and one more are all that is necessary to win the battle. One of the most confident men at headquarters to-night was Samuel J. Randall. There is no brag and bluster at Democratic headquarters, as there is with the Republican leaders. The Democrats are quietly but earnestly watche ng every sign of the times and are missing no chances. The very best speakers in the party are now at work in the State, and more than a hundred meetings a night will be held this week. The Democrats confidently expect 30,000 majority in New

An immense congregation was present in Richmond at the funeral services of the late Rev. Dr. Plumer The services were solemn and impressive. Addresses were made by Rev. Drs. Preston, Hoge and Curry. Dr Hege made a most teuching address. Dr. Curry is described as being peculiarly elequent. We make room for the following from the Dispatch's report: "His special admirers were wont to call nim god-like-that he was a representative of Nature's nobility. Truly it was so pre-eminently with Dr. Plumer, with his stately step, eagle eye, massive brow, erect stature, graceful carriage, snewy locks and flowing beard. "He did not remind him of Moses, but he always associated him with Abraham The heathen would have worshipped him and deified him. Verily, the elements were so mixed in him that Nature might stand up before all the world and say, This was a

"Dr. Curry next spoke must eloquently of the marvellous proportion between the physical and intellectual man. He described Dr. Piumer as having pessessed the simplicity of a child, the tenderness of a girl, and the herosem of a martyr. He referred also in the most beautiful words to the rare and awest partnership of mind and heart which was found in Dr. Plumer."

Garfield condemned the bad spellng of the Morey letter. It was a "bungling band" that did it and be could not spell "companies." But the New York World shows that bad spelling will not do, as Garfield slips sometimes. The Worlds avs:

"It is also true that the word 'pedigree' s miswritten 'pedidree' in a letter from General Garfield of which the authenticity is beyond question. 'Spelling comes by

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sup writes on the 24th

"A gentleman whose verseity has never been questioned, and a warm personal friend of General Grant, is suthority for the assertion that after the Chicago convention General Grant said Garfield could not be elected, and after the Cincinnati convention' that Hancock was an honorable, safe man, and would be elected."

The New York dry goods market is thus epitomized in a letter of the 25th inst. :

bleached are advanced by the agents. Prints quiet. Ballon solid are advanced cent. Men's wear woollens in moderate demand and foreign goods quiet.'

A Vegetable Curiosity. From Mr. H. Hollingsworth, of Magnolia, we have a curiosity in the sweet potato line, and a little ahead of anything in the way of a vegetable wonder we have ever seen. The largest part of the potato is not more than one inch in diameter, but it is twisted and tied into a knot of very near the dimensions of an ordinary sized man's two fists put together, suggesting the idea of a snake tied into an apparently inextricable knot, with the head protruding at one side or end and the tail at the other. It is something on the order of the potato from Brunswick, noticed a day or two since, the difference being that this is much larger and the folds or intertwining much more multifarious and intricate.

PERCHES BY MESSES. SHACKELFORD AND McLEAN-A LARGE CROWD-GREAT EN-THUSIASM, &c.

The largest, most enthusiastic and successful meeting of the Democracy except one that has occurred this campaign, was held at the stand on the corner of Third and Dock streets last night. The number of people present and the general interest manifested in the affair most gratifyingly indicated that the work of the past few. weeks is beginning to bring forth the results expected, and that our people are becoming thoroughly aroused to the issue at The Cornet Concert Club, followed by quite a lengthy informal procession marched from the Purcell House about nine o'cleck, and, arriving at the stand, rendered delightful music, after which Major D. J. Devane arose and introduced Mr. John W. Shackelford, our candidate for Congress, taking occasion in so doing to earnestly urge the necessity of active, unceasing effort on the part of the people, and alluding gracefully to the claims of Mr. Shackelford for the kindest consideration of the audience.

Mr. Shackelford came forward amidst loud calls and cheers, and he gave a speech that caught the attention of the crowd immediately, and well pleased them throughout the hour that it was continued. It was a speech that all could comprehend, and the earnestness of the speaker, his fund of sixty double and fifteen single hydrants, anecdotes and apt quotations kept every- giving one hundred and thirty-five openbody amused and entertained. Alluding ings for hose attachments, for the use of briefly in commencing to the labors of the canvass he had made with the Republican and Greenback candidates, he enlightened us on the topics they discussed and the satisfactory manner in which the discussions had resulted to our benefit. He | completed, or at equal stated periods theredenounced the Republican party in North Carolina, and reviewed its history, bringing in Judge Buxton's connection with its infamous career, and said its acts obtaining the best water that is available. in North Carolina were typical of power; contrasted the difference in the course of the Democratic party since it had been in power, and showed the transcendent importance of retaining it in control of affairs; announced that if elected he would do all in his power to advance the interests of Wilmington, strive to secure appropriations for the improvement of her harbor, and also to render adjacent streams and rivers navigable, that they might act as feeders to her future greatness; asked that our people should remember that the result in this district might decide as to which party would have the majority in the next House of Representatives; appealed to the Greenbackers who had left the Democratic party to return to the fold, and not, by drawing off votes from him, help to elect a Republican; touched on National and State issues, and warmly counselled the election of the candidates men devote next Tuesday to the good of the ing for the success of the Democratic ticket. Concluding, Mr. Shackelford said that his election depended on the efforts of the citizens of Wilmington-if they but did their duty success was assured. Princi

After a lively air from the band, Mr. J H. Currie took the stand, and in a neat little speech introduced D. H. McLean, Esq., of Harnett, Democratic candidate for District Elector. This gentleman briefly alluded to his con nection with the people of our section, the warm ties that bound him to our city and inhabitants, and then commenced a stirring address in behalf not only of the Presidential candidate whom he directly represented, but as well in futherance of the claims of our State and Congressional nominees. He touched briefly, gracefully and forcibly upon all the leading points of the contest and was listened to most attentively. He is a young man of fine presence and ex. ceptional ability as a speaker, and his effort last night was warmly praised on all sides. It was in the nature of a running fire all along the line, and had a dash, and any more. It has now been three weeks sparkle about it that created the greatest since the gale, and it is hkely that if she interest and enthusiasm.
