MORNING EDITION.

OUTLINES.

Richard S. Young, said to be from S. C., arrested in New York for betrayal of a girl; his friends say it is a trap to blackmail.

Moore, Republican, beats Young, Democratic, 844 in Tennessee. Mississippi Valley Commission met at St. Louis yesterday.

The French Ministry resigned and resignations accepted by President Grey; he has sent for Gambetta and said: "Fifty unarmed men are to be sent to Lough Mask to cut the crops, they will be protected by cavalry."

U. S. will refuse to issue Bills Lading to Eastern points via Charleston. "In no case must Bills Lading be given to Eastern cities via Charleston."

This is a declaration of war, not merely against the South Carolina Railroad but against Charleston. A special from New York to the Washington Post gives the following account of the purposes and plans of the New York Democrats:

A mass meeting of the citizens of New York city, with respect to the matter, will probably be called in a few days, and definite steps towards a thorough and exhaustive investigation will be taken.

Here is a graphic pen-sketch of Sara Bernhardt, as done by the artist (staff correspondent) of the Philadelphia Times:

"Her own hair is short and yellowish and looks like the bunch at the end of a lion's tail, but this wig is long and hangs in rippling tresses over and below her thighs. Sara is very tall. She has a long nose—something like Agnes Booth's, without the ever-expanding nostrils; a long neck, that needs lace to conceal the ravages of time, and a terribly long arm. Her arms are as straight as a fiddle stick, with a suggestion of a knob where the elbow ordinarily is. She is tolerably long and very thin from her neck to her meagre hips, and from there down to her feet, which are long and slim, the distance is something marvellous. But her voice is her fortune. It is liquid music, and in all modulations is an organ of exquisite proportions, round and full and soothing to the ear. The play had loitered until she came on, but after that there seemed to be an infused magnetism that affected both audience and artists. There is no doubt that she has an immensity of vigor and fire. She manages her eyes well; better than she does her feet, which are not small nor particularly well-fashioned. Her hands, though so thin and long as to look like skeleton frames, are constantly utilized, and in an effective though not always graceful manner."

The following additional returns have been received: Stokes—Jarvis 1180, Buxton 966; Hancock 1244, Garfield 1093.

As far as heard from in Virginia, (all but seven counties) the vote stands thus: For Hancock (May ticket), 94,663; Hancock (July ticket), 30,338, and for Garfield, 82,287, giving the May ticket a plurality over the Republican of 12,429, but leaving it in a minority of 17,909 of the July and Republican tickets.

Gen. Mahone informs the Richmond correspondent of N. Y. Herald that the reports concerning his future course as Senator are false—"has not the shadow of foundation." When asked what his position will be, he said:

"That I at present refuse to state. The politicians are so anxious to know that I shall keep them in suspense awhile longer."

Bernhardt, the Parisian actress, has had a great triumph in New York. The first night brought $8,000. If the theatre had been larger it would have brought, it is said, three times that. She was serenaded afterwards by Gilmore's band, nearly 2,000 people being present. There were 5,000 persons at the performance at Booth's. She appeared as Adrienne.

In the counties of Wake, Union, Alamance, Edgecombe, Warren, Orange, Anson, Greene, Columbus, New Hanover and Wilson, the vote on the amendment concerning the Deaf, the Dumb and the Blind and the Insane, is 15,050 for and 16,700 against. Chatbam went largely against also. The amendment is carried possibly. We hope not, but fear it is, as the matter was not Spilits Turpentine. — Laurburg Enterprise: Mr. John Stewart, the only surviving member of a large family of sons and daughters, departed this life on Thursday night last at the residence of his wife, in his 74th year, at the advanced age of 74 years.

— Raleigh Recorder: Rev. R. R. Overby, of Camden C. H., in a note dated October 27, says he has "never seen anything like the present condition of his section. Every man, woman and child you meet wears the marks of disease. Nobody says 'I am well.'"
