The field to be cultivated in North Carolina is large, without going beyond the limits of the State. Our population is not less than 1,400,000, last article is fired at the greatest living and there ought to be not less than 1,400 young men at our colleges at this time. This is surely a small allowance-1 in every 1,000. With this number the University would draw not less than 400 from North Carolina alone. It would then secure 100 from States south of us. In old times - prior to the war - probably 200 came from other States. With such a Faculty, offering such advantages, with a University located in one of the most healthful regions of the world, and with a site equal in natural beauty to any on the continent, unless we except the Orphan Asylum at Oxford, there ought to be not two hundred but eight hundred students in attendance. We hope the time may come before the century ends, when visitors to the pride of the State, its noble University, will be greeted with the presence of from six to eight hundred young men who have come up to that famous seat to drink of its pure waters of instruction that will gladden and refresh their lives until the end.

The Legislature of North Carolina should do all it can to foster this State institution, and to make it in all respects first among the foremost. Every North Carolinian, of whatever name or persuasion as to his religion, should feel a genuine pride in the progress and glory of the University of his State that is now doing a most important work, and will make still other advances as it is sustained by public sentiment and public patronage. There is room for all our colleges. They are all growing in patronage. We hope

CURRENT COMMENT.

--- Many of the blessings of republican institutions are still enjoyed by our citizens, but the triumph that has so greatly elated the Republican party was won by agencies bearing such a close analogy to the Napoleonic methods that in the vital matter of regulating the control of the government of this country the essential features of the Empire have already been established on the ruins of the system of free and fair elections established by our ancestors. In spite of all the power that money, official interference, and intimidation could concentrate, Gen. Hancock has received a majority of the popular vote cast at the late election. Nearly five millions of freemen, unawed by influence and unbribed by gain, have formally recorded their wish that he should be the next President of the United States .- Forney's Progress, the Supfather of Mary Anderson. Kausas City Times, Border Journa!. Miss Mary Anderson is reported to have shed tears and complained of "the abuse that has been heaped upon her" since her arrival in Kansas City. If any abuse has been heaped upon her we do not know it. Every newspaper and everybody in Kausas City have had the kindest words for the lady; all admire and praise her talents. What has hurt Miss Anderson's business here, and what has hurt it all over the country, is the conduct of Miss Anderson's coarse, illiterate, profane, and vulgar stepfather, Dr. Hamilton Griffin. This blustering charlatan is the Old Man of the Sea who, astride of a talented girl's reputation, is weakening and damning that . reputation, and is wearing that talented girl out by his overweening greed for money. Mary Anderson is not to-day the woman, physically, she was one year ago. She looks pale and thin; she is overworked -she is a pack horse, carrying a family the head of which is a gross robber, whose appreciation of Mary Anderson's gifts is limited to the extent of their capacity to keep him housed, fed and clothed. With this sordid lout driving her like a slave through this species of professional bondage, the possibilities of greatness are in Mary Anderson's case very limited. Under the management of a humane, discreet, liberal gentleman, the probability of greatnees would in Miss Anderson's case be unlimited. The Times would like to reorganize Miss Anderson's company. Dr. Hamilton Griffin would not then be business manager; he would be the first walking gentleman, and he would walk in precious

[By Cable to the Morning Star.] LONDON, November 30 - A Paris dispatch says the promotion of the Pabama Canal scheme has been resumed with extraordinary vigor. The movement is so universal that success as regards subscriptions and capital is certain. Adhesions are arriving from every quarter of the globe. The preliminaries of the sculling match for £500 aside between Hanlon and Laycock were not settled at the first meeting at the Sportsman office to-day. There will be another meeting at 5 o'clock, when the articles will doubtless be signed.

INDICTMENT SET ASIDE IN THE ROTHS-CHILD MURDER CASE

By Telegraph to the Morning Stur 1 GALVESTON, November 30. - A dispatch to the News, from Marshall, says: "In the Rotschild murder case, yesterday, Judge Booth sustained the defendant's motion to set aside the indictment on the ground that the State Attorney was present when the grand jury deliberated upon and found the bill, and that it was not shown from the minutes of the Court that hine jurors concurred in the finding of the bill. Unless proceedings are instituted within two days the prisoner will be discharged."

THE SHOOTING OF LT. GOV. ROBINSON ACCIDENTAL.

[By lelegraph to the Morning Star.]

DENVER, COL., Nov. 50 .- That the shooting of Lt. Gov. Robinson was accidental, is now evident from the post mortem examination, which shows that but one shot was fired. The ball in its course through the door struck a nail and was split and carried pieces of the nail with it, thus causing four wounds, which were supposed to have been caused by other shots.

THE UNIVERSITY.

The STAR has a right to say that it is a firm friend of education. It has proved its faith by its works. It has shown its sympathy and conviction by its consistent course. It has lost no opportunity to speak a good word for the education of the masses whenever an opportunity offered. It has in a dozen editorials urged changes in our present common school system that seemed necessary absolutely. It has discussed many times the subject of education under many aspects, and it will continue from time to time to urge the subject of popular education upon the legislators and the leaders of public opinion.

But whilst considering the public schools question it has not lost sight of higher education and the claims of the University and denominational colleges upon the people. The STAR has atways given such facts concerning them as space and circumstances allowed. It has watched their progress with interest, and has rejoiced with others in the unmistakable success they have made. It is no doubt true that the advantages now offered by all of the colleges of the State, both male and female, are better than were offered ten years ago. There has been improvement in the modes of teaching as well as increase in the number of pupils.

We mentioned last week that President Battle, of the University, had been in our city. We had the pleasure of an hour's conversation with him, and we directed; many inquiries to the present and future prospects of the Institution over which he presides with so much success and ability. Whilst we were not of those who urged his election we are of that number who recognize his peculiar fitness for the place. We have watched his management with some care and we are satisfied. his selection was a fortunate one.

We were glad to learn from Dr. Battle that the number of students now in attendance is greater than that of last year, with good prospects | had read or heard of his "solitary of an increase. The Faculty now at horseman." Mr. James was English, they will soon double in pupils and Ind. Dem. increase every way in their appointments. Each has a special mission to fill, and each is meeting its responsibilities successfully and encouragingly. The University is the enemy of none, but the friend of all. Let North Carolinians work together for the good of the dear old mother State. Let them see to it that the University is not neglected.

Since January, 1880, sixty-four railroads have added 335 locomotives and 24,175 cars of various kinds to their rolling stock. In addition orders have been issued for 103 engines and 6,593 cars. Here are the outlays made heretofore by these roads as we find the figures condensed from the Railway Age, of Chicago, in the Baltimore American:

"1,595 locomotives, 1,813 passenger and mail coaches, and 66,607 freight cars, the outlay being $65,679,920. The reports from the sixty-four companies also included the rails and ties laid since the 1st of January. Steel rails were laid on 1,770 miles, requiring 156,305 tons, which, at an average of $60 per ton, cost $9,378,360; the iron rails laid have been 673 miles, requiring 48,662 tons, costing, at an aver-age of $45 per ton, $2,189,700; the ties number 8,560,728, costing $3,424,290-making a total for rails and ties $14,-993,290. The same companies estimate that during the balance of the year they will lay 568 miles of steel and 159 miles of iron rails, with 1,625,000 ties, the cost of which will be $3,175,500-making the outlay by these roads for rails and ties more than $19,000,000. Taking the purchases actually reported by the roads mentioned as the basis, the estimate for the entire mileage will be: Steel rails, 8,429 miles, or 744,310 tons; iron rails. 3,205 miles, or 231,720 tons, and 40,765,000 ties, representing a total outlay of $71,146,100. If the value of the rolling stock is added, the grand total of outlay will reach a grand total of nearly $91,000,000 "

We met with a singular mistake in the English Gentleman's Magazine the other day. Mr. H. R. Haweis, an English critic of very decided excellence, in an elaborate and interesting paper on the American Minister at the Court of St. James, Mr. James Russell Lowell, better known in this country for his poetry and delightful prose works, fell into the singular error of supposing the late G. P. R. James to be an American. The truth is he is one of the most voluminous authors of this century, and we supposed every man, woman and child

---- We see it stated that Rev. Hyatt Smith, of Brooklyn, who defeated Mr. Chittenden for Congress, has simply fulfilled thereby an oath he had taken with Anson Burlingame years ago. Burlingame carried out his part of the sacrament, became a Congressman, Minister to China and died, some say, by poison adminis-- Toisnot Home. tered by some enemy in the Flowery Land. Mr. Smith has at last, after a long interval, performed the feat he vowed to accomplish. It took him forty years to do it; but he succeeded finally, just as the Abbe Troublet, who was a great fool, by nearly a half century's persistence, succeeded in becoming a member of the French Academy. - Augusta Chronicle.

BALTIMORE'S SOUTHERN TRADE

Some Suggestsons from an Old Baltimore Merchant-A South Carolinian's Views-What a Virginia Merchant Has to lay.

The publication by the Gazette of an article on our Southern trade prospects and the interviews with leading merchants on the same subject has elicited from our subscribers, in and out of the city, numerous communications. From those in our possession we make room for three this morning, one from a leading business house in the city, the second from an intelligent South Carolinian, now in the city, and a third from an Alexandria merchant:

A BALTIMORE MERCHANT ON THE SIT-UATION.

To the Editor of the Gazette: I have read what you say about

"Our Southern Trade." It is, indeed, a matter of great importance to Baltimore and to the "solid South." At the same time excuse me when I suggest to you we must not claim too much simply because we are Baltimore, and because we vote with the South. Boston does the same. We must, as Mr. Smith says, make our freights as low or lower than from any city north of us; must sell them goods as low and on as good terms and treat them as well as New York or Philadelphia possibly can. Then we will be able to say to our Southern merchant friends: Now, other things being equal, price, terms, freight, &c., we are of you and with you; we appreciate your troubles and sufferings; we neither believe you have "horns and hoofs," or serious intentions against the United States Government; we do not believe as your New York and Philadelphia so-called friends do, that you either intend to rebel again, or to try in any way to reenslave the poor negro, nor do we think the success of your party will
