We wrote of Miss Eyttinge, "well known laurels" not "well known."

The London Saturday Review can understand Mr. Edwin Booth's American reputation after seeing his Richard III.

The new fast Southern train is eliciting much interest all along the line. It almost annihilates time and space.

The Chicago Tribune, Radical time server, goes for windy Dool well with gloves off. Hit him several times, he has no friends this way.

Seven persons in Chicago, after eating of sausage that had been purchased of Arnold Brothers, died in great agony. They were victims of trichina spirals.

The latest rumor is staggering. It is that Pennsylvania is talking of adopting Grant and sending him to the Senate. That is some of old Simon Magus's doings, if there be anything in it, which we doubt very much.

Clocks, chewing tobacco, agricultural implements, sewing machines in large quantities were shipped to Europe by New York steamers on Saturday, besides grain, provisions, 1,248 barrels apples, 50 barrels oysters and 352 sheep.

Judge Robert W. Hughes of Virginia has written a letter taking strong ground against reorganizing the Radical party in that State. Judge Hughes is an able representative of his party. He does not think it expedient to reorganize.

The new fast train on its first trip ran from Washington to Alexandria, a distance of nine and a half miles, in ten minutes. Between Fredericksburg and Richmond a mile was run in one minute and three seconds, whilst the last fifteen miles were run in eighteen minutes.

Father Gavazzi, the famous Italian Protestant missionary, and a remarkable man, has arrived at New York. This is his second visit to the United States in behalf of the Free Italian Church, of which he is the founder. He still wears his monastic garb and tonsure and is most striking in feature.

Gen. Garfield has been called upon by all of the prominent officials in Washington, and it is even said that several hundred persons who are very anxious to become "prominent officials" have called likewise. The General is run to death. No one in this country wants office; they only wish to see the President who is to be. Garfield has not offered Sherman a seat in his Cabinet. Sherman is anxious to go to the Senate, but Garfield is neutral.

The Richmond State, in response to our inquiry concerning Mr. Handly's connection with the Philadelphia Press, gives some information in the subjoined paragraph: "Not necessarily. What is known as 'Managing Editor' on the press of large cities is very different from 'Editor-in-Chief' or 'Political Editor.' He simply manages the disposition of the matter in the paper and takes executive control of the reporters, correspondents and news editors. It is not necessary that he should be a politician, and frequently we see a Democrat as managing editor in charge of a Republican paper, and a Republican directing matters in a Democratic paper."

Our neighbor on the South is prospering, we are glad to learn from the annual message of Gov. Jeter. He says within four years very great improvement has taken place. He represents agriculture as flourishing, commerce as increasing, and cotton manufacturing extending. Education is not neglected, but gratifying progress has been made. He says "the cloud of despondency and gloom which came of profligate, reckless and corrupt legislation is being gradually cleared away, and the hope of a prosperous future invites us to renewed efforts." With such facts is it a matter of surprise that the average South Carolinian is opposed desperately and determinedly to the return of the negro—carpet-bag rule that brought so much of villainy, ruin, robbery and oppression in its wake?

When "Drink" was played in New Orleans, as we learn from the Times, a very strong impression was made upon many who witnessed it. It says:

"If there is any attraction for this public in a powerful play and an excellent dramatic company to give it faithful and intelligent interpretation, the 'Drink' is destined to meet with a decided success. The dialogue is terse and vigorous and to the point. The scenes are true to nature, and though they are of an order unfamiliar to the higher classes of society, yet their realism is so striking that nothing about them appears exaggerated. Several times during the progress of the play Sunday night, the audience shivered as an intensely realistic scene was being enacted, and several ladies appeared to be overcome by what they saw."

Both Hayes and Garfield favor Gen. Hazen for the place of Chief Signal Officer. What is to hinder him from getting it is not stated. We give the Washington talk as reported in the Baltimore Sun:

"They say that Hazen will be appointed Signal Officer. Gen. Ord will be retired and Miles given Ord's place. This would perhaps be the best thing to do for the Ord. Although past the age of retirement, he does not wish to retire. Gen. Sherman thinks that as Gen. McDowell is older than Gen. Ord, the latter should not be retired unless Gen. McDowell is."

There is a strong movement on foot in Philadelphia to run a reform municipal ticket, and hundreds of the prominent citizens who are not politicians but tax-payers and voters, are at the bottom of it. The Republican officeholders and office-seekers are much disturbed thereat.

Spirits Turpentine.

—Joe Turner's paper has "gone up."

—House-breaking is becoming quite common at Hickory.

The Morganton Blade has improved in the good looks of its outside.

—Rev. F. N. Erving, a native of Ireland county, died on the 18th at Decatur, Illinois.

—The Goldsboro Methodists presented their pastor, Rev. J. T. Bagwell, with a gold watch.

—M. K. W. Frazier has retired from the Asheboro Courier, which will be continued by Mr. G. S. Bradshaw his associate.

—Greensboro Protestant: The sad intelligence has reached us of the death of that estimable Christian lady, the beloved wife of Dr. John T. Bellamy, of Enfield.

—Danbury Reporter: There were five accessions to the M. E. Church of this place last Wednesday night. Others wish to join, but there is no minister here at present to open the doors of the Church and admit them.

—Shelby Aurora: Mr. M. L. Carroll, R. E. Agent, at this place, informs us that there has been shipped, from the Shelby depot, up to the 17th inst., 5,195 bales of cotton. The number shipped to same date last year was 3,788, making an excess over last year of 1,407 bales.

—Morganton Blade: The Tarboro Southern tells of a hunter in that section who bagged 99 opossums this season, and Franklin Times of one who has caught 133. —The Legislature in January will have to face a most important question affecting the public welfare of North Carolina, to wit, our system of common schools.

—Asheboro Courier: John Beaman, of Montgomery county, killed a very large wolf about four miles northwest of Troy on the 6th inst. —We regret to learn that our neighbor, the Moore Index, had no logs or any sign of hip bones and was shaped like a shad. They had to hold it up to the cow to suck, and it would eat meal or fodder with a relish. Barnum should have it.

—Wadesboro Times: On Monday last 'Squire Joel Gaddy, a most respected citizen of Asheboro, living some seven miles below here, met with a serious accident. While examining his cotton gin, in some way his left hand got caught in the machinery, and before the gin could be stopped, his whole arm up to and above the elbow was badly crushed and mangled.

—Rockingham Bee: The North Carolina and Western North Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Protestant Church, as a reunited body, will hold its session on the 1st of December, 1880, at Tabernacle, ten miles south of Greensboro. —Mrs. Ann Isabella Martin, wife of Jas. Martin, Esq., nee Nicholson, aged about 87 years, died of consumption in Montgomery county, near Mt. Gilead, on the 17th inst. —Charlotte Press: There will be

THE OPERA HOUSE.

"Led Astray." The weather was somewhat inclement last night and the audience was not so large as on the previous night, but it was a good one nevertheless. "Led Astray" is less melodramatic than "Drink," and indeed does not belong to the same order. It is a society play containing some highly interesting scenes. The antics are well preserved, and all moves on to the appointed end with dramatic precision and cumulative interest. The style of the play is decidedly good, and the conversations are sufficiently terse and animated. The play is lively and amusing at times, but it is not continuously powerful. There is a gradual rise of climax which afforded Miss Eyttinge some fine opportunities of giving rare pathos and force to some of the scenes in her very striking personation of Armand Othoide. The occasions for high art were much better than those of the first night, and she availed herself of them as only a woman of superior abilities in the domain of histrionic art could. There was an admirable harmony and effect in her performance as well as a quiet dignity and grace, rising into fervid passion that was quite electrical. The creation was impressive, and it was excellently sustained. This is not the language of extravagance but of sober criticism. We can understand now why it is she could sustain herself so long and so well before a New York audience accustomed to the best acting. The drama presented is not one of the highest emotions, but it is one of real interest, and the catastrophe that threatens in the fourth act ends in a happy denouement in the sixth and last. The costumes of Miss Eyttinge were very elegant, and riveted the eyes of the ladies. Miss Egbert made a capital Madeline, a rollicking, sprightly, interesting girl sure to fall in love sooner or later. Mr. Seaside did not have a character as well adapted to his powers as the one the first night, although he played well. Mr. Shields achieved a decided success as Doctor Piaside as did Mr. Montague as Baron Mount Goslin. The other supports were good, and we see no reason for changing our first opinion that it is a company of unusual good qualities and well merited success. The entertainment was engaging, and those who failed to attend missed genuine enjoyment and a true dramatic performance. We shall be pleased to have this company with us again, and with Nick Bottom, the weaver, we may say, "We wish you of more acquaintance, good Master Cobweb."

—Rockingham South: The residence of the widow of Walter Hatley, situated three or four miles south of this place, was accidentally burned last Wednesday. Nothing saved. Lost not heavy. The property belonged to Maj. R. T. Long. We regret to learn that typhoid fever is prevailing to a considerable extent in the neighborhood of Keyser, in Moore county. A colored man, who was brought by place and lodged in jail on Wednesday last, charged with house-breaking.

—Statesville Landmark: Mrs. Isabella Reynolds Simonton, widow of the late Major A. K. Simonton, died at her residence in this place on Monday at noon. For the benefit of the members of the company the Iredell Blues have established a reading room, which they propose to furnish with a library of choice literature.

There are at present twelve prisoners in our county jail, seven white and five colored. Eight are United States prisoners, seven white and one colored, and the remaining four, all colored, are held for various offences against the State. Eight United States prisoners who had served thirty day sentences, have been released within the past week.

—Goldsboro Messenger: The gin, gin-house and screw press of Mrs. A. E. McKinnin, in the Providence section of the North Carolina Conference since the 1st of December amounted to $500.30. —Why is it that Goldsboro is discriminated against by the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad? Very little cotton, compared with former years, finds outlet here from either Kinston, LaGrange or Falling Creek. One of our Goldsboro cotton-buyers who a year ago bought nearly 1,000 bales at LaGrange, has not been able to buy any there this season, because of the existing discrimination in favor of Newbern and against Goldsboro.

THE CITY.

—Mr. R. H. Cowan, of the Ansoo Times, was in the city yesterday and called to see us.

—There will be an eclipse of the sun to-day, but it will be invisible in this section of the country.

—The wood famine has reached Charlotte. It has somewhat abated here, though wood is still high in price.

—The fast through mail will close at the Wilmington Postoffice at 7 P. M., instead of 7.45 P. M., as heretofore.

—A flat loaded with wood capsized at the foot of Princess street yesterday morning. The wood was nearly all recovered.

—Alfred Martin, a colored youth, was arrested yesterday for fast driving, and recognized for his appearance before the Mayor this morning.

—Capt. Bisby, announces that the steamer Elizabeth, carrying the United States mail between this city and Smithville, will hereafter leave Wilmington at 9 A. M. and Smithville at 2 P. M.

—The police have instructions to abate the blowing of tin horns until Christmas. It is "too much of a good thing" to commence a month beforehand; the novelty will all wear off before the holidays commence.

—There was a narrow escape from a fire at a residence on Third street near Mulberry yesterday morning about five o'clock. Fortunately the flames were discovered in time to prevent any damage of consequence.

—The train on which the Rentz-Santley party had embarked from Columbia, S. C., to Montgomery, Ala., was wrecked a few days since. Liza Weber was thrown thirty feet down an embankment, but escaped with a few scratches.

MARRIAGES. Mr. George W. Bailey, formerly of this city, was married on the 28th ult., at Hadley, Mass., to Miss Juliette Ayres, formerly connected with the Tilton Normal School in this place.

Mr. C. D. Russell, formerly of Wilmington, was also married, at Savannah, Ga., a few days since to a Miss Carter.

We wish our young friends lots of happiness.

SADEN DEATH. A colored cook employed at the boarding house of Mrs. Lowther, on Front street, near the railroad depot, died whilst sitting in a chair in the kitchen, from some unknown cause, yesterday evening about 8 o'clock. Coroner Hewitt was notified and will hold an inquest.

Daily Weather Bulletin.

The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations named, at 3.00 P. M. yesterday, Washington mean time, and also the amount of rainfall in inches for the twenty-four hours ending at 3 P. M., as furnished by Sergeant James W. Watson, Signal Officer at this Station:

Table with columns: Station, Temperature, Wind, Clouds, Rainfall. Includes Atlanta, Augusta, Charlotte, etc.

The following are the indications for the South Atlantic States to-day: Lower barometer, stationary or higher at temperature, north to east winds, shifting in the southern portion to southerly or westerly, partly cloudy or cloudy weather, with rain.

Magistrate's Court. George Hooper, a seaman, was arraigned before Justice Mills, yesterday, on the charge of assault and battery, and judgment was suspended on the payment of costs.

Handy Robinson, colored, was before Justice Gardner on the charge of stealing the sum of $23 in money from Mrs. Schriver. Case continued until this morning, at 10 o'clock.

Charles Medway, colored, was arraigned before one of the Justices of the Peace on the charge of false pretense, and was ordered to give bond in the sum of $100, with good security, for his appearance at the present term of the Criminal Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

What 1881 Promises. The year 1881 promises some points of interest to astronomers. To say nothing of sundry comets, there will be two eclipses of the sun and two of the moon during the year, and on November 6th there will be a transit of Mercury. The planet Saturn will also be so improved in position that a fair study of the rings can be made. At the present time the planet presents, in the telescope, a magnificent spectacle. The space between the rings is faintly visible with a power of 250 diameters.

RIVER AND MARINE. —The Lavinia F. Warren, Capt. Johnson, from Navassa and bound for Baltimore, put in below yesterday in distress, said to be leaking.

—The government steam dredge Woodbury is now laid up at Messrs. Fowler & Morrison's wharf, undergoing certain necessary repairs to her machinery.

—The steamship Benefactor, Capt. Jones, which has been laid up in New York for some weeks past for repairs, put in her appearance again yesterday in much better trim than formerly.

—The brig Eugene Hale, Capt. Lord, from Navassa; the schooner Ada E. Snow, Capt. Thorndike, from Navassa, schooner Thomas R. Pittsford, Capt. Pitcher, from Navassa; British brig Busy Bee, Capt. Graham, and the Norwegian barque Arctic, with about seven or eight other vessels, mostly square-riggers, were reported in below yesterday, the southerly breeze of the past day or two having brought them in.

—We have omitted to mention a matter of some moment in steaming circles, and that is the recent resignation of Capt. Garrison, of the steamer D. Murdochson, whose long and faithful services on the river had endeared him to his employers and won him a host of friends. He gives up his position, we learn, to engage in other business. He is succeeded in command of the steamer by Capt. Jerro Roberts, of Fayetteville, a gentleman of experience, and who, about twenty-five years ago, was one of a firm who ran on the river, between this city and Fayetteville, what was known as the Frank & Jerro Line of steamers, being called after the brothers, Frank and Jerro Roberts.

CITY ITEMS. NEWSPAPER FOR SALE.—A well established section of the Weekly News, published in thriving growing town on the line of a prominent Railroad, is offered for sale. Terms cash. For terms and particulars apply to the editor of this paper.

From eminent Dr. H. R. Eppson, Memphis, Tenn. "This is to certify that I have made use of Todd's Liver's Compound in the treatment of several cases of consumption and general debility, and have found it to act admirably in such cases as a nutritive food, tonic and stimulant." GREEN & FLANNERY, Agents, Wilmington.

A WORLD OF GOOD.—One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not so pleasant as some other Bitters it is not a white-brown drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

MAN NEVER IS—BUT ALWAYS TO BE BLAMED.—At the time of reckoning, which comes to all at the approaching close of the year, how many will recall with sorrow and regret some special schemes of speculation. The natural course of a sensible man is to woe the fickle Goddess Fortune once again, and in reading the always reliable columns of the advertisements in general cases of consumption and general debility, will have found it to act admirably in such cases as a nutritive food, tonic and stimulant." GREEN & FLANNERY, Agents, Wilmington.

More Potato Irrigations. We received from Messrs. G. Boney & Son, yesterday, a Norton yam potato, 8 1/2 inches in circumference and 4 ounces in weight, which may be pronounced a perfect "twistification." It is, as it were, wound up into a ball, and it would be a matter of impossibility to ascertain its length with any degree of correctness without breaking the potato. The Messrs. Boney pointedly remark that "it is the largest potato to its size we have seen." It grew on the farm of Mr. B. Fussell, Sr., near Wallace, in open soil, not confined in any way.

Remedy for Cholera Cholera. The Kingston Journal gives the following, which may be of service: "Mix spirits of turpentine in shelled corn and feed." "Mrs. Isaac Brown, of Jones county," says the Journal, "had a drove of one hundred turkeys, and the cholera was sweeping them away, having killed twenty-five, when she followed this remedy, and not another one died."

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.—Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the "Boston Christian Freeman":—"We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine, which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge in our own family. It is a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and easy passage of bowels, and it is a relief to the mother. There is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething stage, on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
