According to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times at Washington, whiskey is the peculiar type of disease that prostrates Congressmen. They call it "malaria."

More people over one hundred years old die and are buried in the obituary columns of the Philadelphia Ledger than in all the world besides. Then there is the exquisite and pathetic poetry that graces the record besides. Altogether it is wonderful.

The New York Tribune says it is authorized to make the following statement with reference to Garfield's administration :

"It is not to be used as a make-weight, is pending Senatorial contests, whether in New York or elsewhere. It is proper to say, further, that the incoming administration will see to it that the men from New York and from other States, who had the courage at Chicago to obey the wishes of their districts in the balloting for President, and who thus finally voted for Garfield, shall not suffer for it, nor lose by it."

The British Parliament assembles on to-day. It is a most important session. Very grave errors have been, perpetrated in the past and the most judicious and prudent course must be adopted for the future. The New York letter to the Philadelphia Ledger of the 3d inst., says of the crisis in Ireland:

"Letters received by the English mail of to-day, from private and well informed sources, represent the Land League as everywhere gaining ground, and the spirit of the people is such now that nothing short of legislative independence will be accepted as a proper measure of conciliation. As for the coercion and threatened suspension of the habeas corpus, both have been so long anticipated as matters of course, that they have now ceased to have any terrors for them.

The Christiancy scandal progresses. The Washington Post publishes several columns of letters, very affectionsigning herself "Lillie," and written to Edd Giro. Thep are published as from Mrs. C., and if genuine fastens guitt upon her unerringly. Her lawyer says Giro is "a miserable, pertured scoundrel. Blood declares that "Giro told Mrs. Christiancy that be had been offered $2,000 to testify against her, but would testify for her for $3,000. He also says Giro confessed to him that he took a woman to Washington to personate Mrs. Christiancy, and then threatened to ruin her reputation unless she promised to marry him after the divorce." The hotel clerk, Holdschub, says he was offered $500 to tell the story to ait the Christiancy side.

WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1881.

ent of the fast mail service, has just returned to Washington from an extended visit through the South. He has been interviewed by the Post relative to the shortcomings of the fast mail. He thinks the papers have been somewhat unfair in their complaints and censures. He gives the following good reasons for any

"Well, in the first place, in the very start, the weather has interfered with the rains being on time, and hence annoying delays have occurred. When trains are behind all over the country, and have been for the past month, it is rather unreasonable to expect that in the South, where the weather has been most severe, they should run on schedule time '

He says the missing of mails will be remedied by the clerks as soon as they get familiar with the new order of things, and that the fast mail is an assured success. The following is much to the point. He says:

"Instead of making complaints, it would be more to the purpose if the people along the lines would submit to a little inconvenience at first, as the fast mail is a boon to any section, and the people need only to understand its advantages to appreciate

Conkling's friends in New York regard the Garfield independence, as foreshadowed by the Tribune, as but little less than a formal affront to Lord Roscoe. Conkling has a banking friend he had intended to put in the Treasury Department, but Garfield will spoil all his calculations. The New York letter of the Philadelphia Ledger thus refers to Conkling and his tribe:

"Mr. Conkling's pride has been wounded, and, as everybody knows he is as vulnerable there as Achilles was in his heel, which his mother forgot to dip into the Styx, it is not surprising that his friends should be already indulging in so much querulous cruicism of the to-be new Administration, even before the Presidentelect has taken the oath of office. On the other hand, the teeling among Republicans that do not follow the Senator's lead is that whatever else Mr. Hayes' successor may or may not do, one thing is certain at the start, and that is, he is determined to own himself, and is not going to make any salaam to a New York dictatorship.

Referring to what the STAR said concerning "Virginia Peerage," the Richmond Dispatch says:

"Let him own that Washington, Jefferson, the Leas, the Randolphs, &c., did constitute a pertage as good as any the world

True every word, "brother Drinkard." They were the peers of any,

'Even to the dullest pessent standing by, Who fasten'd on them a wondering eye, They seem'd the master spirits of the land.

The telegraph plays tricks sometimes, or the papers do. The STAR had a special that Miss Kate Campbell and Miss Annie Wood had been burned badly at Hamburg, Maine. The next day a Philadelphia paper had it at Hamburg, North Carolina And now it is announced that it eccurred at Hamburg, Missouri.

"Across the Continent."

Oliver Doud Byron, in what is termed his delightful sensation play of "Across the Continent," will give an entertainment at the Opera House in this city on Saturday evening next, remaining only one night. The Buffalo Express has this to say of the troupe and the play:

"Oliver Doud Byron and his company began an engagement at the Academy of Music lest evening, and played to a packed house. The play was 'Across the Conti-nest,' which had its last representation here four years ago. Some additions have been made to the play, and a number of specialties are introduced in the second act, but 'Across the Continent' is substantially the same mixed, varied and lively compound of sensationalism we have always known it to be. Those who like sensationalism will find it to their heart's content in 'Across the Continent.' Mr. Byron as Jos Ferris, or the Ferret, is spirited and skillful in his role, and makes it tell for all it is worth. He receives strong support from Mr. Joe H Banks, who is a versatile performer, and also from Harry B. Hudson, Arthur Rehan, J. P. Johnson, and, indeed, from all the members of the company. The performance won applause without limit, and the specialties were encored over and over again."

Father Ryan Not Coming. Our citizens generally will regret to hear that a telegram was received from Richmond, yesterday, by Rev. Father Gross, of this city, to the effect that Father Ryan is there sick, his throat being inflamed, and that he is obliged to postpone all engagements. This announcement will be a sad disappointment to many, who will not only be grieved to hear that we are, for the present at least, to be deprived of the pleasure of seeing and listening to the Rev. Father, whose beautiful poems have won for him so endearing a place in their affections and esteem, but that his sudden indisposition may prove a source of much annoyance and discomfort to him personally. We can only hope that he may find it convenient to visit us at another time and give his promised entertainment.

OPERA HOUSE.

Prof. J. M. Colville. The Opera House was fairly crammed sst night with people to witness the much advertised feats of Prof. J. M. Colville, and a more universally disappointed and disgusted crowd we have never seen. The affair throughout was decidedly poor, what feats that were successfully performed being old ones, that every one has tired of long since, and then there was altogether so little done that it really amounted to scarcely less than an outrageous swindle. None of the more wonderful feats promised were given, and while we cannot see how intelligent people could have expected that it would be otherwise we are called upon to announce that the performance was a failure and in our opinion the whole business a fraud.

The Accident on the W. & W. Rail-

There is not much additional information of importance to add to the brief account in our last of the accident to the fast mail train on the Wilmington & Weldon road Tuesday night. The accident took place two miles this side of Magnolia, and, as before stated, was caused by a broken wheel under the mail car, which threw the train off the track a short distance this side of the trestle. The second class coach was thrown on its side and slightly damaged. The first class car was considerably damaged and may prove a total loss. The sleeper was damaged considerably about the end which struck the embankment, but otherwise the injury is slight. There were twenty passengers on the cars at the time, seven of whom were in the aleeper. None in the sleeper were injured except a Mrs. Brown, of Philadelphia, whose collar bone was dislocated and who received an ugly scalp wound on her forehead, and the porter of the car, who was slightly hurt. The lady is at the Purcell House, where she is receiving proper medical attention, and we learn that her injuries are not considered other passengers were slightly hurt-none of them seriously. Col. A. Pope occupied a berth in the sleeper immediately opposite Mrs. Brown and received no injury, which is attributed to his remaining perfectly quiet until after the danger was over. Capt. Browning, the conductor, who was in the second class car at the time of the accident, was very slightly injured.

The loss sustained by the railroad company through the secident cannot be at this time correctly estimated, but it is thought that it will not amount to any con siderable sum. The bridge timbers are all reported to be perfectly sound and can be used again. The track will probably be all right again by this evening or to-morrow morning and, in she meantime, transportation will be uninterrupted, as freight and passengers will be transferred at that

The train at the time of the accident was running at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, the usual schedule time. Had it been running faster it is thought it would hav gone over all right. Superintendent Die vine has continued at the scene of the ac cident, pushing forward the work of clearing the track and getting it in proper order at the earliest possible moment.

GUILTY OF WRONG.—Some people have a fashion of confusing excellent remedies with the large mass of "patent medicines," and in this they are guiliy of a wrong. There are some advertised remedies fully worth all that is asked for them, and one at least we know of—Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have most of the year in Bay City, and has always found them to be first class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them.—Tribune.

EXACTLY WHAT IS WANTED AND SOUGHT AFTER.—To find a safe, reliable, harmless, not repulsive remedy that can be taken without interfering with business or pleasure, or disorganizing the system, a simple vegetable compound assisting nature to get rid of impurities in a gradual manner as nature intended. Buth is in Simisons Liver Regulator, and the trial and use are all that is necessary to prove this to the most akentical. Complete ry to prove this to the most skeptical. Complete satisfaction is secured to every one, and certainly satisfaction is secured to every one, and certainly it is a satisfaction to find the head clear, the bowels regular, the blood purified and the breath sweet. The Regulator is so mild, so gentle, so harmless, and does such a world of good in correcting the stomach, regulating the bowels, and restoring the health, that all that is necessary is to give it a trial. "I can recommend as an efficacious remedy for all Diseases of the Liver, Heartburz and Dyspepsia, Simmons Liver Regulator.

Of this we are so sure that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing em Mrs. Winslow," for helping her to survive and escape the griping colicking and teething siege. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SY-RUP relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhese. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—knew her only through the preparation of her "Seothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all draggists. 25 cents a bottle. ger," at Chambersburgh, Pa.:
