England seems to be very much in earnest in preparing for the worst. The army in Ireland has been quietiv, but greatly strengthened, until now it in imbers 30,000 - the flower of the service.

A Farmers' Bone and Fertilizing Company in Penusylvania has failed for $157,000. It was composed entirely of farmers, and, after struggling against adversity for eight years, it has succumbed at last, with heavy loss to all concerned.

Lippincott is to publish two books soon, both by Southern women, we believe. One, entitled "Beaulieu;" a volume of poems by Mrs. Vertner Jeffrey, bearing the striking title, "A (rimson Hand," and a romance by Miss Sue W. Hubbard, "As Thyself."

According to the Richmond papers Tom Keene is not much of an actor, but he is said to have managed to rake in more change than any one else who has walked the boards there this winter. Tom is forty and will improve. We thought him a fine actor two years ago, but then we did not

Some boisterous negroes in Richmond, Va., fired upon Mr. John Miller and his son Otto, on Christmas eve, wounding both severely. Mr. M. was shot in the breast, and his son through his nose, destroying an eye. The shooting occurred because Mr. M. asked them not to blow their horns right before his door, which they were doing.

It is common for citizens to "post" their lands by advertising them in the newspapers. They are in earnest and desire that the people shall see and know what they have done. But when the lands are to be sold then the law says it is enough to nail the notice to a "post" or something of the sort. The citizen in this instance is much wiser than the law.

If the following should turn out to be correct the country will have cause to be thankful that the treaty of Mentor was no more binding upon the contracting parties than the treaty of Berlin. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun

"After the understanding arrived at between the particular friends of Gen. Grant and Gen. Garfield in the early part of the fall, it was considered settled that his administration would receive their hearty support. But there are rumors as to Gen. Garneld's intentions, both in regard to policy and patronage, which would seem to indicate a possibility that after all his administration may not be in more favor with the stalwarts, or a large portion of the stal warts, than has been the administration of Mr. Hayes. But if this should be so the country perhaps will not be any worse

Frank Mayo, the actor who appeared in Wilmington some time ago, was fined $19.55 at Atchison, Kansas, because his doorkeeper refused to admit the city clerk to the performance without a ticket. The clerk brought the license and it was paid, and then attempted to pass in on the strength of a city ordinance which provides that the city marshal or clerk shall require the production of a license for shows and "see that no other thing is exhibited than that specified in the same." That is what they call "advanced ideas" in the land of high morality. They would call it an attempt to cheat or rascally impudence in the and of cotton bolls and ignorance.

the remedy advocated by Blackwood's Magazine, a cantankerous Tory periodical of great excellence. It is certainly a very savage way of dealing with a people who have been hounded and trodden down for huidreds of years by the British Government. It is interesting to note what Blackwood says because it shows precisely how little sympathy, how little sense of justice the Beaconsfield party has for the woes and oppressions of their nearest neighbor, and one of their provinces. We find what is advocated thus given succincily in the Richmond State: "He (the Tory writer) declares that to admit Ireland to the Imperial Parliament of Great Britain is a mistake and a crime. He says that coercion is the only remedy and he calmly proposes that Ireland be governed by a Dictator, to be appointed by Parliament and to be responsible in effect to nobody, while his duties would be to suspend whenever he thought fit the habeas corpus; to do whatever he thought fit in the way of trial, conviction, and punishment; to abolish juries, and, in short, to order to tine, imprisonment, stripes, or execution on the gallows anybody in Ireland who should make a complaint of the laws, or of the tenant-landlord usages, or who should, in fact, think that starvation is disagreeable."

The Beaconsfield party call themselves Conservatives. The above is a specimen of their Conservative principles. They propose to conserve the old tyrannies of Cromwell.

- Winston Sentinel: Judge Dilard has removed from Greensboro to his home in Rockingham - The Holland property was sold on last Saturday by the administrator at public auction for the sum of $10,905. S.x or seven years ago the property was bought for $1,051.

- Salisbury Watchman: A very strange and fatal disease has made its appearance among the horses in Providence township. So far every horse has died that took the disease. One man lost all he had. They are generally not sick more than eight or ten hours, and die with the blind "staggers." Every man is exp cting his stable to be visited by this terrible disease at any time.

- Milton Chronicle: The Presbyterian church of this place has called the Rev. Mr. Faucett, of Granville, as its pastor. - A young man in this vicinity, who brags on having made $118 clear in four months, and who was laid up sick half the time, says he is not able to take a paper. We'll wager be spends ten times the cost of this paper annually in John Bar-leycorn. — Maj. W. B. Blanton, having resigned the superintendency of the M. & N. G. Railroad, has been employed by the R. & D. Road as agent at Sutherlin.

- Monroe Express: One thing needed by Monroe, and absolutely, essential to its future prosperity and growth, is a cotton factory. - This fall has been as unfavorable as last fall was favorable for the gathering of crops and sowing of wheat. But little of the latter has yet been done. - Mr. R. P. Simmons has in thorough preservation a watermelon which was plucked from the vine last summer. He will feast on it Christmas day. — Rev. M. L. Wood, Presiding Elder of this District, will move to Monroe. Mr. Wood has resided in Charlotte the past year. -Mr. Drewry Morgan, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Stanly county, died on last Friday night, with bronchitis. Mr. Morgan was over 80 years of age, and was probably more widely and generally known than any other man in this section He was a very remarkable man.

- Favetteville Examiner: We earn that the Commissioners of Harnett county have come to an understanding with the holders of the county scrip, by which the former submit to a judgment against the county to the amount of about eighteen thousand dollars and costs, which udgment is to be satisfied and discharged. provided the county shall pay twelve thousand dollars-two-thirds the amount of the judgment. - A farmer of Cumberland, who was in our office not long since gave us an item which we place before the farmers of this section. He stated that from the sale of a one horse crop of cotton made this year, he had received the sum of twelve hundred and thirty dollars. This statement may be relied on. What is the value of land that will net $15 to $18 per acre annually and without deterioration? - Death of Mrs. E. D. McNeill .-Intelligence of the death of this estimable lady reached Fayetteville on Tuesday last. She had gone to Raleigh for medical treat-ment only last week. The remains were brought to Fayetteville on Wednesday and interred by the side of her deceased husband, the Rev. George McNeill, in the Fayetteville cemetery. - Mooresville Gazette: The North Carolina Midland is a fact. Its charter fixes Danville and Mooresville as the termini. But the road is designed to effect a connection between the Virginia Midland and the Atlanta & Charlotte Air-Line. The Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad, commonly called the Charlotte & Statesville road, now makes connection from Mooresville to Charlotte. Propositions have been made to lease this latter road to the parties about to build the North Carolina Midland, but at such terms as to make it necessary to ascertain the comparative cost and advantages of a road directly from Mooresville to Wooten's, Garibaldi, or some other point on the Atlanta & Charlotte gentlemen of the engineer corps, under in-

Our attention has been directed to ascertaining the resources of the country, the comparative cost of different routes, the amount of assistance likely to be furnished by the people, and other matters pertinent to a final settlement of this question of a means of connection beyond this place. The inspecting party were greatly pleased with the country and the spirit of the people, and will make a very favorable report to the authorities. - Charlotte Observer: Cotton receipts for the week so far, only five days, 1,666 bales. The largest were on Wednesday, when 448 bales were brought to town. There are many ingenious couplings which would do away with this wanton exposure of valuable lives, and among them the contrivance of Mr. Charles Brem. of this city, is conspicuous for it s mplicity and perfection. - Hon. Horatio C. Burchard, Director of the United States Mint, has ordered the compilation of exact statistics in regard to North Carolina mines and the amount of gold production. Prof. Hanna, of the mint here, has just returned from a tour of Mitchell, Burke and Mc-Dowell counties, with this object in view. He reports, generally, that the interest in mines is active everywhere, and a number of new mines are being opened. - It is reported that an accident occurred on the Air Line day before yesterday by which one man lost his life and the train was entirely wrecked. Nothing could be squeezed out of the employes of the road, and this is all that could be learned, except that the wreck occurred ten miles this side of Atlanta. - Tuesday, Charley Traylor, a lad, was fooling with a gun in the front door of Maloney's store, in Salisbury, when it was discharged. Three at a Birth. A white woman residing in the neighs borhood of Eleventh and Market streets, gave birth to triplets on Christmas morning -two girls and one boy-and those who saw them declare that they were each born with teeth. They all three died on Monday, there being an interval of only about one hour between the death of each. Quite a number of persons visited the house of the mother to get a look at the little ones.

Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff's Lecture. A highly interested audience last night

Presbyterian Church to hear the lecture of this distinguished scholar and divine. Dr. Schaff gave a history of the various English translations and revisions of the Bible, and a very full account of the new revision that has been prosecuted for more than ten years by a body of divines of large critical knowledge and ability, representing the various leading denominations. We wish every intelligent man and woman in Wilmington had been present. They would have received a great deal of information of a highly instructive and interesting character, conveyed in clear, precise and forceful language. The revision of the New Testament will be published in February next by the University presses of England (Oxford and Cambridge) in various forms and styles of binding, Dr. Schaff is one of the most eminent scholars now living in America, and has a distinguished European reputation. He is the editor of that stupendous work. Lange's Commentary on the Bible, published in some thirty or more octavo volumes; and translated into English. He is also the author of the best Ecclesiastical history, we believe, that has been written, not excepting Mosheim or Neander. His little work, "The Person of Christ," is a very impressive, useful and needed contribution to theological discussion. His other works we have no acquaintance with. As Chairman of the American branch of the Bible Revision Committee he has rendered as much, if not greater service than by any other of his great The Mooresville Gazette says there labors. > What Comes of Resisting an Officer. Sara Williams, colored, was arraigned before Justice Gardner, yesterday, on the affidavit of J. W. Millis, charged with assault and battery upon him, the said Millis, while in the discharge of his duties as a deputy sheriff of New Hanover county. said assault having been committed by reason of his carrying out the precept in his hands, the prisoner refusing to go with him. The Court, after hearing the evidence, remarked, in rendering a decision in the case, that when a prisoner was in the hands of an officer by legitimate process he was restrained of his liberty, and had no right to dictate to the officer whether he should take him by the collar or not. The officer was commanded to safely deliver the prisoner in question to the sheriff, and he was responsible for his escape. Therefore it was discretionary with the officer as to how he should carry the prisoner. The court further decided that the assault of a prisoner upon an officer was a higher crime than a simple assault upon another person, because an officer executing the precepts of a State was an agent of the State, and that a man who assaulted an officer is actually in open rebellion against the laws of the State and setting them at defiance; and that officers in the discharge of their legitimate duties must have the protection of the courts. The court therefore sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of $50 and costs being the full penalty of the law, in default of which he was sent to jail.

There was a large crowd present, a fair proportion of whom were ladies, to hear the Masonic addresses at St. John's Hall on Monday night. The orators selected for the occasion were Messrs. W. H. Chadbourn and J. I. Macks. Mr. Chadbourn led off in a very pretty, humorous and entertaining address on the subject of "Dreams and Dreamland," and was followed by Mr. Macks in an effort of decided ability, and which has called forth expressions of the highest approval and commendation from those who heard it. His remarks were confined more particularly to the antiquity of Masonry, in which he displayed evidences of much research and thorough knowledge.

We should have had a mention of these excellent addresses in our last had not our special reporter failed us.
