The Radicals are hard to please. A second investigation was made of the South Carolina census, but that was not satisfactory because it eonfound the first enumeration. So speagents were sent to try their hands, and, after a third investigation, they find the ceusus was under the actual population.

The evidence produced by Mr. Royall r ves that Judge Tourgee's share of plunder in one transaction which has come to gat was nearly $4,000. This whole transaction is well described. Its history will enable our Northern friends to silence Tou gee's admirers, and also to understand why he and others of the same tribe could um remain in the South.

Francois Ravel, one of the once famous Ravel brothers, has just died in France. We saw him in 1849, and he was wonderful on the tight rope and in pantomime. An exchange says of him:

"He was as bold as a coot, and looked much older than he was. He was in a crowded railroad car once when a lady came along looking for a seat. Francoise arose and offered her his. She said no, she couldn't think of depriving so venerable a mso of his seat. This inspired Ravel, and to show just how infirm and decrepit he was he turned a handspring over the seat and landed in the sisle on his feet."

To be head man at a great English school pays. The head of the Eton school receives $25,000 annually, and the head of the Harrow school $35,-000, whilst those of Westminster, Winchester, Rugby, Charter House, and Merchant Taylors are worth from $12,060 to $20,000 a year, including the spacious abodes attached to them. The heads of colleges receive much less, the highest being $15,000. The master of Trinity College, Cambridge, receives that sum. Who will say that scholarship does not meet sometimes with its reward?

The following we respectfully commend to the attention of Northern papers, and especially to those papers that are always misrepresenting the treatment of the colored people in the South. We copy from an editorial in the Kinston Journal:

"A colored man, J. R. Hatch, brings suit against a white man, William Coben, for damages done him in his person and repusation by means of a false charge of bur-glary heretofore preferred by Cohen sgainst him. The case was moved here from an adjoining county; so there was no personal prejudice in the minds of the jurors; Cohen was defended by three able counsel—two of them the leaders of the bar. Hatch had been imprisoned only two or three days; the jury had eleven white men on it, and yet, with only a short consultation, they gave a verdict for the plaintiff with $500

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, JANUARY 2, 1881.

The ignorant and vicious editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean is very severe upon Mr. Royall because of the lambasting he has given Tourgee. As a specimen of the article written by a literary vampire, who thinks well of Tourgee and thinks him "vindicated" fully, read what he says of scribed by Elizabeth City. the Virginia reviewer:

"Of course, this man is irresponsible in all respects. His life is of no consequence to any one but himself; his liberty is of no value even to him, for he must wriggle about for a subsistence, and, if thrown into jail for criminal libel, would get his bread at the public expense. He is simply a human jacksi, who seeks food in the easiest way known to his species; who becomes celebrated, not for what he makes but what he filches; not as an advantage but, like the lice of Egypt, as an affi ction."

This sort of a cheap vituperation proves nothing but the coarseness of the assailant. In North Carolina ninety-nine hundredths of the intelligent white men believe that Tourges was bribed, that he is utterly corrupt, and is a slanderer and liar. That is public sentiment based on what is known of the fellow's course in the State. Mr. Royall does not the gauge of the W. N. C. Railroad from

Yesterday afternoon, as sleighers and skaters made merry, a tremendous casualty took place at the depot of the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company. The magnificent Norwood received a slight cut across the passenger depot, so recently erected | face and was a little hurt about the shoulat an immense expense, was crowded der but not at all seriously. Mr. Bailey eswith passengers, hackmen, policemen and railroad men. The afternoon train was to leave in a few minutes. the Southern train having just arrived. While all was noise and confusion an ominous crack as of breaking timbers sounded above the hiss of escaping steam and bastling truckmen. The crowd, at once demoralized, began to acatter in all directions; the bells of the engines sounded and the train moved uneasily toward the open air. Another crack, sounding and quaking like an earthquake, and the arched iron roof came crashing down burying under its broad expanse waiting rooms, baggage rooms, ticket offices, restaurants, &c. By a wonderful Providence no one was killed, as the crowd, warned by the premonitory crack, had esnaped before the roo came down. A salesman, named Sam Poseo, traveling for Isaiab, Jeremiah & Co., dealers in clothing in New York, standing on the rear of a Pullman car, just emerging from the shed, was knocked off the platform by a flying girder and remained unconscious for a half bour. His injuries, however, are not serious. The only living creature killed by the accident was a large Newfoundland dog belonging to one of the passengers. Several narrow escapes were made, however. The falling shed grazed the coat tails of a policeman who was just taking a drink at the moment of the first crack and had stayed to finish it.

COMMERCE OF THIS PORT.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF RE-CEIPTS AND EXPORTS FOR 1879 1880-VALUE OF COTTON SHIPPED-FOREIGN-OUR SHIPPING.

By reference to statements in our commercial column it will be seen that the receipts of cotton at this port for the year ending December 31st, 1880, footed up 106,156 bales, as against 92,434 bales for the year ending December 31st, 1879, showing an increase in favor of 1880 of 13,672 bales. The receipts of spirits turpentine for 1880 foot up 89,954 casks, as against 103,312 casks for 1879; rosin 480,984 barrels, as against 552,870 barrels for 1879; tar 54,186 barrels, as against 62,192 barrels for 1872; and crude turpentine 108,281 barrels. as against 131,361 barrels for 1870. The exports of cotton for the year end-ng December 31, 1880, footed up 106,066 bales, of which 40,848 bales went coastwise and 65,718 bales foreign; as against 87,738 bales for the year ending December 31, 1879, of which 50,252 bales went coastwise and 37,486 bales foreign. The exports of spirits turpentine for 1880 foot up 102, 725 casks, of which 33,272 casks went coastwise and 69,453 casks foreign; against 86,224 casks for 1879, of which 22,242 casks went coastwise and 63,982 casks foreign; rosin 447,710 barrels, of which 48,361 went coastwise and 399,349 barrels foreign; as against 510,901 barrels for 1879, of which 44,891 barrels went coastwise and 466,010 barrels foreign; tar 53,441 barrels, of which 39,409 barrels went coastwise and 14,032 barrels foreign; as against 67,372 barrels for 1879, of which 44,651 barrels went coastwise and 22,721 barrels foreign; crude turpentine 3,356 barrels, all of which went coastwise, against 2,905 barrels in 1879, all of which went coast-

It may be of some interest to those who deal in cotton to know that the 65,718 bales of cotton shipped from Wilmington to foreign ports during 1880 weighed just 30,787,875 pounds, and that the value of the same was put down at $2,535,222.

OUR SHIPPING By reference to the records in the office of Capt. Joseph Price, Harbor Master, we find that 480 vessels arrived at this port during the year just closed, of which 61 were steamships, 152 barques, 79 brigs and 188 schooners. Of these the 61 s.c.mships, 4 barques, 18 brigs and 178 schooners were American; and 148 barques, 61 brigs and 10 schooners were foreign. The aggregate tonnage amounted to 176,938, of which 103 426 were American and 73,512 foreign. It should be borne in mind that vessels under 60 tons, river steamers and other inland water craft are not included in the above statement.

Mr. A. H. VanBokkelen's Rest-

In accordance with the invitation extended to the members and subscribers of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, as published in these columns, quite a number of gentumen belonging to these bodies assembles at the Exchange yesterday at 12:30 o'clock and marched to the residence of A. H. VanBokkelen, Esq., where they joined those who had preceded them. Here the invited guests all assembled in the parlor, and at about half-past 1 o'clock the doors to an adjoining room were thrown open and the gentlemen proceeded, at the invitation of their host, to refresh! the "inner man" from the large bowl of punch, brewed specially for the occasion, preparatory to the more solid and substantial entertainment which awaited them. At the close of this act in the programme the guests returned to the parlor and enjoyed a short interval in social converse, at the end of which the gentlemen were conducted into the dining room, where a handsome and most sumptuous repast was spread, of which all partook with a zest and enjoyment commensurate with the character of the choice edibles and tempting viands under which the large table fairly groaned. And next commenced the toasts, the first of which was offered by Capt. A. L. DeRosset, in compliment to their generous host, the President of the Chamber of Commerce, and was fittingly responded to by him, after whom the floor was successively occupied by Mr. Alexander Sprunt, Mr. E. Kidder, Mr. C. H. Robinsen-who called out Hon. A. M. Waddell in one of his neat and characteristic reresponses-E. Peschau, Esq., German Imperial Consul; R. E. Heide, Esq., Vice Consul for Norway, Sweden and Denmark,

The occasion was a very happy and agreeable one, and will long be remembered by those who participated in it.

For a while Friday night it was the general opinion that at last we were to have a genuine, unadulterated, simon-pure snow. Pretty soon, however, we began to experience a mixture of snow, sleet and rair, and as a consequence, yesterday our streets and sidewalks were in a horrible condition, being covered with a compound of snow, ice, mud and slush, which the light rain that contined to fall during the day served to render more and more disagreeable to those who were compelled to be upon the streets. Exceeding great care had to be exercised by pedestrians to keep from falling; and, as it was, not a few slipped up on the treacherous pavements, and some got pretty severe falls. Among the injured, we regret to learn, was Mr. John B. Craig, residing on McRae, between Mulberry and Walnut streets, who received severe damage to his right hip from a fall in his own yard. His right side is partially paralyzed, and to this fact is attributed the fall and the painful result that followed. Mr. R. E. Lee, book-keeper for Messrs. Sol. Bear & Bros., slipped and fell through a showwindow, during the forenoon, and got his right hand painfully lacerated with the glass, the accident being of such a character that medical attention was required. The most of the falls, however, were not of such a serious character, but were rather calculated to cause merriment to those who were so fortunate as to keep upon their feet. And in these little mishaps, doctors, bank cashiers, merchants, clerks, and even the "women folks," were not exempt. The horses, too, had a hard time of it on the rock pavements, especially in hauling dray loads up the declivity between Front and Water streets, and one poor creature fell and broke his leg.
