EVENING EDITION

AN ENGLISHMAN AS A WITNESS.

During the campaign our space was so much needed for political matter we were compelled to overlook many things that would not escape us ordinarily. We have referred more than once to the founding of an English colony in Tennessee under the auspices of a number of persons of means, headed by Mr. Thomas Hughes, a delightful author and a member of the British Parliament. .Mr. Hughes spent some weeks in the South and formed a most favorable opinion of our people. This has surprised and, possibly, disgusted the Radicals in the North He was taken in charge as soon as he landed and a studious effort was made to fill his mind full of prejudice against our people and to thus induce him to change his plans and locate his colony in some Northern State. But like a level-headed Englishman, as he is, he determined to see for himself. Some few weeks ago he made an address at Chattanooga, and he thus gave the voluntary testimony of a highly educated, practical and sagacious Englishman. He said:

"After two years of searching we at length concluded there was no place we would so likely succeed as on the Highlands of Tennessee. At this conclusion some of my friends in England remonstrated. They said we would find a reception that would not be cordial. I was not deterred by that, for I had heard these doleful sayings before, and I knew how tallacious they were. I was startled somewhat on our arrival at something of the same kind from our friends in Northern towns. We spent two or three days in the Northern towns. We met friends, and had talks, and I confess that the views that were expressed were startling, but not alarming. They told me that there was a great probability of an event taking place in politics that would be the occasion of great trouble all over the country and that all that had been done since the great war was to be reversed, and I confess that I was somewhat depressed by these interviews and felt that my views were a little too rose-colored. After fur her consideration, I felt that these fears were without foundation, and these feelings which were strengthened at Rugby, were converted into truths when I reached Casttanooga. The short time I have been here convinced me on these points. I have seen the men who stood front to front in the great struggle now working side by side aul talk freely and frankly on the future

THE LAWS UPHELD AND EN-

Law has been found necessary in every condition of society. From the earliest times, when tribes migrated from place to place, there has been government. Even the savages have chiefs whose voice is heard and whose mandates are obeyed. The last thing any people will tolerate is anarchy. Dangerous men may preach incendiary doctrines and arouse the bad passions of the worst men, but at last there comes a time when the best portions of society unite for their salvation, and when the wicked and reckless undertake to overturn society and destroy all law and order it is found that they are met at the very threshold by who have the power and determination to crush out he spirit of evil and to maintain moor Tale," civil institutions and the social order. No people like the Americaus will long tolerate communistic views and principles after they become aggreesive and active. The moment an attempt is made, if it is ever made, to carry into practical effect the dangerous, senseless, wicked and agrarian views that have been imported from the Continent of Europe, that moment a match will be applied to the mine of the people's long suffering, and such an explosion will be heard throughout this whole country as will fairly startle the reckless desperadoes who would topple in ruins the grandest and stateliest and most beneficent fabric that was ever reared by the genius and wisdom of man. Our people will give great latitude to free speech, but lawlessness and crime will not be tolerated for any length of time.

NORTHERN SLAVERY.

A DOPTION -- AMIABLE, PREPOSsessing American orphangirl, 14 culured, industrious and excellent child's nurse; full surrender; figancial misfortune requires adopted parents to reside abroad; respectable persons willing to pay now for her future services address Mrs. CARRIE NEWTON, Philadelphia; reference exchanged.

This is taken from the New York Herald. Here we have a direct proposition to reduce a free-born American girl, bereaved of parents, to a condition of white slavery. Suppose such an advertisement appeared in this paper and one of the Northern fanatics and negrophilists got hold of it what a preachment lee would make over it. The "higher civilization" can tolerate such things, however, and no indignation meetings are held and no denunciations from the political pulpits of political churches are heard. An exchange says of the "cultured American orphan girl of fourteen" who is to be sold into slavery with "a full surrender": "A newspaper reporter elicited the following facts: The foster parents of the child are from Indiana. The husband lusing his situation, life became a struggle of In all his emotions, as never before, amazing difficulty to the parents, and they proposed to meet the difficulty by what the lew York Tribune calls 'a barter in human flesh.' The girl to be disposed of is represented to be very handsome, and cheap at $600. It is to be hoped that she will fall into good hands, and that the money paid for her may be a reasonable invest-

There has been steady progress in the agricultural interests of North Carolina. The census will furnish many noteworthy and instructive facts. During the last decade there has been a very marked extension in the area devoted to the cultivation of tobacco. We cannot speak positively, but our impression is there must be at least fifteen counties now more or less devoted to tobacco raising than raised tobacco prior to 1870. At one time it was thought only certain red lands were adapted to tobacco. We can remember when only heavy shipping tobacco was raised and when the gray, sandy soil was thought to be too thin to grow tobacco. Now the fine tobacco is grown on the

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow lock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sus-taining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pinples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Diseases Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weak-nesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER's SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numer ous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AVER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and pre-scribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
