EVENING EDITION.

GARFIELD, THE SOUTH AND 1884

Some of the Democratic papers are beginning to coquette with Garfield before the smoke has risen from the battleheld. Before pledging anything it would be well to wait a few months. Our funeral-baked meats are still in the house and it is almost too soon to be making love to a new lord of the manor. The Democratic papers generally copied and indorsed the charges and evidence against Garfield in the matter of bribery and perjury. They professed to believe them fully. Our speakers dwelt scarcely upon anything else: Now Garfield is either a very corrupt man or a very much main his guilt. It still believes every word of it. It has not seen a scintilla of evidence to relieve him in any particular-even the slightest-and he is just as guilty as President-elect as when only the Republican candidate. If guilty, the Southern people could no more support him in 1884, as some of the Democratic papers are hinting, than they could support him in 1880, without stultifying themselves sadly, and confessing that they had lied wilfully and deliberately for the most shameful partisan ends. The fact is Garfield was accused by his own party organs of bribery in 1873, and by his party friends and supporters in his own Congressional District in Ohio, and if he was not guilty of bribery in two cases and of lying about it afterwards, then the Congressional records are false, and the leading Republican papers were cruel, malicious and slanderous in their ac-

The STAR never copied or indorsed the charges until it had examined the matter earefully. It copied them because it believed every word. Thus believing it has no respect for Garfield and can have none. He is able but unscrupulous, his own party friends being the witnesses. Being President will not alter his character or remove the stains that have been placed upon it, not by us, but by the organs of his own party. To talk about the South supporting Garfield in 1884, provided he pursues a given course, to us would be ridiculous. How could men support him in 1884 who believe him corrupt and dishonored now? It would be a confession that the charges repeated millions of times against him were slanderous and false. The South will not support Garfield, whatever his policy. It will not so degrade itself as to indorse for a second term a man whom it branded as venal and unworthy when a candidate for a first intimations that if Garfield pursued a course agreeable to Southern infor renomination in 1884, and would supported by the Democratic voters. We do not believe one word of it. We do not believe that relfrespecting Democrats can be per suaded possibly to vote for Garfield. As President he will meet with no factious opposition; but as a candidate for the suffrages of the Southern people he will meet with but lit tle favor, if any. The STAR will never bring a serious charge against a political adversary unless it is supported by what it con siders strong and conclusive evidence. If Garfi ld is ever proved to be innocent of the grave and dam' aging accusations brought against him by his own organs and a Com mittee of the House composed of majority of his own party, the STAR will be certain to publish it, and will be frank to commend it. Bat, however much we should be glad to see an administration of the Government for the four years after March upon an economical, just, equal, honest and patriotic basis, we could not agree to take any of Garfield "in our'n" until he was purged of the serious consequences involved in the De Golyer and Credit Mobilier discreditable transactions.

We could forgive his bitter denunciations of the South and his vin dictive desire as expressed in the House that the victorious soldiers should have possession of our homes, if we could see that he was ashamed of his course, and was manifesting a broad and liberal policy towards the South. We would be pleased to see such a line pursued, but it is almost too good to be expected. But to talk of selling out, surrendering bag and baggage to Garfield or any other Stalwart just because he does his duty and does not harrow the South, is premature and unwise, not to say unmanly. The best way is to await the results of the next four years. It will be time enough to begin talking President making three years Until then let the South make all the money it can.

REDUCTION OF REPRESENTA-

If we may trust a Washington special to the New York Herald the Radicals will begin a war on the South after they take possession of the House by striking at its Representation. The first thing they will see to will be to prevent the South from getting any benefit from the large morease in population. Under a fair and equitable apportionment the South would obtain an increase of Representation. But this will not suit the Stalwarts. They must not allow this, as it is highly imporligned man. The STAR believed fully tant to them that their present success in the House shall not be reversed. How the Radical House will compass their ends we would not have guessed, but the following from the Herald will explain the plan: "In the event that the recent election shows that the Republicans are to have control of the House, with the Senate evenly divided, a necessity may be imagined which would lead the next President to call an extra session of Congress to inquire whether, under section 2 of the fourteenth constitutional amendment and section 22 of the Revised Statutes, the right to vote in some of the Southern States has not been abridged, and the sending out of special committees to investigate the subject may be the first step of the Portyseventh Congress, to ascertain whether the number of representatives from the Southern States ought not to be reduced as the law provides shall be done in certain contingencies and the solid South shorn of a portion of its 138 votes."

We will not comment upon this plan, but will await further developments. The SPAR is prepared for any schemes of plunder that may be suggested or originated. It appreciates the uncommon productiveness of the Radical party in plans of outrage and unfairness. If the South is in the way of the North in any particular it will be victimized. Before any part of the South falls down before the Radical image, whether it be carved like unto Garfield or Grant, it would do well "to watch and wait." Possibly the Stalwarts see that their best chance of success in dominating the whole country is by keeping the South "solid," and to this end they will apply the thumb-screw and the boot. Great and flagrant wrongs repeated often have kept the Southern people united. A continuance of the same methods will produce the same results, and it ought to do so. We hope Southern Democrats will not undertake to have any hand in shaping Garfield's Cabinet. If he is inclined to choose a Southern Republican for one of his official family let him do so, but our judgment is that no Southern paper or politician not of the Radical stripe should have anything to do with the selection. We have seen already two or three The Grant wing of the party will probably control, and any man that Convention were diagraceful to the terests that he would render himself very popular and would be acceptable man Friday, will exert pertainly a Mr. Garfield could render his party controlling influence, or Garfield must kick out of the traces early. It is given no doubt for a consideration.

The Historical Society of North Carolina was chartered in 1875. It is without funds and it relies entirely upon the generosity of the public. Its object is praiseworthy certainly. To collect and preserve historical material, relics, curiosities and works of art is worthy of support and commendation. All packages intended for the Society should be sent to K. P. Battle, President of the Society, Rev. J. F. Heitman, Recording Secretary, or Mrs. C. P. Spencer, Corresponding Secretary, all at Chapel Hill. We quote from a circular of the Executive Committee:

The members of the Society are Annual, Life and Honorary. Any person may become an Annual member by paying a fee of one dollar; and, by paying twenty dol. lars at one time, he may become a Life Member. Applications for such membership with the proper fee, and also donstions of money, should be sent to the Rev. J. F. Heitman. Persons distinguished for iterary and scientific attainments, particularly in the department of history, may become Honorary members by election at the annual meetings. Only annual and life members are allowed to vote in the meetings of the Society; and they, together with the Honorary members, are allowed the free use of the library and museum. and are entitled to one copy each gratis of all the society's publications. "The annual meetings are held at the University of North Carolina during the Commencement week of that institution. "The revenues of the Society are derived rom fees, sale of publications, and donnions and bequests of friends.'

Gen. Mahone may be a very important member of the Senate. If he should stand aloof and vote for either party, as circumstances may suggest, he will be a sort of Warwick on a small scale. The Washington Star, Republican, says his campaign fund was raised in Washington and Philadelphia among Republicans.

Three times three cheers for "Old Virginia!" It has, indeed, splendid victory under the circumstances. No Southern State has done so well, all things considered.

THE PERIODICALY.

The British Quarterly Review for October contains the following: Tennyson's Poems; The Lord's Supper Historical, ly Considered; The Art of Singing, Past and Present; A Dutchman on South Africa; Latham on Examinations; Sir James Outram; Explorations and Mission Work in Africa; The Practice of an Architect; Lord Northbrook and Lord Lytton; Contemporary Literature. The last is the most valuable, although several of the papers are instructive and entertaining. Price $4 a year. The Leonard Scott Publishing Company.

Litteli's Living Age, always enjoyable, for the last two weeks contain, among others, the following excellent selections: "The Unity of Nature, by the Duke of Argyll, Part II., Contemporary Review; Bush Life in Queensland, conclusion, Blackwood; Lois, a Sketch, Blackwood; James Russell Lowell, Gentleman's Magazine; Senior's Conversations, Lindon Quarterly; An Historical Love Match, Frager; On the Sources of History, and How They Can Best be Utilized, Contemporary; A Link between the Present and the Thirteenth Century, Times; Sport in the Olden Time: the Gam of Pall Mall, Land and Water; the conclusion of Adam and Eve, by the author of Dorothy Fox, and the usual amount of select poetry. For fifty-two numbers of sixtyfour large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low. Littell & Co., Boston, publishers.

CURRENT COMMENT. -- It is the part of elevated statesmanship to avoid and discountenance false issues. The South has been kept solid by the conviction that in no other way could the inalienable rights guaranteed by the Constitution be effectively maintained. We answer for it that if the Southern States can be relieved of this feeling, (as they would have been had Hancock been elected), the Southern people will turn their thoughts and attention to practical business affairs and will be ruled, in politics, by the considerations which control voters in States where the negro is an abstraction and the carpetbagger an unknown quantity. That will be the end of the Solid South .-

Charleston News and Courier, Dem. - It would be a priceless advantage to the South if its politicians were taught ence for all that they must rely for success not on the shotgun, or the tiesue ballot, or the false count, but on their ability to win the confidence of free voters. What the South is, however, especially entitled to is that the election laws and all other laws shall be administered honestly and well. This involves a reform of the civil service, and that is a work which, like all good works, will be for the good of the whole nation, But a peculiar need and a peculiar opportunity is offered in the South because the federal service touches the people there at more points and more closely. It should be of a character to command confidence and compel respect. During the past three years there has been something done in this direction, but much remains to be done, and all the changes have not been for the best. The tactics resorted to before the Chicago would be to select for the prominent positions in the South men of tried said throughout the North that Grant and company elected Garfield, and there is no doubt of it. Their tardy support, which proved potential, was Times, Rep.

OUR STATE DONTEMPORAHIES.

But a mission remains for the Democratic party to perform. We can still resist the centralizing tendencies of the Republican party, so tatal to true liberty. A revision of the present tariff so as to relieve the consumer of oppressive taxation, and onposition to extravagance in the expenditures of the government are worthy objects, for which we may still contend. But there is another purpose, higher and greater and nobler than reforms in tariffs or measures of economy, which purpo e should asimate the breast of every treeman, North and South-opposition, determined, uncompromising and eternal, to imperialism, come n what form it may .- Fayetteville Examiner .

We expect in a number of those States o see the race and color line completely extinguished. We expect to see the Bourbon and the Conservative elements separate and the latter unite with a portion of the colored people in the government of those States In this way good government may be obtained and all excuse for intimidating the colored voter taken away. The colored people will then, find protection in the exercise of their political rights, as neither faction will any longer have a motive to do otherwise. Whether the Conservatives will finally coalesce, and act with the great National Republican party is uncertain, but it is highly probable that under such an Administration as may be expected from Gen. Garfield that they will. -Statesville American, Rad.

POLITICAL POINT.

- Samuel J. Tilden remains the only living Democrat ever elected President by the People.-Springfield Republican. Hayes' Organ.

-- This defeat would be hard to bear if it was not for the consolation of that oft recurring reflection, "we will best'em next time."- Lynchburg News, Dem.

-- The Grant people appear to be 'on top" just at present, but whether they emain on top or not depends on how they behave the maclves. - Baltimore Gazette, Dem. -- Had New York city given Hancock the same mejority that she gave to Tilden, he would have carried New York State and been elected. One of her managers says that she is making remarkably rapid progress. Manager Jarrett says that in a fortnight or so she will be able to converse quite freely in Euglish.

-The late Lord Clifford, a Roman Catholic peer, provided in his will that should his younger sons, to whom he left $150,000, take boly orders, their portions are to be reduced to $25,000. In like man ner the portions of his daughters are to be reduced from $60,000 to $13,500 should they become nuns. Another Roman Catholic gentleman of high position made a similar provision a year or two ago.

SOUTHERN ITEM

- The property of Mr. Victor Newcomb, the retiring President of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co, is estimated at $6,000,000.

- Judge Edward Rawle, a native of Pennsylvania, and a resident of New Orleans for 56 years, died Thursday of paralysis, aged 83 years.

-- The Farmville Journal submits the pame of Rev. Paul Whitehead as the successor to the late Dr. Doggett, as a Bishop of the M. E. Church. -- The prize which has been and to

ELE TION ITEMS.

- Mr. John S. Barbour carried every county in his district in Virginia and has a majority in excess of 5,000. - Official returns and careful estimates of all the counties in the State of New York place the majority for Garfield at 16,449. The official figures are generally less than the estimates published.

- The election commissioners of Warren county, Mississippi, two Democrats and one Republican, have thrown out 2,059 ballots for Garfield, and 2,029 for Lynch, Republican candidate for Congress, on the ground that they were not in legal form under the laws of Mississippi.
