Atlanta is preparing for its great international cotton exposition in October, 1881.

Report in Washington says that Judge Strong, of the Supreme Court, has written his resignation.

By the fire already reported as cccurring at Petersburg, three million pounds of sumac were consumed.

It is thought by small Democratic Senators that Gen. Mahone will act and their party. But it is speculathe reader will find some needed information concerning the Orphan A-yourn at Oxford, that is doing so simirable a work, in the proceedings of the Masonic Grand Lodge, published elsewhere.

The New York Herald says that women can vote in Texas, owing to a provision of the Texas statutes which declares that "the masculine gender shall include the feminine and neuter." But the women have not found it out as yet.

Senator Randolph will attempt to have Gen. Fitz John Porter restored to the army, with a view of retiring him on the pay of a Colonel, but with no back pay. This is the best that can be done no doubt, but it is a shame to Radicalism that such is the case.

The New York Herald got off an excellent paragraph about genius and skill. It was stolen, got into the papers with a wrong credit, and now the Washington Post attributes it to the Richmond Whig. There are no class of people who are as unjust to each other as editors.

General Sherman will retire voluntarily from the army when he celebrates his sixty-second birthday, which occurs next April. He will have three-fourths of his present pay. Many Democrats in Congress are said to favor Haves's recommendation as to Grant. It is thought he will have Sherman's place or some other will be created for him.

The Republicans caucused over Senator Morgan's resolution relative to the counting of the electoral votes. They saw something suspicious in it -behind it was a dodge to count out Garfield by rejecting the vote of New York, and thus throw the election into the House. They resolved to oppose it, declaring it unconstitutional. Another small tempest in a cracked teapot.

The question of the Louisiana Senatorship is attracting the attention of Congressmen afresh. Judge Manning, Senator elect, is in Washington looking after his seat. Many Democrats are anxious to seat Manning. They say it is necessary to give them a majority as it is uncertain what course Mahone and David Davis will pursue. Senator Hill thinks a final vote will be taken during the session. The Republicans are confident that Kellogg will be seated. At least four Democrats are thought to favor Kellogg.

There is some Washington talk as Grand Master. to a fusion between the Democrats and Greenbackers to control the next nior Grand Warden. House. It may be that there is something in it. The following has some significancy as well as perti-Grand Treasurer.

"Washington, December 7 .- During he past few days the Democrats have manifested an unexplained amount of confidence that they will be able to control the organization of the next House. It has leaked out that the Republican majority has dwindled to a very small figure-some make it only one, and others two over all. It has been noticed that there has been a sudden influx to Washington of a number gentlemen who were elected on the Greenback-Fusion ticket, and it is intimated that some of those who were chosen under Republican auspices have been approached by Democrats and tempting over-

Hon. Joseph J. Davis, of N. C., is one of the sub committee of the Yorktown Centennial. It is to hold a meeting to select a site for the proposed monument. Apropos of the monument the Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch

Ward, of New York, and Henry Van Brunt, of Boston, appointed by the Secretary of War to select designs for the Yorktown monument; are required to report to a position which he is well qualified to fill. the committee on the 13th. The artist who prepares the successful design will be paid $3,000 out of the $100,000 appropriated by Congress for the monument.

Col. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, writes his first Southern letter from Richmond, Va. It is dated 8th and fills a column and a half in his paper. He says:

If Virginia could shake off this terrible repudiation incubus, her political and business future weuld be full of promise. Her people have no disposition to antagonize the Garfield administration, and with a reputable Federal civil service enforced in the Sa'e, Senstors and Representatives would be cordially sustained by the people in generous'v supporting the new Presi-

The second day's session of the Grand Lodge yesterday was opened with the exemplification of the work.

The evening session was occupied u the election of Superintendent of the Orphan Asylum and grand offi-Mr. J. II. Mills was unanimously re-elected Superintendent. Mr. Mills submitted his report on the Oxford Orphan Asylum. At the last annual communication 138 orphans were reported present. Since that report 62 have been admitted, making 200 in attendance during a part of the year and 578 since the opening of the institution. Since the last report 57 have been discharged, all finding honoracle, and many of them lucrative, employment. Four have been adopted by childless couples amply able and willing to do well for them. The Orphan Asylum Committee reported. They say:

There are those who cry for help who are no orphans, the deserted. We think a separate organization should open to receive them, and now call attention to them and their claims, promising our co-operation with any other organization who will start a home for their aid.

We return thanks for the earnest, liberal co-operation of all other organizations, civil and religious, in our great work. The aid extended has been of great benefit in extending and promoting the cause.

We recommend the appropriation of two thousand dollars for its support from the funds of the Grand Lodge, to be paid to the superintendent whenever and in whatever sums he may require.

We recommend the further continuance of the Orphans' Friend as a valuable auxiliary to the work.

That, in consideration of the suggestions of the Superintendent and Grand Master, the committee approve the idea of a separation of the sexes; not from any actual dereliction, but from abundant caution. The extended work, both for the present and future, demands more extensive buildings and grounds. Many propositions have been made for the accommodation of this idea; many more may be. We, therefore, recommend that the matter be referred to a select committee, consisting of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, the Superintendent and three brethren to be named by the Grand Master, who shall consider and decide the matter of a location for the male department, and to take immediate steps for the erection of suitable buildings on the grounds

It is learned that Judge Bond has not yet filed his opinion in the Spartanburg & Asheville Railroad case, which was argued before him and Judge Dick in the United States Circuit Court here about six months ago. —In the fire place of a small house not very far from a dwelling now in course of construction there was a flash of powder, just when the old woman who was doing the cooking turned her face towards the fire. "Somebody's been putting powder in this fire," she murmured, and continued to pile on wood. It was pine wood and burnt rapidly. When the blaze was brightest, and the room was looking the cheeriest, there came a crash. Pots and kettles were thrown into the furthest corners of the room; sparks and burning coals went flying hither and thither, and pork and beans beameared the walls. It was that Commissioner S. G. Testimonial to Gen. Whiting. The venerable E. J. Hale, in a letter to the Fayetteville Examiner, under date of November 30th, mentions having been to Greenwood that afternoon to see to the these eminent citizens of our State will completion and placing of a atone at the head of the grave of Gen. W. H. C. Whiting, the hero of Fort Fisher, who was wounded and captured at its fall and died of his wounds on Governor's Island in March, 1865. This testimonial, which, Mr. Hale says, was prepared by Rev. Dr. Watson and a few other Wilmington gentlemen, is in the form of a shield, eight inches thick, and about eighteen inches wide and as many deep, of pure white marble, and bears the following inscription :

Wm. H. C. Whiting, Major-General C. S. A. Born March - 1824. Died March - 1865.

The days of birth and death are inscribed, but Mr. H. was not sure that he recollected them, and so left them blank.

Another Little Cotton Fire.

A bale of cotton in the yard back of Messrs. Newbury & Chasten's store caught fire yesterday afternoon from a spark from a neighboring chimney. The alarm was telephoned to the Exchange, and thence to the City Hall, whence it was sent to the various engine houses; but it had barely been transmitted when word came through the teleghone that the fire was out. This shows the value of the telephone in connec tion with fire-alarms. It is safe to assume that the engine would have been on the way to the fire in less than five minutes after it was discovered if there had been no occasion to countermand the alarm. The damage was really very trifling, but the "scare" was considerable.

German Carp. Prof. W. C. Kerr, State Geologist, writes to Mr. Don. MacRae, of this city, that the quota of German carp due to North Carolina has been at last received; or some of his friends would not like to have some of them. In the absence of suitable ponds for the propagation of these fish, how would our rice fields do for that purpose?

Another Fire in Laurinburg.

From Mr. H. I. McDuffie, of the Laurinburg Enterprise, who was in the city yesterday, we learn the particulars of another disastrous fire that occurred in that unfortunate town yesterday morning. It was discovered on the roof of Mr. H. F. Northrop's bar-room, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, and destroyed all the intervening buildings between McCaskill's drug store, corner of Main and Front streets, and Everett Bros. & Gill, comprising six stores, one dwelling, stables, Dr. R. D, Dickson's office, drug store of J. I. Mc-Callum, postoffice and dwelling, occupied by A. T. Clark and family.

Three colored men, claiming to be from this city, were arrested Tuesday morning as suspicious characters, but the evidence not being sufficient to convict them with the first fire, which was evidently of incendiary origin, they were discharged. The last fire is supposed to have been accidental.

As a matter of interest we would state that Superintendent Mills, of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, in his recent report to the finding honorable, and many of them lucrative, employment. Four have been dopted by childless couples, amply able and willing to do well for them. Two ran away, because they were no longer willing to be properly restrained. Three have died, and it is a little remarkable that death first chose a boy from Jackson, far away in the West, then a boy from Chowan near the roaring ocean, and then a girl from Wake, near the centre of the State. Many improvements to the Hospital, &c., have been made during the year, and $12,-015.60 disbursed. "Many of the orphans have," says the Superintendent, "inherited corrupt tastes from diseased and dissipated parents, and though our bill of fare was rather better than usual, they began to eat acorns, and, before we knew the cause of their suffering, about twenty of them were exceedingly emaciated from diseased stomachs."

We especially call the attention of Wilmington parents to the damaging effect to children from eating acorns, as described above; a habit to which many of them hereabouts are addicted.

American Legion of Honer, Clarendon Council No. 67, of this Order, at a meeting held yesterday evening, elected the following officers for the ensuing year, viz: Commander-O. Fenell, Jr. Vice Commander-H. H. Kasprowicz. Orator-R. E. Heide. Secretary-B. A. Hallett. Collector-Jacob Weill.

Meteorological. Several persons noticed a very singular phenomenon in the western heavens just about twilight on Thursday evening. An object having the appearance of a ball of fire suddenly became visible just above the horizon and shot athwart the sky in a northerly direction, with a slight inclination downward, and leaving a brilliant belt of light in its wake, which was visible for about ten minutes after the ball of fire had disappeared, which latter, when first seen, was apparently about the size of an ordinary chair-bottom. The whole is described as having been very beautiful.

Possums vs. Coons. In reply to a little squib in the STAR, to the effect that the Coon Club would expect him to join in their next chase, Dossey Battle, of the Southerner, says: "We are not very hefty on coons, but plant a cooked possum flanked with sweet potatoes before us and we wouldn't ask Gen. Hancock to be our grand father." Down this way "possum sop and tater" constitute a favorite dish, and we are not sorry to see that our Edgecombe cousins are of "the same way of thinking."

Evidence Not Sufficient. Walter Haney, colored, was arraigned before Justice Millis, yesterday morning, charged with the larceny of certain articles of wearing apparel, etc., from Michael White, both of whom were employed on the Steamer Elizabeth. The evidence not being deemed sufficient to convict, defendant was discharged.

On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she rofused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still werse, and while centemplating another sleep-less night, the mother stepped from the room to st. less night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some demestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Southing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended with the decention prestited near her her the and wonderful change, and although at first offended with the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared.
